Henry Homberg.

HENRY HOMBERG. — September 15–17, 1875, will long be remembered in Indianola, Texas. Here, in this city, the adopted home of many brave but God-forgetting Germans, a little flock of truly pious souls had been gathered by Brother Homberg as he labored truly and fearlessly at this outpost of Christianity, and here, in the midst of this noble work, in this self-sacrificing effort to save his fellow-men from soul-ruin, the storm-flood, as a messenger of death, came and took him and his dear wife and adopted daughter during the morning of Sept. 16. The small dwelling of Brother Homberg was carried away by the wild waves of the Gulf as they rushed madly on before the wind; but as he and his loved ones had taken refuge a short time before in a neighbor's house, they were spared awhile longer; but, alas! about midnight, in the utter darkness of a cloud-covered horizon, the rain falling in torrents, and the wind blowing with increased fury, a large storehouse just in front of the one containing our dear brother and his family was undermined and thrown down, as it were, in an instant, and its wreck, borne on the surface of the madly rushing waters, was driven against their place of refuge as with the force of a battering-ram, destroying it shortly and burying forever in that fearful midnight hour the servant of the Lord, who was never seen afterward; the other inmates of the house, taking hold of the floating roof, drifted away, but, with the exception of one man, all were lost.

Brother H. Homberg was born in Waden, Germany, on the 6th of July, 1836. He came to this country during the war, and, like many of his fellow-countrymen, enlisted in the army. There he made the acquaintance of some Methodists, and being of a loving character and liking their way of worshiping God, he joined the Church at Industry, Texas, under the administration of Brother C. Biel, although living at Brenham.

In 1866 he married a very pious lady, Miss Emelie Weiss, who proved to him a true wife and a faithful helpmeet in the work of God, enduring with him joy and sorrow to the hour of their death.

In 1872 Brother Homberg was stationed at Victoria as a missionary, and meeting with a great deal of opposition there, he learned that a Methodist missionary in Texas did not walk amid a bed of roses; but he held out faithfully, and by his manly character and pious and prudent walk soon gained the esteem, and even love, of the people of that city during the two years of his labor among them. He occasionally visited Indianola, where our kinsmen were spiritually neglected and forsaken, and succeeded by the help of God in rallying around the cross a small bodyguard of Christian warriors. In 1874 he was sent to them as a pastor, and with great zeal and faith he went to work, built a chapel, and had it nearly free from debt, when the flood took both preacher and chapel into its destroying embrace. His small society at Indianola had clung to him with a whole-souled devotion, and the scene beggars description when the returning saved ones sought for their pastor and found him not.

Brother Homberg's talents and learning were not brilliant. His sermons were plain, but earnest; and although he was permitted to labor but a few short years for Christ, yet, wherever he was stationed, he endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. Toward his brethren in authority in the Church he was always obedient, never complaining of hard appointments or small salary, always willing cheerfully to do the work intrusted to his care to his utmost ability as a servant of Christ. He had a thorough Methodist spirit in him, and his loss is felt deeply. His death forms a breach in our ranks; but we know that Christ has taken him home, and rejoice in his privilege of joy in heaven. Although the place of his earthly rest is unknown, the Lord having buried him (like Moses) himself, yet his memory is sweetly cherished by many of the children of God on earth, and expect that when the trumpet shall blow, and the sea shall give up its dead, all will meet around the common Saviour and again unite in songs of praise and thanksgiving.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Isaac Wright, Reuben Coleman—2.

1. ISAAC WRIGHT was born in the State of North Carolina in 1800, and died at his residence in Austin, April 2, 1875, in the seventy-fifth year of his age, after having been a local preacher for many years. He joined this Conference at its organization in Texas, and has since been faithful in the discharge of his duties as a minister of Christ. Wherever known he was universally beloved, and in his departure he left to his friends the testimony that Christ gave him victory over death.

2. REUBEN COLEMAN died in Sweet Home, Texas, December 3, 1875. He entered the traveling ministry in 1870, and was appointed to Clinton, where he remained two years, then two years at Sweet Home, and the last year at Bastrop. He was a man of large frame and commanding presence, of irreproachable character, and, above all, was an earnest and effective preacher. He died triumphing over death through faith in Jesus Christ, whom he had so faithfully preached to others.

J. M. Bryan.

JAMES MADISON BRYAN was born in slavery in Newbern, N. C., June 1, 1817, where he remained until his seventeenth year, when his owners removed to Tennessee, taking him with them, and with whom he remained until his twenty-second year. He was then sold to a wealthy planter, Col. W. W. Pugh, on Bayou Lafourche, in Louisiana. He seems to have become a great favorite with the Pugh family, and was cared for and instructed far beyond most of his fellow-servants. He often spoke of the religious instruction he received from a female member of the family, who was a pious Episcopalian, by which he was led to a religious life, attending the Episcopal Church, for which he retained an affection to the day of his death. But he soon found that Methodism was far better suited to his religious feelings, and opened a wider field of usefulness among his fellow-servants, and so, with his episcopal training, he went into the Methodist Episcopal Church and soon became a useful preacher, gathering the people around him and winning many souls to Christ. He remained with his former owners on Bayou Lafourche until 1865, when he came to New Orleans to be present at the organization of the Christmas Conference of the old mother Church, presided over by the late Bishop Thomson. Here he was induced by his comrades and his convictions of duty to join the Mississippi Mission Conference, as it was then called. His first appointment was to Vicksburgh, with Rev. N. L. Brakeman as presiding elder. Here he planted a seedling of our Church and nursed it in its infancy, and succeeded during the year in erecting our first Church building in that city. His next appointment was to St. Martinsville, on Bayou Teche, where he remained three years, built one church and organized three other congregations, and was both popular and useful. In 1870 he was appointed to Donaldsonville, and here gave three years of labor and toil to the Church. He was then appointed to Sixth-street Church in New Orleans. Here he remained two years, and was a faithful and laborious worker for the Church. With a constitution greatly enfeebled and with failing health he desired to remove to his own little home in Donaldsonville, and he was appointed to a charge in the vicinity of his home—St. James Chapel. After removing his family he was taken sick, and was thus kept from his work for a time. But as soon as able, with the heroism of a true Methodist preacher, he went to his work and commenced what seemingly promised to be one of the most successful years of his life. But in a few weeks he was taken down with hemorrhage of the lungs. Improving slightly, he continued his work, supervising the affairs of his Church and preaching when able. In September he had a most profuse hemorrhage, after which he preached no more. On the 27th of September he attended his last quarterly meeting, but was not able to go to the church. His Quarterly Conference was held in his room at his own request, and this was his last official work for the Church. On the Thursday before his death he prayed aloud on his couch, saying, "O Lord, I have lived here long enough. My work is done, my strength gone. I have enjoyed and suffered much, now be pleased to take me up to live with thee forever." On the Friday before he expired he called his son Cornelius to him and said: "My son, go down to St. James and wind up all the business, and get all my reports ready for Conference. Leave me quietly, as I do not expect to be living when you come back; but, O Cornelius, meet me in heaven!" And so it was; the son returned to find his father cold in death. To his wife he said: "My dear wife, my hour has come. I am glad it has come and that my sufferings will soon be over." He closed his eyes in silence for a time, and then looking up he said: "My way is clear. There is no vail between me and my God. Heaven is in sight. I am now passing over Jordan—Jesus!" but they could hear no more. He tried to clasp his hands, and then gently folded them on his bosom, when the wheels of life stood still. He died at mid-day, January 2, 1876.

Brother Bryan was a good man, a close student, a sound Methodist, a good preacher, a faithful pastor, and a good worker for Christ and his Church. He was a devoted husband, a loving father, a true friend, a faithful Christian, and died as he lived, a man of God. His memory is precious. Let us remember his widow and his children; and we pray that his mantle may fall upon his son, who finished the year's work for his father.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Oscar Carter, Sauney Barr, Burrell Clark—3.

1. OSCAR CARTER came to his death by assassination in Scott County, Miss., during the month of November, 1875, being at this time about thirty-five years of age. He was born in the State of Tennessee, and was a slave up to the late emancipation. He entered the United States volunteer army, in which he served two years, or more, faithfully. After being honorably discharged therefrom he took up his residence in Vicksburgh, where he joined the M. E. Church. He first received a license as an exhorter, and soon after, because of his zeal in the cause of Christ, he received a license as a local preacher. He removed to Edward's Depot in the year 1868, from whence he was called to take charge of a congregation until the next session of Conference. In 1872 he was ordained deacon, and again sent to this congregation, whom he served with all the love and zeal of a Christian for twelve months. The following year he was sent to Forest Station, where he remained up to the time of his death, and died in full view of the promised rest that await the people of God. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

2. Sauney Barr was born in 1835, and converted to God in 1856. He joined the Presbyterian Church, and lived a consistent member of it for ten years. He then joined the M. E. Church, was licensed to exhort in 1872, and soon after to preach. He joined the Conference in 1873, and was sent to Houston Circuit, where he did good work. In 1874 he was sent to Fayette, where he labored acceptably. In 1875 he was sent to New Albany, from which place he was soon after transferred to the heavenly world.

Brother Barr was a man of fine mind, a good preacher, a faithful pastor, and, doubtless, has gone to receive his reward.

3. Burrell Clark died May 17, 1875. He was born in Uniontown, Ala., in 1847. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1870 and soon became a local preacher, and entered the traveling connection in the Mississippi Conference in 1873, and was appointed to the Meridian Circuit. He worked so faithfully that a great many were added to the Church during the year. About one hundred members were received upon the circuit under his ministerial labors. In 1874 he was appointed to the Lauderdale Circuit. This was also a very successful year with him in spiritual and temporal things. He received seventy converts, and one hundred and fifty joined the Church. He built two churches. He attended the last session of our conference, and was re-appointed to Lauderdale Circuit. Though very sick during the Conference session he answered to his name, but could hardly stand with his class to answer the disciplinary questions. He said just before he died that he wanted the Conference to take care of his wife and children, as he was going home to heaven.

WILLIAM B. VAUGHAN died in Carroll County, Va., February 3, 1876. He was born May 21, 1851, in Sullivan County, Tenn., converted in 1872 while attending King College, East Tenn., and received on trial into the Virginia Conference at its session in Norfolk in 1873. Subsequently he entered Drew Theological Seminary, where he was an earnest student, and where he was seized with the illness which proved fatal. Concerning few, if any, have greater hopes of future usefulness ever been entertained by us than Brother Vaughan. Manly, earnest, efficient, ready for work on earth or for rest in heaven, he is not, for God took him.

Henry E. Fuller.

HENRY ENOCH FULLER died in March, 1875, after a long and protrated illness. He emigrated to Liberia, whither his aged father, three brothers, and a sister had preceded him, and soon gave evidence that the Lord had called him to the work of a Gospel minister. He united with this Conference about 1864; in 1868 he was ordained elder, and thenceforth did noble work for the Master. By his manly bearing and his openness of manner he gave evidence that he was one who could be trusted; no wonder many loved and confided in him. He seemed destined, had he been spared, to occupy a high position in the Church of his choice. As a preacher, he would at times wax eloquent—his earnest zeal and glowing ardor while he discoursed now of Sinai, then of Calvary, then again of the joys of heaven, oft moved his audiences with irresistible power. As a pastor, he always made himself personally and intimately acquainted with the members of his flock. In the Conference deliberations he was frank and prudent in the counsel he gave. In all he seemed to possess a soul that towered high above every thing that was mean and base. He was emphatically a good man. But he is gone, for the Lord hath taken him.

David W. Arnold, Wm. Prettyman, J. W. Hoover, J. G. Moore, W. M'K. Walsh—5.

1. DAVID W. ARNOLD was born in Frederick County, Va., March 16, 1816, and died in Baltimore County, Md., December 23, 1875. When sixteen years of age, at a camp-meeting held near his home, he was awakened and brought to Jesus, and at once connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church. After filling for a number of years, with marked efficiency, the positions of Sunday-school teacher, class leader, exhorter, and local preacher, he was impressed with the conviction that it was his duty to give himself exclusively to the work of the ministry. In 1851 he was employed by the presiding elder as junior preacher on East Rockingham Circuit. March, 1852, he was received on trial in the Baltimore Annual Conference, and appointed to Highland Circuit, where he remained two years. In 1854–55 he was assigned to Moorefield; 1856–57 to Lewisburgh Circuit, and 1858 to Fincastle. March, 1859, he was appointed Agent of the Tract Society, and by his zealous dissemination of our religious literature during the year rendered valuable service to the Church. It is worthy of remark, that while engaged thereafter in the regular pastorate, he continued to exhibit much more than ordinary interest in the circulation of Methodist publications, and was particularly active in this department of ministerial duty. March, 1860, he was appointed to Churchville Circuit, where he remained four years. During the next two years he resided in the State of Georgia. Returning to his native Conference at the close of the civil war, he was recognized as a member of this body March, 1866, and appointed to Rockville Circuit. Here he labored hard for three years to reorganize our shattered work, and was favored with encouraging success. He then served successively Severn, Baltimore Circuit, and, in 1874, Hanover-street, Baltimore city. He entered upon his work here with vigor and hopefulness, but toward autumn his health suddenly gave way, and from that time to the close of the year he was an invalid. Unable during this period to preach or visit, he still exhibited the deepest interest in his work, and by constantly taxing mind and strength in other ways he managed to keep up the varied interests of the charge, and to persevere in the unabated attachment of his people. Indeed, so fully had he won their confidence and love, that at the end of the year his appointment for another term was earnestly desired and officially requested by them. In view of his disabled condition, however, it was deemed unwise to grant their request, and at the last session of our Conference, March, 1875, he was placed on the supernumerary list. Submitting cheerfully to the judgment of his brethren, he retired to his home at Emory Grove, and, after battling with disease nine months longer, passed away from earth to his reward in heaven. His sufferings, at times intense, were borne with unmurmuring patience, and were crowned with a triumphant death. To his wife he often spoke of his approaching departure with the utmost calmness, and just before the end came, when interrogated by a brother minister as to his future prospects, he replied: "My trust is in Jesus. I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day."

September 17, 1836, Mr. Arnold was married to Miss M. I. Shacklett, who, with six children, survive him. To his family he was all that could be desired—a kind, provident husband, and a gentle, affectionate father. In his personal friendships he was sincere, generous, and confiding. He was a man of genial temperament, of sound mind, and of untiring industry. As a preacher, he was a practical, faithful, and impressive expounder of the truth as it is in Jesus. His sermons were always clear and systematic, and often delivered with an unction that told with great power on his congregations. As a pastor he had few equals among us, and invariably endeared himself to the people of his charge. In the death of Brother Arnold the Baltimore Conference has lost one of its most useful members, and yet we rejoice to believe that after much toil and suffering he has entered upon a life in which there shall be "no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away."

2. WILLIAM PRETTYMAN died in Milford, Del., July 21, 1875, in the eighty-third year of his age. He was born September 11, 1792, in a region early occupied by Methodism, and of parents who were among its earliest fruits. Early in the present century he became a subject of converting grace, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. From the first the religious life of Brother Prettyman was characterized by that consistency, earnestness, and fervor of which it was so bright an example in maturer years. Shortly after his conversion he became convinced that an advanced and richer experience was his privilege. This he sought and found. His faith appropriated Christ as a complete Saviour, and to the end of his life he held fast the grace whereunto he had attained. A Christian life, thus earnestly devoted in its beginning, was the prophecy of what it afterward became. His grace, zeal, and usefulness soon gave evidence that he was divinely marked for special work in his Master's cause. After exercising, for a time, in leading classes, conducting social meetings, and in exhortation, he was duly authorized to preach. In his twenty-second year he left his home for Conference, and began the work which for more than half a century he so unremittingly pursued. In 1814 he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and in 1816 he was admitted into full connection and elected to deacons' orders. In 1819 he was transferred by Bishop George to the Baltimore Conference, of which he remained a member until his death. He traveled circuits thirty-six years, was thirteen years stationed in Baltimore, Washington, Cumberland, and Chambersburgh, and was four years on the Northumberland District, making in all fifty-three years of effective service. He was chosen to represent his Conference in the General Conference of 1836. At the age of seventy-five he felt that he might without fault yield his place to younger men, and accordingly asked for and received a superannuated relation. But though released from regular work he suffered not his sword to rust. Through all the years of his superannuation he preached widely, and, at times, with the energy and power of his best days.

In 1823 W. Prettyman was married to Miss Eliza Barrett, granddaughter of Philip Barrett, Esq., from whom the famous "Barrett's Chapel," where Coke and Asbury first saw each other, took its name. For nearly forty years this happy union was blest to them, and to the Churches where they labored. Six children were given them, all of whom in early life came to walk in the footsteps of their parents. Three are with them in heaven; the others are on their way, full of hope, to join them. All their sons—three in number—became ministers. One of them, Wesley, was the first missionary selected for the Bulgarian field, where he labored seven years. Fourteen years before his own release Father Prettyman's companion, the faithful sharer of his toils, was called to her reward. About six years after this event he was married to Mrs. Charlotte S. Wolf, of Virginia, a most estimable Christian lady, whose care and affectionate attention greatly cheered the remaining days of his pilgrimage.

Through all the years of his active life he had been singularly free from disease, and even to the last was almost a stranger to physical suffering. The day before his death he walked in the streets of Milford. In the evening, with a Christian friend who called upon him, he conversed long and earnestly of the blessedness and comforts of religion. Shortly after he was attacked with paralysis, and about nine o'clock the next morning the earthly house dissolved, and the immortal and sainted tenant entered the "building of God, the house not made with hands eternal in the heavens."

William Prettyman was a man of vigorous intellect and well-balanced faculties. The culture of these by constant and thoughtful reading largely made amends for the lack of early advantages. His knowledge, and ready command of Scripture, were such as gave to his ministry a power rarely surpassed. The Bible supplied the warp and woof of his sermons. In manner he was deliberate and earnest, impressing his hearers with his own thorough belief of what he uttered, and of its infinite concern to sinful men. His preaching bore the excellent fruit of leading many to repentance, and of "edifying the body of Christ." In the latter respect his ministrations so glowed with the great truth of scriptural holiness, and his example so illustrated it, that he was the instrument in conducting many into this richer pasture of Christian life. He was a man of kindliest nature, which, with his cheerful piety, made him an ever welcome guest in the homes of his people.

In the death of this venerated father in our Israel the Conference has been bereft of another of the heroic men of other days, whose number is now so small and rapidly diminishing. Their noble record, embalmed in the bosom of the Church, and written on high, will preserve them in everlasting remembrance.

3. John W. Hoover was born in Huntingdon County, Pa., December 12, 1820. He was born again August 5, 1839. In the year 1842 he was licensed to preach. Young Hoover was of Swiss descent, had the blessing of pious ancestry, was moderately educated, and was decidedly called to preach. Having a stalwart body, and not unwilling to test his religion and his strength by exposure, he left home for service in the itinerancy of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was admitted to the Baltimore Conference in 1844, and appointed to Deerfield Circuit. Then successively he was appointed to Covington, Hillsborough, Frederick City, Alexandria, Baltimore Circuit, Strawbridge, East Rockingham, Fairfax, Stafford. After an intermission of one year (1856) as supernumerary, he resumed his work, being appointed to Asbury and Mount Zion, Calvert, Patapsco, Ryland. During his pastorate at Ryland his church was taken for a hospital, and he was appointed chaplain in the army. Staying a short time in Washington at Lincoln Hospital, he was ordered to Nashville, Tenn. In 1866 he was sent to Prince George's, and next year to Hamline. At the close of his second year at Hamline his relation was changed to supernumerary, and two years before his death he was superannuated. Thus he was twenty-four years effective, five supernumerary, and two superannuated.

Brother Hoover resided with his father-in-law in Georgetown until the death of that devoted Methodist. Then he removed to Washington. He found in Ryland, Hamline, and Wesley Chapel (which Church his wife and daughter joined) warm personal friends. With the most of these and some from other churches he was associated in special meetings for the promotion of holiness. He was also in sympathy with the National Camp-Meeting Association, and became more widely known among its friends, as aiding its plans and adopting its methods. The most decided of Christian people, who think great elevations are usually reached by gradients, however they interpret experience and modify methods, must admire the holy life of this estimable Christian minister. To the statement and explanation of this experience, as representing a universal privilege, he devoted his preaching and his exhortations. When severe illness confined him to his house and bed he pressed the same subject, and reiterated the profession of perfect love. His temperament, less sanguine than phlegmatic, admitted little emotion. Passionless faith accepted Christ. His heart was fixed, not fervid. As his sickness progressed he bore bodily pain without a murmur, conversed cheerfully with his friends, arranged his temporal affairs, gave directions for his funeral, and died in great peace. Ten days before his death, having received the sacrament, he said: "I had hoped to live till Conference, but now am satisfied that I shall not. I have no special emotion, but an abiding peace, and I feel assured the Lord Jesus will take me safely through." About midnight preceding the morning of his death, waking up, he said: "How precious to have one go with you down to the river!" and added just before he expired, "I am nearing the shore." He died February 3, 1876.

Like many others, John W. Hoover was found by the Methodist Episcopal Church, gathered into its fold, sent out to preach in its churches, was disabled by disease, driven to secular employment for a support, and at last, far away from the home of his youth, amid the friends of his later ministry, was taken from labor to reward. He was a good servant of Jesus Christ.

4. James G. Moore was born in Lawrence County, Ind., July 9, 1834, and after a short but severe illness died at Western Cemetery, Baltimore County, Md., July 8, 1875. He was converted in the twentieth year of his age at Monument-street Church, Baltimore. The call came to him to devote himself to the work of the ministry. After a season of reluctance he promised the Lord to obey the call at all hazards. He was received into the East Baltimore Conference March, 1859. His subsequent appointments were: Westminster, Cassville, Bedford, Phillipsburgh, York Springs, Shrewsbury, Shippensburgh, and Newville, East Baltimore Conference, and East Harford, Great Falls, and Summerfield, Baltimore Conference. So frail was his health at the time that his friends thought that he would not survive the first year of his ministerial life, but God graciously strengthened him, and for sixteen years "he made full proof of his ministry." He was married February 7, 1865, to Miss Caroline A. Saddler, of York Springs, Pa., who, with five children, is left to mourn the early departure of a devoted husband and an affectionate father. "He was," says one who knew him, "transparent in life and uncompromising in integrity, making every thing a matter of conscience, having an abiding faith in God and the success of the right. He was possessed of sprightly powers of mind.

His discourses were generally brief, but they were delivered in an earnest, feeling, and pointed manner. Under his appeals tears flowed freely, and the truths of salvation found way to many hearts. Wherever he labored his efforts were crowned with success, and many through his instrumentality were brought to Christ. His untiring faithfulness in all the departments of his ministry, his gentleness of disposition and kindness of heart, his great liberality in the use of his means for the cause of Christ, were marked features of his life. As one example of his enlarged liberality we note the fact that his average receipts from all sources for three years upon Harford Circuit were $1,000 per year, and his donations for the same time were $600, one fifth of his entire income.

On Tuesday, June 22, 1875, he received a message to attend a funeral near Calverton, Baltimore County, Md., of a youth who was drowned while bathing. Although he was suffering from a debilitating disease, and would have been justified in remaining in his room that his enfeebled body might recover its strength, he deemed it his duty to go to the house of mourning and pour the balm of consolation into the hearts of the parents and friends of the unfortunate lad. While performing the last sad and solemn service at the grave in Western Cemetery he was taken suddenly worse, and was carried into the house within the cemetery. Although skillful medical attendance was procured, it soon became apparent that the disease was of such a character as to baffle human skill. He gradually grew worse until Thursday morning, July 8, when he sank into the arms of death as calmly and peacefully as a child into slumber. While consciousness remained, which was up to within a short period of his death, he talked of his approaching end with the utmost cheerfulness. To his wife he said: "If the Lord should take me now, what will become of my work, it is so unsettled; nobody knows any thing about it." After a few moments he continued, "Jesus will do it. He has fixed it all." He seemed to realize that he was entering the golden portals of the celestial gate and would soon inherit the bright mansions of bliss, prepared from the beginning for the faithful followers of God." His last words were, "The angels beckon me."

5. William M'Kendree Walsh was born of godly Methodist parents in Hanover County, Va., Feb. 19, 1814. He was converted in 1829, and in 1835 he entered the Christian ministry in the Virginia Conference. During the following year he was transferred to the North Carolina Conference, within which he labored for thirty years. The list of his appointments shows that he served on many charges the full term of two years, and on one two, and on another three separate terms. He came to Baltimore in the winter of 1865, and was in 1866 appointed by Dr. L. F. Morgan as a supply to Ellicott City. He was admitted into the Baltimore Conference in 1867, and appointed for two years to South Branch Circuit and one year to Frostburgh Circuit. In 1870 he was supernumerary, but during the latter part of the year he organized the charge and built the church now known as Kingsley Chapel, Cumberland. In 1871 he was made effective and sent to Green Ridge Circuit, where he remained two years, thence to Hedgesville Circuit, where he died December 10, 1875.

William M'K. Walsh was married twice: first to Miss Matilda D. Styron, of Portsmouth, N. C., and secondly to Mrs. L. A. Anderson, of Howard County, Md., who survives him.

Brother Walsh was a "man of sorrows" for many years. He suffered the horrors of civil war on the border line of North Carolina and Virginia, losing his whole library and property, the fruit of long economy, stored up for his now fast approaching old age. In 1867–68 he lost his whole family—wife and four grown sons—so that, as he himself said with great pathos, "he stood alone, weeping, and saw family, property, health, all he had but the love of God and the hope of heaven, go down into the dark abyss. His fields of labor were often difficult. He had emphatically hard work and poor pay, yet he did not murmur. In one, among the very last sermons he ever preached, at Hancock camp-meeting, August, 1875, he said, in speaking of the Gospel: "Yes, it must be preached to every creature, and will, although in order to this some of us have to deny ourselves, and travel poor circuits, and use economy and bear poverty, that the poor sheep, wandering and scattered in the mountains, may be brought in." The thought of all his sorrows and sufferings seemed to come upon him like a flood. He burst into tears, and bowing his face in his hands on the Bible, he mastered himself with evident effort, and then passed on to the triumphs of the word and the blessedness of its ministers. Here he was at home; he ascended from earth to heaven, from the conflicts here to the crowns yonder, from tears and sobs to shouts of anticipated victory in a way inexpressibly touching to those who heard him.

His afflictions yielded in him the "peaceable fruits of righteousness." He was not embittered by them. Driven from every external comfort and confidence, he fell back on the consolations of grace and they sustained him. He was a man of prayer, full of faith and zeal, and well acquainted with the Scriptures. His sermons were plain, practical, but pungent. He denounced sin unsparingly; he proclaimed with the fervor of personal experience the promises of God. His preaching was neither profound nor polished, but it was scriptural, simple, sincere. As to zeal he was a true Methodist preacher: he took the work assigned him and did it as unto God and not as unto men. The very last winter of his life, when near sixty-one years of age, he traveled a circuit of ten appointments, one of which was thirty-two miles from the personage—a circuit that lies in the mountains where the snow is deep and the cold intense, and, preaching three times a Sabbath, he did not miss a single appointment.

As he lived, so he died. He quietly settled all his affairs, gave directions for his funeral, comforted his wife, and then waited for his translation. He lingered long in the land of Beulah. There was not a cloud in the heavens; his faith was strong, his hope bright. Toward the last he said, "O for strength to preach!" and his last breath was spent in an exposition of the text, "He that believeth shall be saved."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Michael Dowler, Thomas M. Hartley—2.

1. MICHAEL DOWLER died Nov. 29, 1875, in his seventy-first year. He was born in Washington Co., Pa. Afterward his father removed to Marshall County, Va., where the deceased joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in his seventeenth year. His Christian life was firm and consistent. He was licensed to exhort in 1835, and to preach in 1842. He was ordained deacon July 4, 1847, and elder June 27, 1851. He labored actively in promoting the interests of Christ's kingdom. In 1869 he was received on trial and appointed to Dallas Circuit, where the Lord crowned his labors with marked success. In 1870-71 he was stationed at Cameron, where he did excellent service in promoting the spiritual interests of the Church, and also in freeing the church property from debt. In 1872 he traveled the Princeton Circuit. In 1873 he was supernumerary. In 1874 he traveled New Martinsville Circuit. In 1875, seeming to have premonitions of his approaching end, he asked and was granted a superanumerary relation, so that he might better arrange his temporal affairs. He preached often and labored faithfully during the year. He was stricken with paralysis Nov. 15, and died on the 29th.

Brother Dowler was a man of unblemished Christian character, and consistent, uniform life; greatly devoted to God and the Church of his early choice. His memory was very retentive, and he could call up a large amount of historical matter upon all Bible topics. In his death the Church has lost an honored, useful minister, and we, his brothers in the ministry, a genial, entertaining companion and co-worker. He rests from his labors and his works follow him.

2. T. M. HARTLEY died May 31, 1875, in his thirty-fourth year. He was converted when about fifteen years old. In his notes he says: "I was deeply convinced of my lost and ruined state as a sinner in the sight of God." Although unwilling for awhile to go to the mourners' bench as a seeker, yet it appears he became willing to do this or any thing else so that he might find peace. In his notes he says, "My distress of mind became so great I at once began to pray, and promise God if he would spare my life and pardon my sins I would freely give all my time and talents to him. After several days of bitter sorrow and distress of mind it pleased the Lord to speak the life-giving word and set my soul at perfect liberty; and on May 19, 1857, I was enabled to shout the high praises of God for his redeeming love so gloriously shed abroad throughout my soul and body." Subsequently he was baptized and received into the Church. In 1864 he joined the Conference on trial, and was appointed to St. George Circuit. He subsequently served Frenchtown, Upshur, Frenchtown again, Beverly, Ellenborough, and Short Creek and Liberty. In January, 1875, he took cold from exposure and broke down. He made no attempt to preach during the remainder of the Conference year. He was reappointed to that work, but was only able to preach once. This effort greatly prostrated him, and he was unable to get to church again.

Brother Hartly was modest, and yet apparently free from embarrassment in all his public and social movements and duties. Several years ago he sought and obtained the blessing of perfect love. His experience was clearly and beautifully expressed, and doubtless all who knew him believed he enjoyed all he professed. His testimony on this point was as clear and definite as it was touching his conversion. Our departed brother never supposed his work was done till he found himself actually in a dying condition. During his illness he was peaceful and hopeful. He gratefully acknowledged the kind attention of friends. When he realized that he was dying he said: "If I must cross Jordan bring out the books, we'll square the accounts. O, Saviour, come quickly—the angels are helping me; I'll get through." His wife then moistened his lips, and he added, "That means goodbye. Well done! well done!" and passed away to the rest remaining and to the glory to be revealed.

Wesley Kenney.

WESLEY KENNEY died in Smyrna, Del., June 24, 1875, aged sixty-seven years. He was born May 8, 1808, in Washington County, Pa. In his nineteenth year he was converted, and united with the Church where his parents belonged on the first Sabbath of January, 1827. He was licensed to preach August 13, 1831; was admitted on trial in Pittsburgh Conference in 1832, and served as junior preacher on Connellsville Circuit for two years. He served successively the following charges: Washington, Pa.; Liberty-street, Pittsburgh; Wheeling, Va.; Agent for Alleghany College; Smithfield-street, Pittsburgh; Beaver-street, Alleghany City; Wheeling; presiding Elder of Barnesville District in Ohio; Secretary of the Wesleyan Sabbath Union; Washington, Pa.; Chaplain-st, Wheeling. He was transferred in 1852 to Newark Conference, and served Central Church, Newark, and Clinton-street, Newark. In 1855 he was transferred to the Philadelphia Conference, in which he served Trinity Church, Philadelphia; Wharton-street, Philadelphia; Asbury, Wilmington, Del.; Fifth-street, Philadelphia; St. Stephen's, Germantown. His health having failed through a stroke of paralysis, he was left without an appointment in 1866. In 1867 he resumed work and was appointed to Easton, Md.; then went to Odessa, Del., serving three years at each place. In 1873 he was appointed presiding elder of Dover District, Wilmington Conference, serving as such until death.

His ministerial connection with the Church, running through forty-three years and three months, was thus divided: On circuit and stations, thirty-six years; agent, one year; located, one year; supernumerary, one year; presiding elder, four years and three months. He was a member of the General Conference in 1848 from the Pittsburgh Conference, and of 1872 from the Wilmington Conference.

Dr. Kenney was enthusiastically devoted to the development of the Wilmington Conference. A paper read by him at the "Peninsula Convention" of 1870, on "Denominationalism," was an eloquent and powerful plea for conservative progressiveness in the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Peninsula. As a preacher, Dr. Kenney excelled. Those who heard him only in his later years could form but an impartial idea of his former pulpit power. He was no stranger to the graces of oratory and the embellishments of language, and many of his sermons are models in their chasteness, pathos, beauty, clearness, instructiveness, and deep spirituality. His ministrations were blessed with many revivals. As a pastor he was active, visiting much. The family altar in many a household burns with a brighter flame to-day because he fanned it with the breath of earnest, soul-felt, trustful prayer.

Dr. Kenney was well educated, although he had not a collegiate training. The degrees of A.M. and D.D. were conferred on him by Alleghany College. On account of his superior preparation he was received into the Pittsburgh Conference as a married man, though at that time it was customary to receive only single men. He was an advocate for thorough mental culture for both sexes, and the established educational institutions of the Church he loved received his earnest support. He declared our own Wesleyan Female College to be "the peer of any kindred institution of like grade in the land."

Although a warm lover of the Methodist Episcopal Church, a devoted adherent to her polity, and possessed of what he termed the "Church esprit du corps" in an eminent degree, he yet by his broad catholicity attached to him very many ardent friends in the ministry and membership of other denominations. He had the instincts of a gentleman, and these, developed and beautified by Christianity, made him ever welcome, and gave him power in the best social and intellectual circles.

Dr. Kenney was married to Miss Eliza Ruble in April, 1829, in Washington County, Pa. In his home he exemplified the Christian graces. With patient love and with great tenderness he watched over his dear wife in her long and severe affliction. Him she now mourns. May the loving presence of the Comforter soothe her anguished heart, mollify her pain, and cheer her with the prospect of rest and reunion!

The later years of Dr. Kenney's life were passed in physical weakness, but his mind was clear and strong to the last. He never entirely recovered from the paralytic stroke of 1865, and a subsequent attack during his pastorate at Easton threatened to remove him entirely from the effective ranks. Partial recovery, however, permitted him to attend to his duties until his appointment as presiding elder in 1873. After this each subsequent month seemed to mark more clearly the debilitating influence of the severe attacks to which he had been subjected. During the last year of his life he was frequently unable to preach. Early in May, 1875, he was prostrated, and never rose again. During all his illness his faith in Jesus was firm and unwavering, and he looked confidently and joyously for "a glorious resurrection."

L. D. Snowden.

L. D. SNOWDEN died in Romney, W. Va., Dec. 5, 1875, in his fifty-ninth year. He was born in Howard County, Md., in 1826, and when quite young was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He made rapid progress in the divine life, and feeling the call to preach the Gospel, he was granted a license as a local preacher. In 1867 he was received on trial in the Washington Conference; in 1869 he was admitted into full connection and ordained deacon; and in 1871 he was ordained elder. He served successively the following charges: Brookeville, West River, Marlborough, Draper's Valley, and Romney. In the midst of his active and earnest labors, and while anticipating the ingathering of precious souls, he was taken with a disease that was painful in the extreme. He soon realized his end to be near, but was resigned to the will of God, fully believing that he would depart to be with Christ, which would be far better. While his wife was attending to the usual duty of family prayer he was whelmed with the divine glory, and shouted exultantly, "Glory and thanks to God for what I now enjoy on this glorious Sabbath morning!" On the afternoon of this day, at four o'clock, he sweetly fell asleep in the arms of Jesus.

Brother Snowden was a deeply pious man, and one that fully believed in Holy Ghost power. He was successful in winning souls for Christ. His brethren feel that they have sustained a great loss, but live trusting by and by to be reunited with him on the bright plains of glory.

Edward M. Williams, W. R. Barcus, Gideon D. Kinnear, Homer J. Clark, Alvin T. Galbraith—5.

1. E. M. WILLIAMS was born March 18, 1846, and died at Manor Station, Pa., April 6, 1875. Uniting with the South Pittsburgh Methodist Episcopal Church, his membership there was marked by great faithfulness in well doing. His brethren soon recognized his ability to occupy a more prominent place in Church work, and accordingly gave him license to exhort. In 1870 he was engaged as a supply on the Hopewell and Simpson charge. At the close of the year he was received on trial by the Pittsburgh Conference, and was returned to Hopewell and Simpson. During the years 1872-73 he served Pleasant Valley, and in 1874 Penn Station.

At the last session of Conference he was appointed to Donegal. He went promptly to his work, and spent the first Sabbath after the adjournment of Conference on his new charge, preaching three times. On Monday he returned to his former home to prepare to move, but was taken sick with typhoid pneumonia the same night. At first hopes were entertained of his recovery, but he grew rapidly worse. His uncle, Rev. E. Williams, was telegraphed for. So suddenly did this great sorrow come that his uncle and father were the only near relatives that stood with his stricken wife at his bedside watching the ebbing out of life. On Tuesday morning early the doctor said to his father, "Your son is dying; shall I tell him, or will you?" The father thought it best that he should discharge the sad duty. Approaching the bed, he said: "Edward, do you know your critical condition?" Although suffering much, his clear understanding immediately took in the full import of the question, and he quickly answered: "Why, father, I am not going to die; I will get well; I want to live fifteen or twenty years yet to preach Christ." But when his father insisted, "You must die, Edward," the dying one, looking tenderly up into the face which was bending in grief over him, replied: "Well, I am ready." A few moments before he breathed his last, his uncle asked: "How is it with you now?" "What do you mean, uncle?" "Why, how are you as to bodily strength?" "I am very weak; I am sinking." "Can you trust in Jesus?" "Yes," was his quick reply, "I do trust in Jesus." "Are you afraid to die?" "No, that is all right." In a short time he fell asleep in Jesus. "He resteth well."

Edward M. Williams was among the most promising young men of the Conference. For his years he was more than ordinary in pulpit ability. He was agreeable in his address, and was endowed with a warm heart, and a generosity of nature that made him a pleasant companion and a true friend. But above all he was successful in leading many to ways that are pleasant and paths that are peaceful. The summons came suddenly and unlooked for, yet it found him ready to go from earth to heaven.

2. W. R. BARCUS was born near Richmond, Jefferson County, O., May 8, 1844, and died of typhoid fever in Point Pleasant, Guernsey County, O., on Sept. 29, 1875. At the age of fourteen he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. His conversion was unusually clear and satisfactory, and soon after he felt called to preach the Gospel, and set about preparing himself for it.

By alternating between teaching and study he struggled up to commendable attainment in literature, and acquired a good mental discipline. Meanwhile he took time to serve his country in the "hundred day service." On Oct. 15, 1868, he married Miss Mattie L. Douglass, of Richmond, a wife in every way worthy of so noble-hearted a man.

He was licensed to preach in 1870, and entered the Conference in 1871. His first appointment was Summerfield, Noble County, Ohio. Here he remained for three years. It seldom falls to the lot of a minister to leave more or warmer friends than he left at Summerfield. Bethel Circuit was his next charge. He served it with great acceptability for a year and a half.

In the beginning of his affliction his religious experience was somewhat clouded. But this soon passed away, and God let in the sunlight of his own divine presence, and it remained with him an abiding comfort to the last. When it became certain to all he must die, he called his wife to his side and gave direction concerning the place of his burial, and told her to take good care of herself and the children, and meet him in heaven. When he had passed so far down the valley of death that he was no longer able to speak, he raised his hand and nodded his head in answer to the question, "Is Jesus, whom you have preached to others, still with you?" and thus quietly and peacefully as a summer's eve he sank into rest to rise again amid the splendor of an eternal day.

As a preacher Brother Barcus was both brilliant and practical. In manner he was modest and kind, in spirit bold and fearless; and he was a general favorite both with preachers and people.

3. Gideon D. Kinnear died in Columbiana, Ohio, Sept. 8, 1875, in the sixty-sixth year of his age and the forty-fourth of his ministry. He was born in Venango County, Pa., in 1809, and was converted and united with the Church in his boyhood. He commenced his itinerant ministerial labor in the year 1831, being employed by the presiding elder on the Erie District to labor on the Youngsville Circuit. He was received on trial in the Pittsburgh Conference in 1832, and appointed successively to Canal Dover, Salem, Pa., Ridgeway Mission, Birmingham, Blairsville, Braddock's Fields, Moorfield, Deersville, Salem, O., Brighton, Agency of Allegheny College, Beaver Creek Mission, Barnesville, Barnesville District, Blairsville District, Temperanceville, Columbiana, Damascoville, Enon Valley, Marlborough, Columbiana, Springdale, Elkton, Bloomfield, New Somerset, Greentown, Philadelphia Plains. In 1874 he was granted a superannuated relation. Superannuation, however, with him was merely a nominal matter, so far, at least, as it affected his working. He went on preaching, praying, exhorting, distributing good books, attending meetings, and mingling among the people as formerly. At the Hollow Rock Camp-meeting, on the evening of Sunday, Sept. 5, 1875, Brother Kinnear was detailed to preach in the tabernacle while preaching was going on at the stand. He had preached for an hour or more in his usual fervent style, and was supposed to be near the conclusion of his discourse, when he was observed to stagger. Some persons immediately came to his assistance, and relieved the severity of his fall. Feeling that he was failing he said, "Let the meeting go on; let me die at my post," and subsequently, and perhaps the very last words he uttered were, "All is well." He immediately became unconscious, and remained so to all appearance till death, which took place on the Wednesday morning following. He thus fell at his post with his armor on, in the front of the battle with his face to the foe. He now rests from his labors and his works do follow him.

Brother Kinnear was wonderfully successful in winning souls to Christ. From the commencement of his ministry until he was stricken down by paralysis he was instrumentally the means of the salvation of many who will rise up to call him blessed.

4. Homer Jackson Clark was born at Mount Holly, Vermont, Dec. 23, 1803, and entered into rest in Homersville, Medina County, Ohio, Sept. 24, 1875. His conversion and connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church took place in early life. He was received on trial in the Ohio Conference in 1824. Convinced that he needed a more liberal education for the work of the ministry, he entered the State University at Athens, Ohio, where he spent five years, and graduated with honor. In 1829 his name again appears on the Minutes of the same Conference, when he was sent to the city of Pittsburgh. The Reformers having taken possession of the old Smithfield-street Church, permission was granted to use the old Court-house as a place of worship. Dr. Clark was talented and very popular, and drew large crowds to his ministry in the Court-house. In 1830 he was appointed to Uniontown, and the succeeding year as Professor of Madison College, then under our patronage in that town. During this year he was married to Miss Agnes P. Wilson, of Morgantown, Va., a lady of culture and great worth, a helpmeet indeed. In 1832 he was sent to Steubenville, Ohio; in 1833 to Meadville, Pa. From that period until 1844 he sustained the position of President and Professor of Moral Science in Alleghany College. He inaugurated the plan of perpetual scholarships, and spent two years as principal agent in completing it. He was then returned to the College as President, and after two years retired from college labor and took a superannuated relation, in which he remained two years. In 1850 he became effective, and was stationed in South Common charge, Alleghany City, and the year following in Smithfield-street, Pittsburgh. From 1852 to 1856 he was editor of the "Pittsburgh Christian Advocate." From 1856 to 1859 presiding elder of the Pittsburgh District. From 1860 to 1864 Steubenville District. He then took a superannuated relation again and settled in Ohio.

Dr. Clark was three times married. His second wife was a daughter of Judge Davenport and widow of Rev. James C. Merriman, a most excellent woman. His last wife was Mrs. Morange, a very worthy lady, who still survives. By his first wife he had a family of four daughters and one son. The son, Stephen R., is a member of the North Ohio Conference.

Brother Clark's disposition was exceedingly amiable and sweet spirited. He was loved and esteemed by all who knew him. In his intercourse with others he exhibited all the traits of the real Christian gentleman. With a heart richly imbued with the spirit of Christ, together with his eminent scholarly qualifications, he was prepared to render effective service to the Church both as a preacher and educator. He was a noble type of Christian manhood, unblamable in life, conscientious, diligent, meek, quiet, unobtrusive, unostentatious. He was in almost every respect a model man.

5. A. T. Galbraith died in Holliday's Cove, W. Va., Oct. 3, 1875, in the thirty-second year of his age. He was converted a considerable time after uniting with the Church, and shortly thereafter was licensed to preach. He served the Church faithfully and very acceptably as a local preacher for one year, when he was received on trial in the Pittsburgh Conference in 1870. The year 1871 he spent on Adamsville charge. The next three years he preached on East Plainfield Circuit, where marked revivals attended his ministry. In March, 1875, he was appointed to Tucker's and Holliday's Cove charge, where he labored acceptably and successfully until he ceased to live.

Brother Galbraith's ministerial career was brief but brilliant. His simple aim was the glory of God and the salvation of the people, and to this he directed all his energies. Basing large expectations upon the boundless promises of the Master, he was not satisfied unless they were realized. In social life he was attractive and instructive; the hour was not lost that was spent in his genial presence. To a mind naturally strong and vigorous was added the study to show himself approved. He laid every thing under tribute to make the "glorious Gospel of the blessed God" the "power of God" unto the salvation of men. In his investigation of the Scriptures his chief inquiry was, What is the mind of the Spirit in this text? Discarding the "topical" method of treating a subject, he preferred to develop and emphasize the invitations, entreaties, threatenings, and doctrines of the Bible in such chaste, beautiful, and logical scriptural language as to lead his people to say, "He opened to us the Scriptures." His presence was commanding, his manner natural, and his message fresh from God. It was evident to those who waited on his ministry that the Holy Spirit rested upon him. Few, indeed, of his years and experience were his equals as a preacher. He was a manly man: noble in impulse, stern in integrity, brave to defend the right or reprove the wrong, ready to help the needy and sympathize with the suffering and distressed, a man of mighty faith, broad charity, and deep piety. When sickness came he desired to live that he might preach a crucified and risen Jesus, but was resigned and "ready to depart."

On Sabbath, Oct. 3, the silver cord was gently loosed, and the freed spirit of our beloved brother took its triumphant flight to the home and rest of the blessed.

Harvey C. Galbraith.

QUEST. 15. Have any died?

Wm. Comstock, B. P. Baker—2.

1. WILLIAM COMSTOCK died near Liberty Mills, Indiana, December 11, 1875, aged forty-three. He was the son of Hon. John Comstock, a well-known and highly-esteemed citizen of Wabash County, Indiana, and brother of Rev. Thomas Comstock, of this Conference. He was born in Wayne County, Ohio, May 2, 1832, and in June, 1836, his parents emigrated to Indiana and settled on Eel River. Here William grew up from boyhood to manhood, and formed habits of industry which marked his course through life. The Scripture injunction, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," was his daily motto. He was converted and united with the M. E. Church in the summer of 1843, being then but eleven years old. In the spring of 1859 he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Place, of North Manchester, Indiana. His convictions of duty were strong; he therefore entered upon a course of study preparatory to the Christian ministry as a life work. At the session of the North Indiana Conference held April 5, 1866, he was received into the traveling connection and appointed to the Mexico Circuit, after which he filled the following appointments: Inwood Circuit, Waterloo and Auburn, Middlebury, and Albion, where he finished his work as an itinerant minister. His health failing, he found it necessary to resign his charge in October, 1871, and move with his family to his own residence, which he did shortly after. Although compelled to retire from the effective ranks on account of ill health, his soul was still fired with gospel zeal. His disease proved to be consumption, and for three years he suffered much, yet he was not heard to murmur or complain. His mind, however, continued clear and active to the last moment. So carefully and wisely had he adjusted all his temporal affairs that he left no perplexing cares to fall as an additional weight upon his sorrow-stricken companion. On Wednesday previous to his death, his devoted wife, father, mother, sisters, and other relatives being present, the Lord's Supper was administered, to his great comfort. His faith in the saving merits of Christ was unshaken to the last. He said: "Let man be abased, but Christ exalted; let the name of Jesus, who saves, be honored and magnified." But he has gone home, and the loved ones he left behind are looking forward to a happy reunion on the bright celestial shore.

2. B. P. BAKER was born in Hancock County, Ohio, August 25, 1835. At the age of fourteen he professed religion and united with the Church. In 1866 he was licensed to preach, and the same year was admitted on trial in the North Indiana Conference. He has filled the following charges: Montpelier, Deerfield, New Corydon, Pleasant Mills, Monroeville, and Montpelier again, where he died October, 1875, in the midst of a laborious and successful year. In his last illness, of but two weeks, he was patient, trusting in Jesus, and had complete victory. He often tried to comfort his wife, and near the last said to her: "Dear wife, let me go; the Lord will take care of you and our children. Tell my elder all is well, and my brethren of the Conference I was ready." His death-chamber was filled with a halo of glory. While his weeping wife and children, and aged father and mother, were by his bedside, and other friends were in the room, he said, "Do not weep, but praise the Lord. O help me to praise the Lord!" Thus, with shouts of victory, he closed his work and entered upon his reward.

QUEST. 14. Have any been Expelled?

None.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

D. Castleman, D. Wolf, Joseph M. Russell*—3.

1. DAVID CASTLEMAN was born in Adams County, near Gettysburgh, Pa., Nov. 4, 1825, and died Nov. 10, 1875. In the prime and flower of his youth he was deeply and savingly imbued with the power of divine grace, and immediately became identified with the Methodist Episcopal Church in all her services and interests.

In the year 1848 he received license as a local preacher, and in the following year he was admitted on trial in the Baltimore Conference. The places where he labored for God are as follows: Milton Circuit, Charles, Severn, Bald Eagle, New Bloomfield, Hancock, Patapsco, Hillsborough, Mercersburgh, M'Connellsburgh, Pleasant Grove, Bloomingdale, Muncy, Penn's Valley, Warrior's Mark, Martinsburgh, and in 1875 Manor Hill, where he suddenly closed his ministry and went home to heaven.

The circumstances that clustered around his last hours were of a peculiarly impressive character. The summons that snatched him away from this world came upon him like a bolt hurled from a cloudless and peaceful sky. He had just concluded a funeral service in the Moorsville Cemetery, near the Manor Hill camp ground, Huntingdon County, Pa., and the last faint echoes of the solemn words that had fallen from his lips had scarcely died away upon the air, "In the midst of life we are in death," when, suddenly, he fell to the earth exclaiming, "O my!"

Brother Castleman as a preacher of the Gospel studied to show himself "approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Contemplated in relation to the pastoral work, he was industrious, faithful, affectionate, and efficient. He went among the people of his charge as a friend and a brother, looking after the interests of the poor, ministering to the sick and dying, and comforting all that mourned. As a man he was of a gentle and loving spirit, and exceedingly modest and retiring in his manners. As a minister he was greatly loved by the people, and his name and deeds among them will be as "precious ointment poured forth."

And though he will no more answer to roll-call in his Conference on earth, yet his name shall stand forever recorded in the books of "the general assembly and Church of the firstborn which are written in heaven."

2. DAVID WOLF was born in Bedford County, Pa., August 19, 1821, and died April 9, 1875. Converted in early life, he was licensed as a local preacher by the quarterly conference of Bedford Circuit Sept. 4, 1843. In 1845 he was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference. In 1847 he was ordained a deacon, and in 1850 he was ordained elder. His Conference work as an itinerant Methodist preacher was brief, mainly on account of his failing health. He was appointed to the following charges: Concord, Deerfield, Floyd, Indian Creek, and, in 1849, he took a superannuated relation to the Conference.

Brother Wolf was a good, earnest Christian. A man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost. He lived in close and intimate communion with God. He was a kind husband, a loving father, and an affectionate and dutiful son. He was an enterprising citizen, a charitable and an obliging neighbor, and a useful man in the Church and community where he resided. He bore his sufferings with true Christian patience and fortitude. At one time, while suffering intense pain, he said to his weeping and afflicted wife, "It will be better on the other side." At another time he said with much feeling, "I am washed in the blood of the Lamb." Not long before his death he remarked to those that were standing around his bed, "It is all right now, I am trusting in Jesus." And at last, when death came along and smote him down, his body alone fell, the soul, untouched and unscathed, passed on through death's valley to its home in heaven.

* Obituary not received.

1. ROBERT BOYD YARD was born in Trenton, N. J., Jan. 9, 1828, and died in Elizabeth, July 17, 1875, in the forty-eighth year of his age. As his parents were for many years honored members of the old Greene-st. Church, Trenton, his life began amid the refining influences of a Christian home, and his youth was favored with the best social and religious advantages. While a student at Pennington Seminary he experienced the saving grace of Christ, and, yielding to a divinely-wrought conviction, resolved to devote himself to the ministry of the Gospel. Graduating in 1848, he was admitted on probation in the New Jersey Conference the same year, and thus, at the age of twenty, entered upon what he felt to be the great work of his life. Beginning with the Middlesex Mission, his pastorate embraced the following churches: Allentown and Hightstown, Fort Lee, Somerville, Mendham; Hedding, Jersey City; Morristown, Nyack; First Church, Rahway; Clinton-street, Newark; Newton, Washington, Hedding (second term), and, finally, Elizabeth. For two years, through impaired health, he took a supernumerary relation and engaged in business, and for three years was chaplain in the army.

He was able to preach but a small part of his last year at Hedding Church; but through the aid of the best medical skill, and the indulgence of a kind, generous people, his health had so far improved in the spring, as he thought, to justify him in taking an appointment. He entered upon his work in Elizabeth full of zeal and hope, and was rapidly gaining the confidence and love of the Church and the community. But during the month of June a severe cold developed a new form of disease, involving the most acute suffering, with partial paralysis, which in about four weeks ended his earthly life.

Prepossessing in person, pleasing in address, rich in voice and musical skill, and with a highly religious character, Brother Yard's ministry began with much promise, and has extended over the space of twenty-seven years with honor and usefulness. To him was given a high type of nature. With a delicacy and tenderness almost feminine were blended in a marked degree the noble qualities of a true manhood. Studiously careful of the feelings of others, he would rather suffer himself than afflict another; yet when duty called he could be bold and firm, and even heroic.

Kind and forgiving toward an enemy, his love to a friend was ardent and unsparing. Strongly attached to his own denomination, his spirit was eminently fraternal toward all Christian Churches, and toward all workers in the Master's cause. Earnestly devoted to the temperance reform, he was ever ready to defend its purposes or advocate its claims.

A true patriot, he watched with interest every changing phase in our national life. With the First Regiment New Jersey Volunteers he went as chaplain to the field of battle, remaining through the three years of enlistment. No danger could deter him from duty. At one time an officer saw our brother in circumstances of great peril ministering to the wounded and the dying, while the missiles of death were falling all about him. The officer exclaimed, "Chaplain, what in the world are you doing here?" "Doing my duty," was the noble reply. The name of Chaplain Yard is cherished in many a soldier's home and honored in many a veteran's heart. Some of these veterans begged the privilege of being pall-bearers at his funeral, and his brother ministers surrendered to them the honor.

But the pastorate was his favorite work. In the pulpit he was, perhaps, less remarkable for strength or brilliancy than for exactness and love of the beautiful and the true. A living sympathy with the truth and a loving sympathy with his audience largely characterized his preaching, and were among its chief excellences. As a pastor among his people he was respectful, discriminating, and kind. Genial in spirit, ready in conversation, and a sweet singer, his presence was a charm in the social circle. To the sick, the bereaved, and the aged he was a sympathizing friend, while the poor were gladdened by his visits and help. Modest in profession, his character attested a real and growing spirituality.

His life was active and earnest. Possessing a versatility of talent, he did much work, and did it well. Gratitude and hope were among the prominent traits of his character, and in the closing hours of his life, inspired by the divine and the heavenly, so eminently present, the expression of these was beautiful and triumphant. The agony of disease had subsided, and he had reached "the land of Beulah," where praise reigns, and where all things earthly are viewed in the breaking light of heaven. When informed that it was the judgment of his physician that he could not recover, and would probably die in a few hours, his soul was filled with holy rapture, and, with his countenance radiant with joy, he sang and shouted the praises of God. Tender in his domestic love, this holy affection was beautiful in death. Sweet words were spoken to each member of his family present, and rich messages sent to the absent ones. Most deeply did he feel his obligation to his "precious wife." "Her worth," he said, "is known only to a few," and added, with great emotion, "but how wonderful has been her devotion to me and to our children!" When asked if he had any message he would like to send to the Conference, he replied: "I love the Newark Conference. Its history and work seem to be part of myself. The whole of my active life has been associated with it. I regard it as a grand soul-saving institution. And now what shall I say to the dear brethren? First, tell them to be truly religious. Second, tell them to be fully consecrated to God. Had I my ministerial life to live over again every hour should be given to God; for no possible bait would I turn aside for a moment. Third, tell them to aim at saving souls; nothing else is worth a thought. Fourth, tell them not to be enwrapped in the style of the day, but to be clothed in the righteousness of Christ. Fifth, tell them to make their religious life the joy of living. Sixth, tell them that of late Christ and his work have been to me a constant feast, of which the bliss of these dying hours, and the glory I see approaching, is a fitting consummation. Bless God! Hallelujia!" His last words, spoken about an hour before he died, were: "Jesus is sweet, sweet, sweeter; heaven is near, nearer, nearing." After this, as "gently shuts the eye of day," he "fell asleep." Thus ended a beautiful life. Thus passed away one of the purest and noblest of men. To him death had no sting, no gloom; it was rather "to endless day," through the shining portal of which his happy spirit passed in holy triumph and in perfect peace.

2. JOHN SANFORD SWAIM entered into rest Nov. 18, 1875, in his seventieth year. He was born in Chatham, N. J., May 1, 1806. His parents were for many years devoted members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, his father being one of the earliest Methodists in the State. The subject of this memoir was converted at the early age of fourteen, and at once united with the Church. He was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in 1834, and sent to the Flemington Circuit; thenceforward to Pennington, Orange, Newton, Warren Circuit, Crosswicks, Long Branch, Princeton, Hope, Belleville, Nyack, Bridgeton, Pemberton, Glassborough, Verona, Bethel, S. I.; St. Paul's, S. I.; Passaic, Bloomfield, East Newark. While in East Newark, in 1863, he was appointed to Hilton Head, S. C., by the Christian Commission. In 1864 he was made supernumerary, and during the summer be was appointed by Bishop Janes as missionary to Jacksonville, Fla., and remained in that position until the close of the war. Finding the climate to agree with his health, he concluded to remain there with his family. He was highly respected in his southern home, identifying himself with the interests and developments of the city and State of his residence. He was an earnest advocate of the great temperance cause. He was also deeply interested in the church, which he had been principally instrumental in building, and in which he worshiped with greatest pleasure and profit only a few days before his death. During that service he took a severe cold, which terminated his earthly career.

Brother Swaim seemed to have a presentiment that his sickness would terminate fatally, as, in the early part of it, he wished to have all his family gathered around him. As they stood around his dying bed they sang "My latest sun is sinking fast," and then the last farewell words to his family were spoken. To his son he said, after this, "I am wonderfully sustained." Toward the last he sank into a stupor, and so quietly passed away.

Brother Swaim was a man of more than ordinary intelligence. He had a keen, logical intellect. He was a good student, and was thoroughly acquainted with the theology and usages of our Church. His preaching was always instructive, and appealed rather to the intellect than the emotions. He was a member of the General Conference of 1856. His widow, who has shared with him in all the changes and privations of his itinerant life for nearly fifty years, will doubtless have, as she deserves, the sympathies and prayers of the members of this Conference, and her many friends, for herself and family in this sad bereavement.

3. HENRY BOEHM—1775–1875.—Among the Centennial memories which stir the hearts of the people of our native land, there is one which comes to us with great freshness and force to-day. It is the memory of our Centenarian, Father Boehm. Our venerable Father is well known to the Church. His life has become a part of our nation's history, and no record of our country can be complete without the mention of his name and deeds. His life and reminiscences have been already given to the Church by the late Rev. J. B. Wakeley, D.D., and by Rev. John Atkinson, A.M., and are well known to the Conference. The salient points in his history, and the circumstances connected with his death, are all that can be given at this time. His grandfather was from Switzerland, and emigrated to America in 1713. He settled in Conestoga Township, Lancaster County, Pa. On the old homestead, thus secured, Henry Boehm, the subject of this memoir, and the son of Martin and Eva Boehm, was born on the 8th of June, 1775, and died December 29th, 1875, aged 100 years, 6 months, and 21 days. Henry's father was, like his ancestors, a Mennonite in religion, and a preacher among them, but was expelled from membership for "holding fellowship with a people of strange language," which meant the Methodists. Having joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, Martin Boehm's house became the favorite resort of those who were, under God, the founders of American Methodism. How could he fail of receiving great blessings from the converse and prayers of such men as Francis Asbury, Richard Whatcoat, Robert Strawbridge, Benjamin Abbott, and others, whose names are still as ointment poured forth. Henry Boehm united with the Church in 1798, which caused great joy to his father, who, in the spirit of our early fathers, regarded the conversion of his children as the greatest possible blessing. On the 1st of August, 1799, Bishop Asbury recorded in his Journal, "Martin Boehm is all upon wings and springs, since the Lord has blessed his grandchildren; his son Henry is greatly led out in religious exercises." In 1800 he was licensed to preach, and during the latter part of the year supplied Dorchester Circuit. In 1801, three quarters of a century ago, he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and after the usual time was ordained deacon and elder. He at once entered upon and performed laboriously and faithfully all the duties of early itinerant life. His circuits were like modern Conferences. The aggressive spirit of early Methodism is illustrated by an appointment announced by Bishop Asbury at the Philadelphia Conference in 1808. It was read as follows: "Pennsylvania, William Hunter, William Colbert, and Henry Boehm," a field large enough for the most chivalrous itinerant.

After the General Conference, which was held in Baltimore in 1808, he became the traveling companion of Bishop Asbury, who was then sixty-three years old. It would take a long time to recount his long journeys with the venerable bishop, and to tell the stirring scenes in which he was an actor.

He was Bishop Asbury's friend, companion, and assistant for five years. At the Conference in Philadelphia in 1812 he received this stirring eulogy. To the question, "Is there any thing against Henry Boehm?" there was no presiding elder to reply, for he had none. Bishop Asbury answered, "There is nothing against Brother Boehm. During the time he has been with me he served me as a son, he served me as a servant, he served me as a slave." After he ceased to travel with Bishop Asbury he was successively presiding elder of Schuylkill, Chesapeake, and Delaware Districts. At the close of his services in this office he returned to the pastorate, in which he continued laboriously and faithfully, until infirmities compelled him to take a supernumerary relation. During his active life he was also prominent in connection with the publishing interests of the Church, and had been a member of the General Conference. After the division of the Philadelphia Conference he was connected with the New Jersey Conference. At the organization of the Newark Conference he became a member of it, and he has continued with us, honored not only by his brethren in the ministry, but by all who knew him. He was a blessing to all who had the privilege of his acquaintance. Two of our most honored senior brethren had special relations to him. He baptized Rev. J. S. Porter, D.D., and he was present when Bishop Asbury baptized Rev. D. W. Bartine, D.D. The details of the Centennial services, connected with his history, are still fresh, and a mere reference to them must suffice. At the last session of our Conference interesting services were held in view of the near completion of his one hundredth year. On the 8th of June, by the direction of the Conference, the Centennial Anniversary of Father Boehm was celebrated in Trinity Church, Jersey City. There was a large gathering of ministers and people, and the old veteran of a hundred years received the congratulations of the members of this Conference, and of representatives from various Conferences. There were also present laymen from various parts of the country. Several addresses were delivered, and an account of his life, taken from his own lips, was read by Rev. John Atkinson.

Father Boehm's domestic life was very pleasant. In 1818 he was married to Miss Sarah Hill, a noble Christian woman, who died in the triumphs of faith August 26th, 1853. They had four children, one of whom, Henry Martin Boehm, died in 1862. His widow is now living on Staten Island. His daughters—Elizabeth, wife of S. C. Emley, Mrs. Sarah Wood, and Mary, wife of Rev. A. N. Mulnix of the New York Conference—survive to mourn the loss of a father who, both for his age and virtues, was remarkably endeared to them. He died at the residence of his granddaughter, on Staten Island, and was blessed in his last sickness with the loving attentions of his children.

After his centennial celebration he was cheerful and vigorous, and there were no indications of his speedy departure from earth until his last sickness.

He preached in John-street Church, New York, and on the twelfth of July went to the country. On the first Sabbath in October he preached in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Woodrow, Staten Island, and administered the sacrament. His text was, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock." It was an occasion of great solemnity. On the 16th day of December he met a company of Newark Conference ministers at the house of Rev. Milton Relyea, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Woodrow. At the close of this pleasant interview Father Boehm arose and formally addressed the company on the goodness of God, after which he led in prayer.

He enjoyed this gathering of his brethren very much, and on his return home it was observed that there was a heavenly glow upon his countenance. His physical power was so wonderfully preserved, for one of his age, that he was regarded as a curiosity. He shaved himself, laid aside his tools with great care and precision, after he was a hundred years old. He was at breakfast promptly, going down stairs without difficulty. It was the writer's privilege to take dinner with him at the anniversary of his one hundredth birthday, and he was astonished at the physical and mental vigor Father Boehm possessed at that time. The doctor said that he was not aware of his great vitality, and but for the cold he had taken he might have lived five years longer in the vigor of his faculties. He was forty-eight hours dying after he became unconscious, struggling with disease, not as a feeble child or exhausted invalid, but with almost a giant's strength. When he was in a comatose state he would still use his handkerchief, retaining his natural delicacy and sense of propriety till the last. He would say, "O dear! I would be so thankful for a little water." He closed his own eyes.

Father Boehm was remarkable for the gentleness of his spirit, and also for his uniform courtesy toward all whom he met. He was always the Christian gentleman. He was every-where sweet, patient, sensitive to improprieties, and manful. It was a luxury down to his old age to have him for a guest. In this, as in many other things, he was a model. His physician and friend on Staten Island, a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, said of him that he was the nearest like the Apostle John of any man he had ever known. The same gentleman said, "Mr. Emley, (addressing Father Boehm's son-in-law,) I have watched Father Boehm for forty years, and it would have been an injury to me and to the Christian religion had he done any thing wrong. He was the pure gold without the dross, nearer than any one I have ever known." A similar impression of him was made upon Dr. Hedden, a physician in Jersey City, who was very much devoted to him, and who requested the privilege of acting as bearer at his funeral.

The remarkable preservation of his intellectual powers has been already hinted at. It is not necessary to enter into a discussion of his mental qualities here, or of his characteristics as a preacher. He had a vigorous, well-balanced mind. He preached fluently and well both in English and German. It is remarkable that down to old age he was always heard with pleasure, not merely because he was an old man, so old that it was a curiosity to hear him, but also because of the ability and effectiveness with which he spoke. The first sermon in the German language preached in Cincinnati was by Henry Boehm. It was on Saturday, Sept. 4, 1808. His text was John, 1st chapter, 11th and 12th verses. He refers in his journal to Cincinnati as a "village," and says, "there is a prospect of something of a work in this town." Before 1810 he had preached the Gospel in German in nearly fourteen States. Father Boehm was also in part the founder of Methodist literature among the Germans in this country. He was requested by Bishop Asbury to superintend the translation of the Methodist Discipline in the German language. In 1807 the work was completed by Dr. Romer and himself, and was largely circulated. One secret of his power and success—and may I not add, to the clearness of his intellect, which continued even during one week of intense sufferings of his last sickness—was his constant reading of the Bible. Dr. Hunt said he had found out Father Boehm's source of strength. It was prayer and reading the Bible.

It is believed that he had read the Bible through one hundred times. It was his custom for the past twenty years to read it through three times a year. The last year of his life he read the blessed book through, finishing it two weeks before he died, and placing his mark where it reads, "In the beginning." Was it not a symbol of the glorious life which this ripe saint of God was soon to begin in heaven? The Psalms and New Testament he read more frequently than the other parts. He usually read the Book of Revelation on the Sabbath. On Sunday, the 12th of December, he read sixteen chapters of that book, and laid it aside, intending to finish it on Monday. It was not necessary to read further. The glories which were there revealed God gave him the privilege of seeing a few days afterward. Growing in the love of God and his word, continuing constant to prayer, the time drew near that Israel must die. On the night of the 17th of December he was taken sick, and most of the time until he died his pain was very severe. Yet his frequent expression was, "Precious Jesus!" When asked if he thought he was going away, he said, "I have left it with the Lord." All the surroundings of his sickness and death were fitting and pleasant. The room in which he died had three windows, affording abundant light. The ivy crept along the wall in sight, and went on budding just as he was passing away. Right in front of his bed was a lily, which bloomed the day he died, a strange fact, as it was out of season. The day before he died the sun was unusually brilliant, but, in harmony with the sadness of the scene, it shone not again until after his burial. On the day he died the trees wept, as if in sympathy. He was majestic even in death, and those who saw him then spoke of it as a remarkable sight, to behold the old man of more than a century calmly reposing in the embrace of death. He died at sunset, too. Strange combination of circumstances. He closed his Bible, he closed the century of his own and the nation's life, he closed the year, he closed the day. Just as the sun went down behind the western hills on the last day of the year 1875, the centenarian of American Methodism was gathered to his fathers.

I am informed that last year, at the Conference in Jersey City, he, as if forecasting his death, bade the Conference farewell in these words: "In all probability, my beloved brethren, I will never meet with you again, and I bid you farewell. We will have a blessed meeting up yonder." He regarded that Conference with great interest. He thought Providence had well ordered that the Conference should come to him when he could not go to it. This seemed the more remarkable as but one Conference had ever been held at his place of residence, and that was at Milford, Del., the first year of his married life. Our present Conference had a special attraction to him because Bishop Janes was to preside at it; for the senior bishop, with whose presence as presiding officer we favored this session, had all the tenderness of a father, and all the filial love of a son in the Gospel. He always felt that he had made him a bishop. He often thought of what a calamity it would have been had it not been done.

Brethren of the Conference, Father Boehm loved the whole Church, but especially this Conference. He watched its young men with great interest.

In reply to a question by Rev. Mr. Relyea, asking if he had any word to send to the brethren of Newark Conference, he said: "Yes, tell them I love them, and give them my kind regards: tell them to be faithful. O how pleasant it will be to meet them in heaven!"

4. Isaac Newton Felch was born in Norwalk, (Old Well,) Conn., July 17, 1806, and died in Hackettstown, N. J., March 24, 1876, in his seventieth year. He was converted at a camp-meeting held in Barkhamstead, Conn., Sept. 14, 1826. He was licensed as an exhorter in 1829, and as a local preacher Sept. 11, 1830. The same year he was sent to Somerset Mission to labor with Benjamin Collins. In 1831 he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference and appointed to Freehold Circuit. In 1832 he was appointed to Rahway and Woodbridge. April 21, 1833, he was ordained deacon and appointed to Woodbridge. March 11, 1834, he was married to Margaret H., daughter of Rev. John Dow, of Belleville, and was appointed to New Providence Circuit. In 1835 he was ordained elder and sent to Haverstraw, where he remained the following year. In 1837 he was stationed in Bloomfield; thenceforward in Elizabethtown, Rahway, Northfield, S. I.; Westfield, S. I.; Paterson District, Franklin-street, Newark; Cross-street, Paterson; Nyack, N. Y., where, in 1858, his health failed, and he was placed on the list of supernumeraries. In 1869 he supplied Grace Church, a new organization in Paterson.

Brother Felch was a member of the Philadelphia Conference six years, of the New Jersey twenty years, and of the Newark nineteen years. He was twice a member of the General Conference. The prominent and responsible fields of labor to which he was assigned show that in his administrative and preaching abilities and pastoral work he ranked with the foremost men in the Conference. Our departed brother's ministry covered forty-five of the most remarkable years of the world's history. Into that period are crowded many of the great and grand things which distinguish our high civilization. In all this mighty progress Brother Felch never fell behind any of the great interests of the Church of Christ or of our nation, but stood out boldly as a patriot and minister of the Gospel.

Brother Felch was a good minister of Jesus Christ, earnest, clear, and successful. Many souls were brought to Christ by his ministry. His pastoral habits were worthy of imitation. It was not generally known in the Conference why a man with such a noble form and well-balanced mind, and one who was so well qualified to preach, should have retired so soon from the active ministry. To those who have known him intimately it is a matter of surprise that he labored so long. For nearly twenty-five years he was subject to attacks of vertigo, which frequently caused him to seize any person or object to keep him from falling. These attacks finally culminated in heart disease, of which he died.

No minister of this Conference has been more highly blessed in his home than Brother Felch. His most amiable wife has sent me since I have been here a most beautiful but modest description of that home. She says: "Having been married forty-two years, I would state that in every respect he was a devoted husband, a tender father. Always kind and cheerful under every circumstance of life, never omitting any Christian duty, his home-life was pure and holy." He delighted to share a generous hospitality with his brethren and friends of the Church. He anticipated very great pleasure in coming to the Conference to see those few but noble men who entered the work when he did, and to hear the grand reports from this large and efficient body of co-laborers. His name stands as the guest of Brother J. Brookfield. He was apparently all ready to come to this gathering, but the great Head of the Church saw he was ready to join the general assembly above, where the spirits of just men made perfect gather about the throne. To go there was infinitely better than to come here.

His death was almost like translation. He had expressed a wish to his wife, "If it pleases God, I would prefer to die suddenly." The day of his departure he was cheerful and happy, entering into the conversation and reading of the family. At the hour of tea he told his wife and grandchildren to go down to supper, saying, "If I need you I will knock on the floor with my cane." In a few minutes they heard him signal with his cane to come to him. They hastened to his bedside and found him unconscious, and in fifteen minutes he was dead. There was no need of any dying testimony; behind him were nearly fifty years of life, from his youth, devoted to God and his Church.

S. Rusling, J. Fort, A. Owen—3.

1. SEDGWICK RUSLING was born in the beautiful Musconnectcong Valley, near Hackettstown, Warren County, N. J., April 24, 1799. Both father and mother were Methodists, and deeply devoted to God. His mother's knee was the first altar at which he bowed, and the impressions there received remained through life. He was converted when eighteen years of age, but confessed with great sorrow that through the influence of irreligious companions he fell back into the world. In this unhappy state he remained three years. Impressed with the cause which led to his fall, he said, "If I ever marry, I shall select a religious companion and a Methodist. He kept his resolution, and at a proper time Miss Electa Commings, a devoted young Christian, became his wife. Three months after this he was restored to the Divine favor at a camp-meeting near Jenny Jump Mountain, under a powerful sermon by Lawrence M'Combs. He at once began to exercise in public, and was soon licensed to exhort. In 1826, while an exhorter, he was called to fill a vacancy on Mount Horeb Circuit. He went, and had success. In November he was licensed to preach. He was received on trial by the Philadelphia Conference in 1827, and appointed to Cumberland Circuit, where he remained two years. His subsequent fields of labor were: Salem, Gloucester, Hamburgh, Warren, and Newton Circuits; Warren again, New Providence and Union Village, Swedesborough Circuit, Lower Penn's Neck, Pemberton, Woodrow and Bethel, on Staten Island, and Crosswicks. In 1850, broken in health, he became supernumerary, and so remained about two and a half years. A vacancy then occurred at Cranberry, and he filled the place until Conference, when he resumed the regular work. In 1853–54 he was stationed at Rahway. In 1855 he became supernumerary again, and removed to New Brunswick. In October of that year there was a vacancy at Elizabeth City, which he filled until the following spring. He remained in New Brunswick until the death of his wife in 1867. In 1872 he was married to Mrs. Sarah J. Fuller, of Lawrenceville, Tioga County, Pa., where he spent the remainder of his days.

He was in feeble health for some time, but the sickness which terminated in death continued only about twelve days. During his last week on earth he had but little power of speech, yet his mind was clear, and he was glad, as far as able, to express his perfect reliance upon the blood of Jesus to save, and his readiness, at the Master's bidding, to depart and be forever with the Lord. The Sabbath before his death he received the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper with evident satisfaction, while his countenance expressed the blessed fact that Christianity could sustain and comfort its votaries even in the dying hour. His death took place at half past nine o'clock on Tuesday morning, March 7, 1876, and was like the waves subsiding to the sweetest calm. He had lived seventy-six years, and was the oldest member of the New Jersey Conference.

Sedgwick Rusling was not an ordinary man, nor was his ministry ordinary in its results. He had not the scholastic advantages of many, but the very contest he had with difficulties made him stronger. He grappled with all obstacles, mastered them, and made life a success. He often exhibited extraordinary power in the pulpit, wonderfully moving the masses. With a well trained and musical voice he was an effective singer, while facts gathered from a large experience, added to a fine imagination, caused his sermons to abound in incident and illustration which, together with a heart gushing with sympathy for immortal souls, enabled him to lead the multitudes heavenward. The themes of his discourses were solid Gospel truths. These he proclaimed in grand old Saxon, till earth heeded and hell trembled.

He was pre-eminently a revivalist. With him the great object of the Christian Church and ministry was the conversion of souls. If this was not accomplished, all other success he regarded as comparative failure, and this end reached, he felt there was, even in the midst of other failures, comparative success. He engaged in this work like a warrior, sure of victory. He commenced it as soon as converted, and continued in it until strength was gone. He had a revival at a meeting held in his father's house before he left home. After he entered the regular work his zeal flamed like a consuming fire. In many of his appointments there were wonderful manifestations of Divine power, and in all more or less were brought to God, until he rejoiced over the conversion of more than three thousand souls.

He was genial in manners, and sweet and cheerful in spirit, not only amid the triumphs of his great life-work, but when afflictions came and age pressed hard upon him. This made him an agreeable companion and a general favorite. Those of his own age felt the inspiration of his presence, while childhood and those beyond him in years hailed his coming with delight. But he has gone from among us. We bless God for his blameless life, his protracted labors, and his grand success. May we meet him in the land of eternal sunshine and renew the friendships which death for a time has broken, and be forever linked together in sweet bonds of immortal love!

2. JOHN FORT was born in Pemberton, Burlington County, N. J., June 5, 1816, and died in Blackwoodtown, August 7, 1875. He was descended from Welsh ancestors, who settled at Pemberton about the year 1707, where the family name has remained permanent and prominent, and from which New Jersey has chosen one of her governors, and the people of the district some of its representatives in the Legislature. In 1773, when a Methodist class was formed in the place, some of his ancestors were the first members of it, as also trustees in the erection of the first Methodist church edifice two years later. His father was Rev. Andrew Fort, a highly respected and useful local deacon of the Church, which gave the family the influence of a Christian home and led to the children being Sabbath-school scholars from early life. His first decided convictions for sin, and personal need of salvation through Christ, were experienced by him at the age of about fourteen years, while a member of a Bible-class under the teachings of Mrs. Sarah Boehm, wife of Rev. Henry Boehm. But not obtaining a clear sense of pardon, he delayed to unite in Church membership till 1838, under the ministry of Rev. R. E. Morrison, soon after which he received a license to exhort. On Dec. 5, 1838, he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Emley, of Jacobstown, and continued for some years to pursue a farm life, but under very deep impressions of a call to preach, which at times so wrought upon him as to almost unfit him for his secular duties.

He commenced his itinerant ministry by the appointment of the presiding elder to the position of junior preacher on the New Egypt Circuit in the spring of 1842. In the spring of 1843 he was received on trial by the New Jersey Conference, and was appointed successively to Bargaintown, Gloucester, Metuchen Mission, Clinton, Red Bank, Staten Island, Hightstown, Gloucester City, Harrisonville and Mullica Hill, Lambertville, Paulsborough, Tuckerton, Bridgeport, Williamstown, Swedesborough, and Blackwoodtown, where he died in the fifth month of the third year of his pastorate, ending a continuously effective ministry of thirty-three years and four months, and a life of fifty-eight years.

Interesting revivals of religion took place under his labors, some of which were extensive and lastingly influential. Brother Fort never compromised his convictions of right for the sake of favor, or because of fear. His methods in battling for right were frank, and often exceedingly original. He had a keen hatred of all forms of wrong, including African slavery, and he fought it persistently with voice, vote, and pen. But so honest was he in his opposition that the enemies of his cause loved the man while they differed from his views, and often writhed under his blows. When the question of so amending the Discipline as to exclude slaveholders from membership in the Church was referred for vote in his Conference in 1856, he voted with Dr. M'Clintock and five others in favor of such a rule. And during the late civil war he wrote and published an able essay on southern slavery, which he gave the title of "The National Plague Spot." In preaching he was energetic both in manner and utterance, and his sermons often contained passages of much elevation of thought and beauty of diction. Few men were more sincerely loved by their Conference than he. His transparent and blunt honesty in presenting his views rendered enjoyable, rather than objectionable, an element of quaintness in his nature, of the existence of which he seemed utterly unconscious, but which evinced itself in the frequent surprises his Conference speeches would create, and which, perhaps, in his earlier ministry, not being so well understood, measurably, in some instances, compromised his ministerial usefulness. At a lately held camp-meeting at Pitman Grove, he received a spiritual baptism which he referred to as adding depth to the tone of his religious life, and is regarded as a special preparation for his approaching sudden departure, which for some time before his death he seemed to have an impression was near.

On Saturday morning, August 7, having completed the preparation of his sermons for the approaching Sabbath, he rode out to visit a sick member residing four miles distant, and returned about noon in his usual health and spirits. After dinner he retired to his chamber for rest and meditation, and remained there till about two o'clock, when he went into his garden, in which it was his habit to seek physical exercise in cultivating and protecting the plants, the growth and beauty of which he greatly delighted to watch. About four o'clock, while still in the garden, he was taken suddenly with paralysis of the heart, an attack of which he had once before had. He reached the house in much physical suffering, and said to a friend who was present as he lay down, "I shall not live. I shall die, but my work is all done." His wife coming to his side at this moment said, "O, what shall I do if you are taken away?" To which he replied, "Don't cry, but when the reaction comes I shall die." Remedies were applied, but with little effect. He died in about an hour after the attack began.

3. ABRAHAM OWEN, a member of the New Jersey Conference from its origin in 1836, died of pneumonia in New York, August 1, 1875. He was born in Swansea, Glamorganshire, Wales, August 11, 1800. He was converted at the age of nineteen, and in less than two years he was licensed as an exhorter and placed on the "plan." In October, 1822, he sailed for Philadelphia, with the hope of improving his worldly condition. In 1825 he went back to England to be married; and in 1829 he returned back to this country, and continued his business as a tailor. During these years he used his license as an exhorter. In 1836 he was received into the Philadelphia Conference on trial and stationed at Salem, where he had preached the previous year under the elder. In 1836 the Philadelphia Conference was divided, and Brother Owen became a member of the New Jersey Conference, and was sent to Bridgeton. His appointments were as follows: Gloucester, Cape May, Cedarville, Salem, Asbury, New Germantown, Flanders, Northfield, S. I.; Parsippany, Woodbridge, Woodrow, S. I.; Pennington, Clarksborough, Milltown, Titusville, Pearsonville, May's Landing, Riceville, Blackwoodtown, Hammondton. In 1866 he became supernumerary, but filled out the unexpired term of Dr. Hurst, at Trinity Church, Jersey City, when the latter was sent to Germany. In 1867 he preached at South Amboy, and in 1868 was, at his own request, continued as supernumerary with work, and was appointed to Keyport, with Rev. R. V. Lawrence. He continued to reside there and to preach as often as his health would allow and opportunity offered, until September, 1871, when he removed to New York, where he has since resided with his son, in communion with the Eighty-sixth-street Methodist Episcopal Church.

For over fifty years it was his joy and honor to preach "Christ and him crucified." He was an exhorter or local preacher over ten years, and a traveling preacher for nearly forty years. He loved to preach, and God gave him the cherished desire of his heart by allowing him to preach the last Sabbath of his life. This he did to a delighted congregation on Sunday, July 25, just one week before his death. Father Owen was a most devoted and faithful minister of the New Testament. Over one thousand persons were brought into the Church through his labors. He had many hard and barren fields of work, but he always left them better than he found them. He was so devoted to his work, he had such a kind and gentlemanly manner, he was so courteous and considerate of the feelings of others, that he impressed favorably the most careless and hardened; but the influence of the life of such a loving, holy man in building up believers and comforting them in sorrow and trouble cannot now be computed. His pastoral power was, doubtless, even larger than that of his pulpit. God gave him honor in both fields of labor. On July 12 we celebrated his golden wedding. On Sunday morning, July 25, he preached, and afterward officiated at a funeral. He was taken sick the next day, and from the first he was unconscious, and so left us no grand death-bed testimony. But we do not need it. His holy life, his faithful ministry, and his daily walk with God —these are enough.

1. WILLIAM MILLER DALRYMPLE was born in the city of Philadelphia, Feb. 2, 1824. When nineteen years of age he experienced the regenerating influences of the Holy Spirit, united with St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, and commenced a life of activity and usefulness in the interests of the Church of Christ. In 1852, being impressed by the divine Spirit that it was his duty to enter upon the work of the Christian ministry, he was employed by the presiding elder of Wilmington District as junior preacher on Zion Circuit in 1852. The following year he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference and returned to Zion Circuit. In 1854 he was junior preacher on Mount Salem and Kennett Square Charge. In 1866 he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Maria Stewart, the friend and companion of his boyhood, and who proved a most affectionate and devoted wife, laboring most zealously to promote the interests and prosperity of the Church. His subsequent appointments were Twenty-third-street, afterward called Pitman Chapel, Philadelphia; Dauphin, Radnor, Darby and Mount Pleasant, Safe Harbor, Chester Circuit, Birdsborough, Minersville, Bristol, and Port Richmond. From this last-named place, in the third year of his pastorate, the twenty-third year of his ministry, and the fifty-second year of life, he went to his home in heaven.

* Obituary not received.

The last illness of Brother Dalrymple commenced on May 29, but was not regarded as likely to prove fatal. With Christian prudence, however, he set his house in order, talking freely and fully to his wife respecting his temporal affairs, and encouraging and comforting her with his expressions of confident trust in the Lord Jesus Christ. "I am on a firm rock," said he; "Jesus saves me, he saves me now, and I know he will all the way through." When asked, during the second week of his illness, if he had any message to send to his brethren, he replied, "Tell them that the religion of Jesus, which I have been preaching to others, comforts me now in my affliction." About the fourteenth day his symptoms were regarded as favorable to a speedy restoration to health, but on the seventeenth day the fever returned with increased force, and his condition became critical. All that love or skill could prompt was done for him, but all in vain. On Sunday morning, June 27, he called his wife to his bedside. She went to him and received from his lips his last words of Christian comfort and holy joy. They were few words, and very brief, but O how precious! "Glory! hallelujah! Happy!" In the afternoon, about two o'clock, he passed quietly away.

As a preacher Brother Dalrymple was plain, practical, earnest, and successful. Every department of the Church received a share of his attention, but as a worker in the Sunday-school, among the young men and young women, his labors were especially blessed of God. As a pastor he had few equals. The bereaved, the sick, the sorrowing, and the poor, welcomed him as an angel of comfort. Like his divine Master, in every field of labor assigned him "he went about doing good." His brethren in the ministry loved him, regarding him as in the highest sense a man—honest, pure, devoted, a very "soul of fire," spending and being spent for the glory of God in the salvation of men.

2. Charles Cooke was born of Protestant Episcopal parentage in St. Mary's County, Maryland, Sept. 3, 1799, and died in Philadelphia, Aug. 24, 1875. In 1815 Charles entered the academy at Georgetown, D. C., and during the vacation of that year he was converted at a camp-meeting, and soon after the young convert united with the Foundry Chapel Society, Washington. Leadership of a young people's prayer-meeting had, however, marked him as one possessed of "gifts and graces," and in 1819 he was licensed to preach, and was sent out under the elder to Lancaster Circuit, Virginia. The year following, in 1820, he was received into the old Baltimore Conference and appointed to Westmoreland. He was next sent to Stafford, and then to Fell's Point. In 1824 he was ordained elder, and sent to Washington, Pa., which was soon after set off into the Pittsburgh Conference. Sept. 27, 1825, he was united in marriage to Charlotte Eyster, of Chambersburgh, Pa., a woman of culture, and one who was deeply devoted to the work in which he was engaged. In 1826 he was appointed to Pittsburgh. From that station he went to Chartiers Circuit, and thence to Wheeling, of which his journal records: "I was appointed to that place, though the great Dr. Bascom was requested. I went with diffidence, but was cordially received, and 'the word of God grew and multiplied.'"

Dr. Cooke led the Pittsburgh delegation in the General Conference of 1836, and in 1840 he was elected editor of the "Pittsburgh Christian Advocate." He was already one of the fathers when he was transferred to the Philadelphia Conference, wherein his appointments were as follows: Green-street, Philadelphia; St. Paul's, Wilmington; Dover, Del.; Western, Philadelphia; Smyrna, Del.; Mount Zion, Manayunk; Eleventh-street, Philadelphia. At the session of 1870 he preached his semi-centennial sermon, his former colleague and brother beloved, Bishop Simpson, presiding; and then, as the oldest, save one, effective member in the Conference, he received for his last appointment St. George's, Philadelphia, perhaps the oldest Methodist Episcopal Church in America. After 1872 Dr. Cooke held a superannuated relation.

Inscribed by his own hand, of which he used to say, "Palsied, it now but feebly holds the pen it can no longer drive," one reads these his last entries:—

Sept. 7, 1873, preached at Park Avenue. "O God, thou hast taught me from my youth, and hitherto have I declared thy wondrous works. Now, also, when I am old and gray-headed, O God, forsake me not."

Sept. 28, Tabernacle. Partially paralyzed while trying to preach.

"I the chief of sinners am
But Jesus died for me."

His peaceful death added emphasis to Bishop Scott's text at his funeral in Tabernacle Church: "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." One cannot get more than a glimpse of his inner life from a mere outline of even the masterly analysis of the character of Charles Cooke read by Rev. Joseph Castle, D.D., over the burial casket. With that this meager sketch is closed. "Quiet, unobtrusive, unostentatious, he had the firmness of a true man, with the tenderness of a little child. His neat, cleanly person was the true index of his mind and heart. He was too wise to be vain, and knew too much of human weakness to be censorious. An able preacher, he was no noisy zealot, enforcing what he neither understood nor practiced; a perfectly reliable man, he never for one moment forgot that he was a Christian minister. Full of genial versatility, he yet was a man of one work, and while a right learned man, with Wesley he could truthfully have said, homo unius libri. We are not yet admitted to the archives of heaven, nor can we learn all the results of this good man's public life, running through well nigh two generations; but they will be read before an assembled universe in the last great day, and we cannot doubt they will be glorious for the Master, and win for his servant the welcome plaudit, 'Well done.'"

3. John J. Jones was born of Methodist parentage in Baltimore June 19, 1824. After careful nurture in the Christian household, our dear brother was converted to God in the thirteenth year of his age, in the wonderful revival which occurred in St. George's Charge during the pastorate of the Rev. C. Pitman, D.D. From the first he was distinguished for his piety. We learn from a brief journal kept by him that he felt deeply the importance of attaining to his privilege in Christ. After frequent acts of earnest consecration he came into the rich enjoyment of perfect love. In the year 1841 he became deeply impressed that it was his duty to preach the Gospel. Without delay he entered upon a course of reading under the direction of his pastor, the Rev. E. L. Janes, with a view of preparing himself for his life-work. Having given to his brethren in the Church the evidence of fitness and qualification, he was licensed to exhort Oct. 16, 1847. The Church demanding his services, he was employed by the presiding elder to assist the Rev. Newton Heston on the Mauch Chunk and Weissport Circuit, where he was duly licensed as a local preacher. Persuaded that his true place was in the itinerancy, he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in 1850, and appointed to labor with Rev. J. B. Ayres on Delaware City Circuit, after which he was sent to Cochranville, and then to Grove. In the spring of 1853 he was united in marriage to Miss Rebecca Haley, a lady every way suitable to be the companion and helper of a minister of the Gospel, and was appointed to Kent Island. His appointments thenceforward were as follows: Cohocksink, Cherry Valley, Port Carbon, Waynesburgh, St. Clair, Pitman Chapel, Philadelphia; Scott, Wilmington; Lykenstown and Wiconisco, Catasauqua, Second-street, North Ninth-street, Philadelphia. In this last charge God was pleased in a very remarkable manner to bless the labors of our brother. Some three hundred souls were brought to Christ. He continued in his work until Dec. 2, 1875, when he returned to his home to suffer and die. His affliction was painful and severe from the first, and for some weeks hopes were entertained of his recovery. He awaited with great patience and holy resignation the appointment of the great Head of the Church. God wonderfully sustained his servant until the morning of March 30, when he was released from suffering and bade enter his reward. Remembering that the Conference would be in session, the day before his departure he said to his wife, "Tell my dear brethren 'for me to live is Christ, and to die is gain!' I love them dearly. I feel that Jesus saves me fully. Pray for the Church which is dear to my heart," and then exultantly exclaimed, "'This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.' Halleluiah! Halleluiah! The Lord God omnipotent reigneth." The character of Brother Jones was distinguished for remarkable liberality to the Church, deep sympathy for the people of his charge, and no minister was more highly esteemed and loved. He was blessed with a rich and ripe experience in the things of God. He enjoyed for many years the blessing of perfect love, and delighted to testify to the power of the grace of God to save from all sin. As a friend he was always true, as a husband devoted and considerate, as a minister consecrated and successful; and through him many people were added unto the Lord.

"Servant of God, well done;
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is run,
And thou art crowned at last."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

A. P. Colton,* J. W. D. Ensey —2.

JOHN WILLIAM DENNIS ENSEY was born in Coffee County, Tenn., July 25, 1840. He was converted Sept. 18, 1854, licensed to preach Sept. 4, 1858, and was received as a Conference probationer in 1860. He filled several appointments in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, from 1861 to 1867. Brother Ensey was married to Annie Cook, in Smith County, Tenn., Aug. 27, 1865. In 1868, uniting with the Saint Louis Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, he was appointed to Springfield Circuit. His succeeding appointments were: Marionville, Cassville, Sarcoxie, Medoc, Calhoun, and Leesville, where he died in the faith he had lived and preached to others.

Brother Ensey was a great sufferer for several months, and for the most part a patient one, as he sank gradually under the worst form of chronic catarrh or consumption, of which he died on the 2d of May, 1875.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

Jos. B. Wakeley, Jno. Luckey, Charles C. Keys, Seney Martin —4.

1. J. B. WAKELEY, one of the best known Methodist ministers of these parts, "finished his course" at the house of a friend in the city of New York, April 27, 1875. He was a native of Danbury, Conn., born in 1809, the child of not wealthy but respectable parents. He was converted at Sugar Loaf, Orange County, N. Y., and became a Church member when about sixteen years old. Soon after attaining his majority he removed to Sing Sing, on the Hudson, where he found the companion of his after life, Miss M'Cord, now his bereaved widow, and thither his remains were taken for burial.

In the spring of 1833, at the age of twenty-four, Joseph B. Wakeley was admitted to the New York Conference on trial, and two years later to full connection, and for forty-two years, until released by death, continued in the work of the ministry. He was first appointed to Salisbury, Conn.; next he was sent to Lee and Lenox, thence to Canaan, and next year to Stockport and Claverack, and in 1840 to Bloomville. In 1841 and 1842 he was at Seventh-street, New York city; and in 1843 in Birmingham and Milford, Conn. In 1844 he was transferred to New Jersey, and served successively Trenton, Newark, (Clinton-street,) Jersey City, and Newark, (Central,) each place two years. In 1852 he was again transferred, this time to New York East Conference, and stationed at Forsyth-street, New York city. Two years later he returned to the New York

Conference, going first to Jane-street, (two years,) and one year was given to the City Mission. In 1859 he went to Hedding Church, Poughkeepsie, and in 1861 to Harlem, New York; two years later he removed to Yonkers, where he remained three years. From 1866 to 1868 he was presiding elder of Poughkeepsie District, and for the next four years—till 1872—he held the same office on the Newburgh District, New York Conference. His next appointment was to Lexington Avenue Church, New York, where he remained till the session of his Conference in 1875, when he was appointed to Cold Spring, at which place he had officiated but one Sabbath.

Dr. Wakeley was, in many respects, a remarkable man. His cast of mind was practical rather than merely logical. In his pulpit ministrations he was less given to theological disquisitions than to lessons of life drawn from the precepts of religion and human experience. He was a model pastor, universally beloved, and especially by the younger members of the flock. He was a careful and prudent counselor, often, however, judging from the experience of the past, rather than from the exigencies of the present or the necessities of the future; so that, in many things, he belonged to the good old times that have passed into history. He was sensitively conscientious in the discharge of all his duties, and labored zealously and faithfully to promote the interests of Methodism; yet, while warmly attached to his own Church, he was charitable in his feeling and catholic in his spirit. As an ecclesiastical antiquarian he had no equal in the Church, and his writings were mainly devoted to historical and biographical memoirs of early Methodism. His "Lost Chapters Recovered from the Early History of Methodism," his "Anecdotes of the Wesleys" and of "Whitefield," his "Heroes of Methodism," his "Life and Sermons of Beaumont," "Boehm's Reminiscences," etc., are examples of his peculiar tastes and methods of writing. He took particular interest in the temperance cause, and was an effective temperance speaker and writer. A volume of his compiling has been quite recently issued by the National Temperance Association. He had a very affectionate nature, was a devoted husband, a loving father, a trusty friend, and a generous donor to the poor. As was remarked at his funeral, "His generosity, measured by his ability, was princely."

Brother Wakeley's last illness was brief, but very severe. On the Thursday afternoon preceding his death he was at the office of the "Christian Advocate," before leaving which, near sunset, he experienced a sense of coldness, and other symptoms of coming disease. Retiring to the house of a friend—a member of his late charge—he rapidly grew worse during the night, and when first visited by a physician, his case, which was a complication of pleurisy and pneumonia, was found to be beyond remedy. He retained full possession of his faculties to the last, and on Sunday and Monday, immediately before his death, his language showed plainly that his end was peaceful and triumphant.

"The death scene," says a witness, "was in harmony with his life experience. Taken suddenly and violently ill, he was composed amid his acute sufferings, and without alarm as to the issue. When his physicians informed him they had no hope of his recovery he received the information without agitation, and continued tranquil and happy. I have seen many Christians die happily, but I never witnessed such perfect naturalness. He conversed and acted in the same manner, with the same tone of voice, the same pleasant countenance, and the same cheerful spirit which characterized him in health. In his sickness, from first to last, every thing he said and did was perfectly Wakeleyan. It really did not seem like a death scene. It appeared more like the breaking of morning and the advancing of day than the approach of evening and the gathering of night shadows. At my first interview with him he said, 'The doctors tell me there is no hope of my recovery; but I can say with Paul, "I am ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand; I have fought a good fight; I have [almost] finished my course; I have kept the faith." I see my crown, and mansion, and inheritance.' I said to him, 'Yes, but you must die to possess them.' He instantly responded,

"'By death I shall escape from death,
And life eternal gain.'"

At another time he said, 'I have fought long, fought honorably, fought heroically, fought successfully; fought for God, fought for Jesus; fought for Methodism, fought for Christianity. I have not gained all I wished, but, through Christ, I have taken great spoils.' He quoted, 'I am the resurrection and the life. He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.' Looking at me very earnestly, he said, 'Believest thou this?' I said, 'With all my heart.' He responded, with much emotion, 'So do I.' Lifting his hand, he said,

"'The head that once was crowned with thorns
Is crowned with glory now;
A royal diadem adorns
The mighty Victor's brow.'"

The spiritual kingdom of Christ in the earth is a mighty one. It must be set up in all the earth. It will over all prevail.' A few hours before his exit I said to him, 'What shall I say to your brethren in the ministry from you?' 'Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and doctrine'—repeating the words 'with all long-suffering' three times. After a few moments' rest he added, 'Tell them what Peter says: "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God in all things may be glorified, through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen."' After a moment's rest, while panting for breath, he added: 'Tell them to preach the old Gospel; we want no new one. The old Gospel is to save the world; it can't be improved; one might as well attempt to improve a ray of sunshine while vivifying a flower. The grand old Gospel forever!' After a short pause to take breath, he said, 'Tell them to go where they are sent.' Speaking of his own case, all the interests involved in his demise, he said, 'I leave all with God; I want it distinctly understood I do so without any fear, without any cowardice, without any alarm; I do it with the boldness of an old soldier and with the calmness of a saint.' He said, 'They will inquire in the morning, "Is Brother Wakeley dead?" Dead! no! Tell them he is better, and alive for evermore.' I said, 'Yes, and enjoying a higher and nobler life.' He replied, 'Wonderfully enlarged! O, wonderfully enlarged! Let me have a little plot in the quiet cemetery, and let me sleep there until the great rising day. I know the old ship. The Pilot knows me well. He will take me safe into port. Heavenly breezes already fan my cheeks. I shall not be a stranger in heaven. I am well known up there. Like Bunyan, I see a great multitude with white robes, and I long to be with them. To depart and be with Christ is far better. When you go to the grave, don't go weeping. Death hath no sting. The grave hath no terror. Eternity hath no darkness. Sing at my funeral,

"'Rejoice for a brother deceased,
Our loss is his infinite gain.'"

For many years neither death nor the grave have had any terrors for me. Hark! hark! hear ye not the song? Victory is ours. There is great rejoicing in heaven. Roll open, ye golden gates, and let my car go through. I must wait until the death angel descends.'" Soon the death angel came. The silver cord was loosed, the golden bowl was broken, and his freed spirit ascended to glory and to God.

2. JOHN LUCKEY was born March 13, 1800, and died in Rollo, Mo., January 10, 1876. He was converted at nine years of age, and licensed to exhort in 1819. As an exhorter and local preacher he served the Church one year, and traveled under the presiding elder one year. He was admitted on trial by the New York Conference in 1821, ordained deacon in 1823, and elder in 1825. He was married May 18, 1829, by Bishop Hedding, in Brooklyn, to Miss Dinah Rutherford.

His appointments were as follows: Durham, Burlington, Wethersfield, west end of Long Island, New Haven and Hamden, supernumerary one year, Hampshire, Southold, Saratoga, New Utrecht, York street, Brooklyn; Harlem, Goshen, Chaplain to Sing Sing Prison eight years, New Castle and Pine's Bridge, Pleasantville, Five Points Mission, White Plains, Fishkill West, Chaplain of Sing Sing Prison again for eleven years, supernumerary one year, and superannuated from 1867 to close of life.

Brother Luckey's physical organism was never strong, but his love for the Church of his choice was deep and abiding. He did the work assigned him as God gave ability, and the fruit of his toil appeared in the quickening and edification of believers, and the conversion of many souls to Christ. He possessed such qualities of mind and heart as are calculated to win the confidence and respect of all classes of people, and the affections of all the good. His love for his brethren in the ministry was deep and abiding. In him were combined a playful cheerfulness with deep seriousness, kindness and sympathy with strict integrity, a child-like simplicity with manly dignity, a ready appreciation of genuine worth, and an intense hatred of all mere pretense and shams. He had a keen sense of the ludicrous. In social life he was very genial, abounding in interesting incidents in the narration of which he displayed a rare genius. In the pulpit he was dignified, solemn, and pathetic. His sermons were instructive and practical. Sometimes he preached with great power. His exhortations and prayers at times were deeply impressive and almost irresistible. He wrote two books, one, "Prison Sketches," the other, "Life in Sing Sing Prison." For the discharge of the difficult and delicate duties of this office he was eminently qualified. He was interested in the welfare of all the prisoners, and especially interested in the young men of respectable families who, in an evil hour, and because of improper associations, had yielded to temptation, and committed crimes, for which they were paying the penalty of the law. He labored with all the ardency of his nature to ameliorate the condition of the convicts, and lead them to a better life. He was instrumental in introducing a library for the benefit of the prisoners, and in securing a less cruel and barbarous method of punishment and increased religious advantages. His friend, C. C. North, who visited the prison and addressed the prisoners on the Sabbath once a month for five years, and during one year visited each of the cells and conversed with every prisoner, says that, "During that whole period I never heard an unkind word said against him by inspectors, wardens, keepers, or even prisoners, except from those who feared his incorruptibility. The sentiment was unanimous that his character for piety, probity, and unselfish devotion to his work was without a flaw. . . . With the tenderness of a woman he would listen, on the one hand, to the sad stories of the convicts, and, on the other, penetrate, with rare sagacity, the schemes of corrupt men. He was loved by the worthy and sincere, while the false dreaded no man more than he."

For the mission work at the Five Points he was equally well qualified, and indeed the chaplaincy at Sing Sing had prepared the way for him at the mission, where he met many of the friends of his former parishioners. Here he and his friend North organized a Church May 18, 1851. It was during his term of service that the present mission buildings were erected. "The dignity of his person and the integrity of his character drew to the mission the support of many of the best men and women of all the Churches," and secured the high esteem of the board of managers.

In the spring of 1868 he left Sing Sing, where he had lived so long and made so many friends, and removed to Rolla, Mo. In his western home, although he had reached "threescore and ten," he was an untiring laborer. He donated to the Church six acres of land and a small house, which, when repaired, became Luckey's Chapel. Here he preached once a month, and worked in the Sunday-school until his health utterly failed. In November last, the condition of his health being such as to make it desirable that he should be near a physician, he removed to town. Just before his removal his pastor, Rev. I. J. K. Lunbeck, accompanied by three of Brother Luckey's nearest friends, went to his house to hold the regular Sabbath service. He was moved to tears by this visit. As soon as he could speak he said: "Brother Lunbeck, I have fought my last battle, I have done my last work; I shall soon sleep my last sleep; I have committed my all to the hands of the Lord." From the time of his removal to town until his death he maintained his usual cheerfulness, although he was confined to the house all the time, except one day, when he took a short walk with Mrs. Luckey, calling at the house of his pastor and resting half an hour, and then returning home. The next two days he remained about the same, but on the morning of the third day, (Monday, January 10,) when Mrs. Luckey awoke she found him sitting by the fire. She asked him how he had rested. He replied, "I was thinking of the young people and praying for them, and it troubled me and I could not sleep." He went to breakfast, appearing as well as usual; but Mrs. Luckey noticed that he seemed faint, and helped him back to his bed. He sank into a deep sleep, and at one o'clock breathed his last without pain or returning to consciousness. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace."

3. CHARLES C. KEYS was born in New York City in 1815, his father, David Keys, being for many years a prominent and influential member of the Allen-street Church, a man whose life was a benediction to his household and a blessing to many. At the age of eleven Charles first sought and professed salvation through faith in Christ, and gave his first public testimony standing on a bench, to which he was lifted by those anxious that all might hear the little convert. He, however, dated the beginning of his devoutly-assured and well-established Christian life from 1831, a year memorable in the annals of revival work in New York. Allen-street was the favored center of this divine manifestation, never before nor since equaled in this city. From one thousand five hundred to one thousand eight hundred were gathered into the Redeemer's fold. Into the ministry, from this great revival, came John M'Clintock, Elijah Crawford, James Floy, Chas. C. Keys, William M. Chipp, M. D'C. Crawford, J. W. B. Wood, and others.

Brother Keys' conversion was followed by such calls to God's work as led him to devote himself to the ministry, which he began before the age of twenty. Till then his education had been that of the common school and clerkship, but on entering the itinerant field he began a course of thorough and systematic study, mastering in due time those branches prescribed by the Discipline, and going far beyond them in the line of scholarly attainments. He was a life-long dyspeptic, and battled with an ailment greatly aggravated by habits of close study and the excitements of an earnest ministry. Thus devoted, thus embarrassed in his thirst for learning, thus disabled by disease, he for years pursued his course of faithful ministry, until compelled, at the age of forty-six, to retire from pastoral work. In his ministry he was given to elaborate, closely-discriminating thought. His special aim was to exalt Christ, confirm faith, and elucidate doctrines. He gloried most in the all-cleansing virtue of the blood of Christ. At times, when kindled by his theme, he was fervid and eloquent. His fields of labor were: Woodbury, Litchfield, New Britain, where, in 1837, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Schureman; Milan, Hillsdale, Lee and Lenox, Lee, Birmingham, Southport, Mariners' Church; Yonkers, Tarrytown, Morrisania, Pleasantville, Matteawan, Kingston, First Church; supernumerary for three years, when he took a superannuated relation, and so continued.

He was an earnest laborer for revivals, and frequently successful. His term of service in Lee, Mass., was crowned with remarkable displays of grace. In midsummer his church was thronged by anxious listeners to the word, while the crowd outside, unable to find entrance, often extended to the street.

Though superannuated, he was always ready, when possible, to respond to calls for assistance or relief from his brethren, most of the time preaching twice each Sabbath, and for one entire year he took charge of the old and embarrassed Morrisania Church without compensation. In this humble unsalaried service he was happy, for, with Paul, he had learned in whatsoever state he was therewith to be content. Though cut off from prospects of honors among his brethren, his interest in Conference and Church affairs was unabated. There was in him at all times a beautiful composure, like to that of waters so inclosed by sheltering rocks as never to be ruffled. He was a prompt and regular attendant on all the public and social means of grace, rejoicing if, by his presence only, he could encourage the Master's work. To know his goodness and worth, intimacy was essential. Unbending in principle, he was yet charitable in judgment, seeing the virtues sooner than the faults of others. His self-control was matured by the discipline of suffering. He was always happy because always grateful, and always grateful because always appreciative. His prayers abounded in fervent thanksgivings, and they seemed the kindlings by which his soul was fired. And, as respects the aspiration of his heart and the ordering of his life, "Holiness to the Lord" was his motto. His home was all a pious heart could wish; and in his companion's affection, and the heritage of pious and dutiful children, he rejoiced. God's blessing to them that fear him was on his own as well as on his father's house.

Brother Keys died Feb. 1, 1876. His last illness succeeded a Sabbath of ministry in Yonkers. Not long before, in the same pulpit, he had preached a sermon of wonderful power, the deep impression of which was manifest in the number of seekers who that night flocked to the altar. His words were in the Spirit's power, clear, forcible, eloquent, and will be long remembered by many who heard him. He closed his earthly ministry on Sabbath evening in an earnest and thrilling appeal from the word, "He that believeth not is condemned already." Ten weeks of severe illness, and much of the time of intense suffering, followed. The last five weeks in which he seemed convalescent and hopeful of recovery, his religious experience was remarkably joyous and sometimes rapturous. Words and sentences of love, gratitude, and praise flowed from his lips as waters from a fountain whenever Christian friends came to his bedside. His soul, in the furnace fires that dissolved the mortal part, gloried in the company of Christ, and the chords immortal seemed in perfect tune for those vibrations that in heaven shall be everlasting. To a brother minister he gave this message to the Conference: "Tell them that Jesus is precious, my never-failing portion, filled with boundless stores of grace." Once, in the early part of his illness, in a vision, he seemed standing on the shore of the river of death, waiting for some one to take him over, when he heard a voice saying, "Not quite yet," at which he seemed to turn away and came back to life. After several weeks of apparent convalescence, after a day of uncommon cheerfulness, death came with surprising suddenness. At nearly two o'clock the next morning he awoke his companion and asked for water. While obtaining it she heard a sound, turned her head, and found him gasping in death. In a few moments our brother's spirit was on its way to paradise.

*4. SENEY MARTIN was born in Killeshandra, County Cavan, Ireland, Sept. 2, 1839, and died in Hillsborough, Tenn., Jan. 1, 1876, in the thirty-seventh year of his age. During the revival of 1859, when twenty years of age, he gave his heart to God, and experienced the power of converting grace. His conversion was clear and positive, the "Spirit bearing witness with his spirit that he was a child of God." He immediately joined the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and as most of the family were in her Majesty's service, and more or less identified with the Protestant Episcopal Church, this step caused unpleasant feelings toward him by some of his near relatives; but, true to his convictions of duty, he witnessed a good confession amid these trying circumstances. At the age of twenty-one he was licensed as a local preacher, and soon after joined the Irish constabulary, and remained in that service until he came to America, six years and a half afterward. In this position he proved himself to be not only a loyal subject and faithful servant of his Government, but also to the King of kings, preaching weekly for fifteen months of the time to the same congregation without missing a single Sabbath, and receiving no compensation for his services.

As a true and faithful soldier of our Lord Jesus Christ he hung his sword upon the altar, entered the pulpit from Sabbath to Sabbath clad in her Majesty's uniform, and, with burning, earnest words, strove to enlist as many as he could in the service of the Captain of his salvation, exhorting them to be wholly clad in the panoply of God. In the spring of 1867 he came to this country with the intention of making it his future home, and devoting his life exclusively to the work of the ministry. Soon after his arrival he met the Rev. William Goss, then presiding elder of the Prattsville District, in whom he found a warm friend, and by whom he was employed in September of the same year as a supply on the Ashland Circuit. The month following he was married to Miss Carrie Mead, of Greenville, in whom he found a devoted wife, an excellent companion, and a true helpmeet. In 1868–69 he served as a supply on the Livingstonville Circuit. In 1870 he joined the New York Conference on trial, and was appointed to the Bloomville Circuit, where he remained the next year. In 1872 he was received into full membership in the Conference and ordained deacon, and sent to East Jewett, and returned there in 1873. His excessive labors on this circuit began to tell very seriously on his health before the close of the second year. The Society there are greatly indebted to him, under God, not only for much spiritual prosperity and advancement, but also for the erection of two neat, beautiful churches. At the Conference of 1874 he was ordained elder, and, his health being very much impaired, he was returned supernumerary without work. At the last session of the Conference he was not able to be present, and was granted a superannuated relation.

Soon after Conference he was visited by Rev. A. K. Sanford, who found him rapidly failing. He expressed the gratitude he felt to his brethren of the Conference for so kindly remembering him in his affliction, and his firm, abiding trust in Christ, and calm resignation to his will. He finally decided to seek a change of climate, having been so advised by his physician many months before, and in September last started with his wife and two children for her brother's residence in Tennessee, in the hope of being benefited by the change. In a letter received from him a few days after his arrival there he says, "I stood the journey much better than I expected, but am coughing very much; do not know yet what the change will do for me, but am sometimes afraid that I waited too long before leaving the North; but I leave all in the hands of God, knowing he doeth all things well." In another letter he says, "Dear brother, as you go round the district will you remember me kindly to my brethren in the ministry, who, I believe, are praying for me? Tell them that I feel all is well in any event, as death is one of the things that does not separate us from Christ Jesus." He then adds a sentence which was so characteristic of the man that I cannot refrain from quoting it: "The doctor here," he says, "as well as the doctor home, recommends the use of stimulants; but O, when I see and hear how much they are used, and their terrible effects, I say, 'Lord, if you want me you must cure me without rum.' The cork remains in the bottle, and I hope, by the grace of God, it will stay there. Thank God for the temperance ring in Northern Methodism!"

As he feared, the change brought no permanent relief, and he soon abandoned all expectation of recovery; but his Christian patience did not fail him, nor his faith. In the hour of his acutest bodily sufferings he would utter such expressions as these: "God is very kind to me. O what a precious Saviour I have, and how glad I am that I sought him while young and in health; for how could I do it now when my poor body is so racked with pain! If my life was spared how much nearer I would live to Christ, and how much more earnestly I would preach him, though I have always tried to preach the truth." His mind remained unclouded to the last, and, though the thought of leaving his beloved wife and two helpless little ones caused him a very severe struggle, yet an hour before his departure, on being asked by his companion how he felt, he sweetly smiled, and said, "It is all right, Carrie; I have gained the victory. Precious Saviour! precious Saviour!" and with these dear words lingering upon his lips his freed spirit took its flight to that land where ties are never broken, where death never enters, and where the inhabitants never say, "I am sick," commending his loved ones to the care of Him who is "a father of the fatherless and a judge of the widows."

Brother Martin, though not a man of the school, yet his early educational advantages were good, and his acquirements fair. His sermons were plain, practical, impressive, and often powerful, interspersed with frequent and correct quotations from Scripture, and accompanied with an earnestness of manner and delivery which secured the attention, and carried conviction to the hearts, of his hearers. In his different appointments he won many souls to Christ, thus giving full proof of his ministry, and evincing the characteristics of true wisdom, for "he that winneth souls is wise."

Charles P. Cowper, Stephen J. Stebbins, Mansfield French—3.

1. CHARLES PHILIP COWPER was born in Baden, Germany, April 8, 1851. When four years of age he came with his parents to the United States. In 1860 he was brought to the mission Sunday-school, located in Avenue A, near Tenth-street. Mr. Wm. K. Peyton, superintendent of the school, became greatly interested in young Cowper, and at the death of the boy's father, in January, 1861, he took Charles into his business, and henceforth became his patron, personally interesting himself in his welfare, temporal and spiritual. In August, 1864, while still a member of the mission school, he became the subject of the converting grace of God. He immediately engaged in Christian work. It was not long before he was called to assist in establishing the first mission for colored people, under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the city of New York, the mission which has since developed into the Attorney-street M. E. Church. To this work he gave himself with a zeal that was truly remarkable, and a self-denial rarely excelled and but seldom equaled. He served in connection with the Church and school as secretary, treasurer, teacher, superintendent, and class-leader, and in other and various ways was instrumental in benefiting the people. When engaged in this work he felt a strong conviction that it was his duty to engage in the work of the Christian ministry. Disclosing his thoughts and feelings on the subject to a friend, the way soon opened for him to have his expenses paid while pursuing a course of study at the Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, Mass. He entered his student-life with an application to study that made manifest the ardency of his piety, and the fullness of his consecration to the work he had espoused. During his stay at the academy, a period of three years, he preached almost every Sabbath.

He was received on trial in the New York East Conference in April, 1873, and was appointed to Bellport and Brookhaven. Here his labors were abundant, and successful in the conversion of sinners from the error of their ways. During this, the first year of his ministry, he projected and carried forward to completion (in connection with the Society at Bellport, N. Y.) a church edifice, which may now very properly be regarded as monumental of his earnest endeavor to have Methodism more prominently represented in the place. At the Conference of 1874 he was appointed to Westchester and West Farms. Here, as before, his zeal knew no abatement. He gave himself to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine, aspiring to become an able minister of the New Testament, and his profiting appeared unto all. On the 30th of December, 1874, he was married to Miss Phebe Furhman. At the Conference of 1875 he was admitted into full connection and ordained deacon, and was appointed to Westchester, West Farms, and Bronxdale. It was here, in the midst of his usefulness, after a short but severe illness, that he was removed by death and called to his reward. His sickness was occasioned by sun-stroke, received while attending to his pastoral duties. Much of the time, after the fatal stroke, he lay in a state of unconsciousness; but when conscious, his mind was still upon his work and the interests of the people committed to his charge. His last intelligible words were, "I am going home." He died in Westchester, July 11, 1875, in the twenty-fifth year of his age.

Brother Cowper was a young man of considerable promise, sweet in spirit, unassuming in manners, and irreproachable in conduct. With his amiable simplicity of nature there was combined marked strength of mind and character, fortitude and energy. He died young; but, considering that his entire regenerate life was consecrated to the work of God and humanity, and filled up with usefulness, it was no failure. He fought a good fight, and now, through Jesus, wears the crown of life promised to the faithful.

2. Stephen J. Stebbins was born in South Salem, Westchester County, N. Y., in the year 1808. Around the home of his childhood the Presbyterian Church threw its saving influence. A Christian mother, a member of that Church, guided his early life and gave it direction, planting and developing in her son those principles which were the foundation of the man. He was led to seek the salvation of his soul by faith in Jesus at about the age of twenty years, through the preaching of Elijah Woolsey, at a meeting held in New Canaan. After deep conviction of sin, at a sunrise prayer-meeting on May 10, he found peace with God, and entered into the new life of the Christian. His conversion was clear, and he had the witness of the Spirit, and knew his sins forgiven. He grew in Christian experience—in favor with God and the Church. He began to labor for souls, and the Church saw in him the elements which gave promise of a good minister of the Lord Jesus, and gave the young man an exhorter's license, and in 1836 licensed him as a local preacher. He labored successfully in that relation, and the Lord gave seals to his ministry. In 1839, about eleven years after his conversion, he entered the itinerant ministry in the New York Conference. His first appointment was to Stamford, Conn. He served in the Gospel in Stepney, Falls Village, Cortland Circuit, Pawlings, Fishkill, and at the earnest desire of Bishop Janes he still remained in the New York Conference, and was re-appointed to Falls Village to meet special needs in that charge. He was then transferred to the New York East Conference and appointed to Stepney again, Fair Haven, Southbury, New Milford, Essex, Bristol, Easton, and thence with failing health to Naugatuck in 1867, where he ended his regular labors. He removed to Bethel, Connecticut, to work for the Master as best he might and wait for his departure. In these several charges he did good and abiding work, gathering into the Church and building up in the faith men who, as at Stepney, are now pillars in the house of the Lord. His work in the Lord abides. Of those whom he led to Christ who have been called of God to preach the Gospel, there are ten members of this Conference in the regular work, and he leaves also a son, Rev. William H. Stebbins, to continue in the work from which his father has gone to his reward. At Bethel, as the advance of a complication of diseases made his life a continual bearing of pain, and breathing difficult, his faith in God did not fail, nor did he lose the consolation of the Holy Spirit. He talked calmly of his dying because he read his title clear. He died in peace Feb. 3, 1876.

Brother Stebbins was of good personal appearance, a man of dignity of manners, of correct thought, and of firm decision, and so naturally exerted a controlling influence among men. As a theologian, he knew the truth and loved it. He was a good preacher, a strong man, and at times rose into passages of grand eloquence. His ministry meant earnest and constant work for God and souls, and this work was not in vain in the Lord. He loved the discipline and usages of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and gave no countenance to what he esteemed erratic measures or unsound doctrines. A systematic man, he delighted in order, and to do things at the right time and in the right manner.

3. Mansfield French was born in Manchester, Vt., Feb. 10, 1809, and died at Pearsall's, Long Island, N. Y., March 15, 1876. His father was descended from an old New England stock, and was a wealthy farmer, a civil magistrate, an active warden in the Protestant Episcopal Church, and influential in the diocese. Mansfield's youth was spent at home on the farm, in the public schools, and in the academy at Bennington, where he made excellent progress in Latin and mathematics. At this academy he became a communicant in the Church of his parents. Feeling himself called to the Gospel ministry, at the age of twenty he removed to Ohio, and entered the divinity school of Kenyon College. During and after his theological studies, he was for some years an active and successful educator in several academic and collegiate schools, one of which became Marietta College. In 1832 he was married to Miss Austa M. Winchell, who became an earnest co-laborer with him in all the enterprises of his life, and who is now his bereaved widow. Though Mr. French's position and relations in the Protestant Episcopal Church were greatly cherished, he nevertheless found its rigidity and exclusiveness so incompatible with his evangelistic and catholic charity, that in 1845 he withdrew from that communion, joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was received into the North Ohio Conference. Here he became a noted revival pastor, hundreds being converted on his various charges. In 1850 and 1852 he was appointed Agent of the Ohio Wesleyan University, and secured the endowment fund for its biblical department. In 1854 and 1855 he was transferred to Cincinnati Conference, as President of Xenia Female College. In 1856–58 he was Agent of Wilberforce University, which was mainly sustained by his labors. In the fall of 1858 he came to New York as editor and proprietor of a religious monthly, "The Beauty of Holiness," and, in order to give his whole time to this work, he located from the Cincinnati Conference in 1859. At the outbreak of the war his long-cherished antislaveryism, and his previous services to the colored people, made him a providentially prepared instrument for what was to be the crowning work of his life. In December, 1862, under special commission from President Lincoln, he proceeded to Virginia, and then to South Carolina, investigating the condition and wants of the multitudes of refugee blacks, and returned to New York in January, 1863, where he secured the organization of the National Freedmen's Relief Association, which finally became the Freedmen's Bureau of the General Government, and the act of Congress creating which Mr. French originally drafted. He immediately returned to South Carolina, taking with him the first corps of teachers for the freedmen. His original commission was soon changed to that of chaplain in the regular army, on the staff of General Saxton, Military Governor of South Carolina, and his work was the oversight of all the freedmen of the department, with their teachers and interests. In the exercise of this oversight he obtained the Government order for the sale of the abandoned lands to the blacks. He was also among the first to urge upon the Government the expediency of receiving colored men into the army. He held the chaplain's commission for nearly six years, which were constantly occupied in labors for the colored people. After the war he went, under Government orders, through South Carolina and Georgia, holding vast mass meetings for the purpose of "instructing the planters and freedmen in their respective duties under the Emancipation Proclamation." It was at one of these meetings, held at the mansion of General Robert Toombs, that a fine piece of poetical justice was meted out. Toombs had defiantly boasted, on the floor of the United States Senate, that "he would soon call the roll of his slaves in the shadow of Bunker Hill monument." Mr. French called the roll of those same slaves at their former master's own door, and read to the wondering crowd of blacks and whites the Emancipation Proclamation. During his work in the South, in 1869, our South Carolina Conference was organized, when Mr. French joined it, thus re-entering the traveling ministry. After the restoration of civil government in South Carolina, Mr. French, feeling that his special work among the freedmen was accomplished, resigned his army commission and returned to the North, where, in 1872, he was received by transfer into this Conference. In 1871 and 1872 he was pastor at Newtown, L. I., and in 1873–76 at Pearsall's, where his last work on earth was done. In both these charges he was very successful in the conversion of souls and in the general edification of the Churches.

As a Christian, Brother French was a man of decided convictions, and of deep religious experience. As a preacher he was able, direct, evangelical, highly scriptural, and fearless in denouncing sin, whether in high or low places; yet his ministry was rich in the fullness of love, and his fruitful revival labors were in great demand among his ministerial brethren, several engagements with whom he had on hand when he died. His vigor of mind and body were unbroken, and his ministry was increasingly effective to the last. His last sickness was brief, but severe, and his death was radiant with immortal hope.

Benjamin I. Diefendorf, Reuben Reynolds, Nathaniel Salisbury, William W. Rundell—4.

1. BENJAMIN I. DIEFENDORF was born in Frey's Bush, near Fort Plain, Montgomery County, N.Y., in the year 1809, and died Oct. 19, 1875, aged sixty-six years. He was converted when but six years of age. Being early impressed that his usefulness would be proportionate to his knowledge, he sought education as a hidden treasure; prepared for college at Cazenovia, and graduated from Middletown in 1833. In 1835 he was united in marriage to Catharine Bauder. He spent seventeen years in teaching in Wesleyan University, Dudley Academy, Mexico Academy, and Fort Plain Seminary and Female Collegiate Institute, and about eighteen years in the active ministry within the bounds of the Black River Conference, which he joined in 1837. His fields of labor were Jordan, East Creek, Rome District, Oriskany Falls, Syracuse, First Ward; Vienna twice, Watertown, Arsenal-street; Herkimer twice. He was uniformly kind and exemplary, and faithful in the ministry of the word. His last sickness began in December, 1874. His sufferings were great, but were borne in patience and hope. "He rests from his labors."

2. REUBEN REYNOLDS was born in Wapping, Conn., July 25, 1791, and died in Brooklyn, Jan. 24, 1876, aged eighty-four years. He was convicted of sin at thirteen years of age while reading the New Testament in common school, and was converted and united with the Presbyterian Church. Hearing Methodist preaching and making himself acquainted with its doctrines and Discipline, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1808. In 1814 he was licensed as a local preacher. Removing to Norwich, Chenango County, N.Y., still laboring as a local preacher he raised up a Society of more than a hundred members. Among the number who, during these years, were converted under his ministry is Jesse T. Peck, now a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

From 1832 to 1836 he traveled under the direction of the presiding elder. In 1836 he was admitted on trial in the Black River Conference, and continued a member thereof until his death. He was in the effective ranks thirty-three years, serving during that time sixteen different charges, and for two years acted as agent for Gouverneur Wesleyan Seminary. In 1869 he took a superannuated relation, and so continued till his death.

Father Reynolds was a man of a cheerful, even, and singularly child-like character. He was a very successful winner of souls, and one year having asked the Lord to give him four hundred souls, just four hundred were converted that year. A close student, he preserved his habits of study to the close of his life. His life is replete with lessons which speak in no mistakable terms of the great value and power of a life hid with Christ in God.

3. NATHANIEL SALISBURY was born in Vermont in 1794, was converted in Scipio, Tompkins County, N. Y., at the age of twenty-five, and died in Rome, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1876. He was admitted on trial in the Genesee Conference in 1822, received into full connection and ordained deacon in 1824, and ordained elder in 1826. He was employed on circuits eleven years, on stations seventeen years, and on districts as presiding elder fifteen years, and was on the superannnated list eleven years. He was once, in 1832, a member of the General Conference from the Oneida Conference. He was a man of fine preaching abilities, a safe counselor, and was greatly beloved and respected by the people. Throughout his long and active life he maintained an unsullied reputation as a Christian and minister; and in the day of final reckoning hundreds will rise up and call him blessed.

4. W. W. RUNDELL was born in Norwich, Chenango County, N.Y., April 3, 1794, and died in Mexico, Oswego County, N. Y., March 28, 1876, aged eighty-two years. Converted when twenty-one years of age, he joined the Genesee Conference in 1818, and was a member of Northern New York Conference when he died. He traveled in the itinerant ranks thirty years, and was superannuated twenty-seven.

Brother Rundell began his work as a minister in Canada, where he was respected and his name is mentioned to this day with great respect. He was a truly devoted Christian minister and maintained his integrity to the last. He died trusting in Jesus. Calm and peaceful he passed to his rest above.

QUEST. 16. What is the Statistical Report?

None.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

William R. Stone, L. Boydon, J. Cadwell, T. B. Treadwell—4.

1. WILLIAM RODMAN STONE was born in Portsmouth, N. H., July 25, 1798. In childhood he removed with his parents to Boston, and in the public schools of that city received his preliminary education. In his twenty-second year he experienced the saving grace of God, and immediately united with the then recently organized North End Methodist Episcopal Church. Some two years later he received an exhorter's license, and soon after that of local preacher. In June, 1825, he joined the New England Conference on probation, and received an appointment to Pembroke, N. H. From his first connection with the Conference he received and filled appointments in the regular pastoral work until 1854, when he was appointed as city missionary in Cambridge. Two years after, the chaplaincy of the Middlesex County House of Correction was added to his labors as city missionary. In these fields of labor, for the duties of which he and his most excellent and devoted companion were pre-eminently qualified, he continued to labor until the infirmities of age confined him to his home; and even then his thoughts and his prayers were with and for the poor and the outcast.

Brother Stone was pre-eminently a sincere, devoted, and consistent Christian, clear in his convictions, rich in his experiences, and faithful in the discharge of every duty. As a minister he was devoted to and useful in his work. He won his successes not by brilliancy of talent, but by earnest, persistent, and loving effort. Especially during the last years of his labors, as he was called to mingle with the poor, the suffering, and the criminal, his warm and ready sympathies won for him the endearing title of Father Stone. In his social and domestic relations he exhibited those qualities of Christian character that won him the confidence and affection of all who met him in those circles of life. Father Stone completed his course June 27, 1875, in the city of Cambridge, within a mile of the spot, and within a day or two of fifty years from the time of his starting upon his ministerial career. He had passed around that half century circuit, meeting promptly every appointment, and discharging his duties with fidelity and usefulness, until the Master said, "It is enough; pass to thy reward." As in life he had ever been obedient, so he passed calmly and sweetly to his rest.

2. LUMAN BOYDEN was born Nov. 12, 1805. He was converted in Milbury, Mass., in 1830, and about three years later united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Walpole, Mass., where he received license to preach. He united with the New England Conference in 1836, and was appointed as follows: Marlborough, Lunenburgh, Sudbury, Oxford, Dorchester, Chelsea, Fitchburgh, Holliston, Spencer and Brookfield, Rosebury, Salem, Waltham, and in 1855 to the mission work in East Boston. In 1857 he received a supernumerary relation, and continued in this relation and in that of the superannuated till the close of life. For several years after he received the supernumerary relation he continued his connection with the mission in East Boston, and labored as his health and strength would permit. In his labors here he was very useful.

Brother Boyden possessed a deep, uniform piety. It may be safely said that he loved God with all his heart. Humility, honesty, purity, sincerity, earnest devotion to Christ's cause, and an all-controlling purpose to do the will of God, was seen in all of his acts. He was emphatically a peace-maker, and in all his intercourse with men he was eminently social, charitable, and benevolent. In his domestic relations he was kind, loving, and exemplary. As a husband and father he discharged the duties of those relations with great fidelity. As a preacher, he was true, earnest, and faithful. His sermons were well and carefully prepared, and delivered in an ardent, impressive manner. He was a good minister of Jesus Christ, rightly dividing the word of truth, giving to each a portion in due season. As a pastor, he greatly excelled. His social, ready address, and warm, sympathizing nature, eminently fitted him for this important work. His visits to the families of his charge were welcomed with delight. The afflicted, sorrowing, and all in trouble, found in him a true, sympathizing friend. He was successful in all departments of his ministerial work. In nearly, if not in all, of his appointments he witnessed revivals of religion, and was always successful in bringing up the Church financially and spiritually. He was an honored and beloved member of the Conference, always present at our annual gatherings with his warm, hearty greetings. He has left us a noble example of ministerial fidelity, success, and triumph.

He died in great peace March 9, 1876. He was ready to depart. He felt that his work was done, and that a crown of glory awaited him in the heavenly world. May his afflicted widow and daughter find abundant consolation in trusting in that God whose grace so richly sustained the husband and father during his long, successful life!

3. JOHN CADWELL was born in Westfield, Mass., Aug. 11, 1805, and died in Springfield, Jan. 8, 1867. In his twenty-fourth year, after pungent conviction of a few weeks, he found peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ in a prayer-meeting. He emerged at once into the clear light of the divine favor, and rejoiced in hope of eternal life. So great was his love to the Saviour and sympathy for the perishing that he felt strongly impelled to seek to persuade others to become reconciled to God. Yielding to ardent impulses of this new affection, he, in company with another young convert, commenced meetings in an adjoining town, where in a few weeks some thirty persons were led to the Saviour of lost men. He was soon appointed class leader, which office he held for about two years. As he felt himself divinely called to the work of the Christian ministry, he received an appointment in 1834 from Rev. O. Scott, presiding elder, to Glastenbury Circuit, Conn., in connection with that man of God, Rev. James

Shepard. The next year he served the East Windsor Circuit with Rev. P. T. Kenny. In 1836 he was received on probation by the New England Conference, in connection with which he served the following charges: Stafford Circuit, Conn.; Bozrahville, Conn.; Ashfield, Mass.; Pelham, Feeding Hills and Southwick, Savoy, Three Rivers, Colerain, West Springfield, Weston, Saxonville, Southbridge, Princeton, Chester Factories, Feeding Hills, Southwick, Westfield, West Parish; Pelham, Bondsville, South Deerfield, Charlemont, Buckland, Bernardston, and in 1875 to East Longmeadow. In some of these places there were extensive and precious revivals in connection with his ministry, and in nearly all of them more or less fruit was gathered for the Lord of the harvest. It would not be claimed for Brother Cadwell that he was especially brilliant, that he possessed marked ability for preaching sermons, or that his attainments as a scholar were extensive; but he was a good man. The successes that attended his ministry of more than forty years demonstrated that he was a vessel chosen by the Lord of all, and that the divine Head of the Church was with him in his labors.

It is worthy of mention that with advanced years our beloved brother did not decline in the freshness and vigor of his ministry. The ministry of his later years was characterized with as much vivacity and effectiveness as any part of his life. He continued his work with his usual fidelity until Saturday evening, Jan. 8, when he went to Springfield to attend the silver wedding of some old friends. Soon after his arrival and when but few were present, after pleasant and cordial greetings with his friends, without any premonitory symptoms, he raised his hands, and, without uttering a word, expired. "He was not, for God took him."

4. THOMAS B. TREADWELL was born Nov. 1, 1824, in Reading, Conn., and died Oct. 13, 1875, in Wales, Mass. He experienced religion at the age of eighteen, and soon after joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in his native place. His family were very decided Episcopalians, and with persistency opposed his connection with the Church of his choice; but it was all of no avail, for the songs and prayers and spiritual exercises of the class-meetings and love-feasts, and other social services of the Methodist people, found a sympathetic response in his young heart; and though at the sacrifice of many earthly friendships, still he remained to the day of his death a most devoted adherent of the Methodist Church.

He graduated at Wesleyan University in the class of '51, and afterward studied in the Biblical Institute at Concord, N. H. He joined the New England Conference in 1853, and from that time continued constantly in the work of the Christian ministry, "ceasing at once to work and live." Soon after uniting with the Conference he married Miss Maria H. Atwell, of Lynn, a lady of culture and a very devoted Christian, with whom he spent two years of happy wedded life, when she passed away to heaven. In April, 1857, he married Miss Carrie M. Baker, (the daughter of Rev. Charles Baker,) a most intelligent and faithful Christian woman, who survives him.

Brother Treadwell had known many afflictions, for four of the five lovely children God had given him had early gone to the better land; and this, with the gradual approach of the disease of which he died, sometimes induced seasons of depression; but his unwavering confidence in God enabled him always to triumph, and it was ever his experience to come out of the furnace with heart more aglow with spiritual fervor, and his soul more eager for the work of the Master. Though his fields of labor were not the most prominent, yet he ever obeyed the voice of the Church, and with a spirit of genuine heroism labored with joy and hope where others of less noble natures would have repined.

The last few weeks preceding his death were weeks of great comfort to him, because of the indications of a gracious revival manifest in his charge. The Church was quickened and sinners were converted; and as the work went on he denied himself necessary rest that he might help those who were seeking the Saviour, his own soul meantime seeming to hold constant and blissful communion with the heavenly and invisible. Only the night but one before his death, in his dreams, he saw the Saviour and the sainted ones, and was so enraptured with the vision that he woke, shouting with joy and gladness. God was preparing him for his translation.

His death was sudden and unexpected. It was the examination day of the school where his only child, a little girl of nine, attended, and she was to take part in the exercises. He was not able to go with her, as she desired, and so her mother went, bidding the husband and father a cheerful "good-bye," as they passed out of their home, to return in two short hours to find the loved one silent in death, gone to his eternal rest and reward. A neighbor and the physician living opposite were providentially present, and ministered to his needs in the absence of his family.

Brother Treadwell was a good and true man, and gave himself and all he had to the work of the ministry and the cause of Christ. He labored with zeal and earnestness in the vineyard, manfully enduring the heat and the burden and meeting with a good degree of success. His record is on high, and his ransomed spirit rejoices in the presence of his risen and glorified Lord.

1. RICHARD DONKERSLEY was born in Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England. He was converted on the Huddersfield Circuit in 1836, and immediately identified himself with the Wesleyan Methodist Connection. For several years he was an acceptable local preacher in that body. On May 21, 1842, he was married to Miss Mary A. Dysen, of Almondsbury, Yorkshire, and immediately sailed for America. On his arrival in this country he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. His gifts and graces being marked, he was encouraged to devote himself entirely to the work of the Christian ministry. Believing that the will of God was indicated by these encouragements, he began at once to prepare himself for the work. After supplying the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. Caleb D. Rogers, at Wapping, Conn., he was appointed by the presiding elder to Bolton Corner in 1843, at the close of which he was received on trial by the Providence Conference and returned to Bolton in 1844. His subsequent appointments were as follows: South Coventry and Andover, North Dighton, Little Compton, North Providence, superannuated two years, North Fairhaven, (now Acushnet,) Tract Agent for Providence Conference, Scituate, Mass.; East Greenwich, R. I.; Cumberland, Baltic, Portland, Conn.; Thompsonville. In 1868 he took a supernumerary relation, removed to the West, and settled in Rockford, Ill., and labored for several years with acceptance and usefulness under the presiding elders.

Brother Donkersley was a good preacher, a sound theologian, and a careful and systematic student. His industry was indomitable, and whatever in his field of reading he thought could be made subservient to the instruction and salvation of the people was seized upon and treasured for future use. He was an easy and graceful writer, and as correspondent for the press was racy, and sometimes brilliant. He loved to write; it was to him recreation and work. Several of the issues of the Book Concern were from his pen; among them, "Facts About Wives and Mothers" and the "Full Envelope" may be mentioned as instances.

For several months before his death the health of Brother Donkersley became poor, leaving but little hope of his ever resuming his loved work, and sooner than was expected, surrounded by his children, at the house of his youngest daughter, he passed to the rest that remaineth for the faithful at Elizabeth, Ill., Nov. 30, 1875, aged fifty-nine years. Thus, one after another of our number are leaving the ranks of toil to join in the triumphs of the ranks above.

* Obituary not received.

2. William Livesey was born March 8, 1802, in West Bradford, Yorkshire, England, was baptized in infancy at Waddington Church, trained to the trade of a cabinet-maker, converted in 1822, and admitted to the Wesleyan Church. He began his public career in 1825 as a licensed exhorter, and in 1826 received a license as a local preacher. He was recommended to the Wesleyan Conference in May, 1829, for appointment as a foreign missionary; but seeing no prospect of a speedy appointment, he embarked for America, landing in New York Oct. 30 of that year. He spent two months in mechanical labor and preaching at Taunton, Mass. He next supplied a vacancy at Portsmouth, R. I., from January to June, 1830, when he was received on trial in the New England Conference. Forty-five years in succession he received an appointment, except four, (1843–1846,) when, on account of illness, he held a superannuated relation. In 1842 he was presiding elder of New London District. Two years he was agent for the Conference Seminary, and one year for the freedmen. With these exceptions he has been exclusively devoted to the pastoral work, and almost entirely within the limits of Providence Conference, of which he became a member at its organization in 1840.

At the Conference of 1875, though feeble, he insisted on taking work, and was stationed at South Britain; but he could not minister to his flock, and after vainly hoping for a return of health, he at length yielded to disease, withdrew to his quiet cottage at Martha's Vineyard, and laid himself down to die, as the sequel proved. But he was ready. The consolations of divine grace to him were neither few nor small. He often gave expression to his sober reflections on a careful review of his life, and the final estimate of his confidence and hopes, and seemed to have a painful sense of his deficiencies, but said, "I rest my soul on Christ's blood and God's promise, and on this basis I must risk eternity. If I fail the universe must fail." On Sunday, August 22, a few ministers and other friends, at his request, held a communion service at his cottage, which was an occasion of much comfort to him, and of which he said, "I never made preparation for the communion more thoroughly, more sincerely, more believingly," and after speaking somewhat at length of his personal feelings, he quoted:—

"Nothing on earth do I desire,
But thy pure love within my breast;
This, only this, will I require,
And freely give up all the rest."

He kept his old Wesleyan hymn book near at hand as long as he could read, and many of his expressions of thought and feeling were quotations from that cherished volume. On the morning of the day of his death he repeated the Twenty-third Psalm, and almost his last words were, "There is rest in Jesus." Thus he triumphed over the latest foe, and sank to repose on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 2, 1875, in the seventy-fourth year of his age.

Brother Livesey was twice married: first, in 1832, to Miss Sarah Crosby Johnson, of Thompson, Conn., who, with their only daughter, preceded him to the better land; second, to Miss Ann Eliza Adams, of Luzerne, N. Y., who, with an only son, survives him.

Brother Livesey was a man possessing many remarkable characteristics. His tall and well-knit frame attracted notice in any assembly, while his readiness in debate, his accurate and forcible statements and rugged phrases, always compelled attention. Educational opportunities were limited at the beginning of his career, but by diligent study he became well versed in Christian doctrine and ecclesiastical polity. His theology was purely Wesleyan. It was inwrought in his very being—the mental and spiritual food on which he fed from his infancy, and he loved it with intense ardor. His religious experience was deep and clear—a living fact rather than a theory. He was a man of singular transparency as well as purity of character. All shams, injustice, and wrong were his abhorrence, and hence he was always found on the side of the weak, wronged, and defenseless. As a preacher his expositions of Scripture were always clear, and his word was often attended with great power in the conviction and conversion of men. In most of his fields of labor he witnessed revivals, and in several of them the converts were very numerous.

The antislavery movement was just beginning to agitate the public mind when Brother Livesey became an American citizen, and he was led by every impulse of his nature to array himself at once on the then unpopular side in that controversy, and thenceforth he stood in the thick of the battle, employing his wonderful talents of argument and denunciation, until he saw the triumph of the cause which he espoused so early and advocated so persistently. The cause of Christian education also shared in his regard and labor. From the purchase and establishment of Providence Conference Seminary he was one of its firmest friends and most active and vigilant trustees, performing hard service and making personal sacrifices, acting as solicitor for its funds, and for a series of years as president of the board. When the University at Middletown was at the point of financial ruin, in 1844, Brother Livesey's sagacity d vised the method by which, as Dr Olin said, "that Conference save the institution from disaster."

His brethren had confidence in him, and made him their delegate to the Evangelical Alliance in London in 1846. He also served in the General Conference of 1856 during a part of the session as reserve delegate.

In every department of a minister's work his life was one of earnest toil until its close: in preaching, in pastoral care, in temperance and antislavery, in care for schools, in aid of the freedmen; filling his days with useful activity. He vigilantly guarded the interests of his Church and Conference, favoring what he deemed was for their good, and resisting whatever seemed to portend ill.

3. Charles S. Macreading was born in Mansfield, Mass., Oct. 8, 1834. His conversion took place while a student at Wilbraham Academy. He received license as a local preacher at Middletown, Conn., while pursuing his collegiate course. He joined the New England Conference in 1860, and was stationed at Breakfield. On the breaking out of the war he entered the naval service of the United States, and when discharged with honor occupied the position of master's mate. He entered the Providence Conference in 1865, and filled in succession the following place: Nantucket, Provincetown, Center Church; Providence, Power-street; New London, Willimantic, Wellfleet, Middleborough, when, in 1875, he closed his labors with his life, aged forty-two.

Brother Macreading was an acceptable and useful minister, social in his nature, and possessing great aptitude for pastoral work, he was beloved wherever known. He was a devoted husband, a loving father, a faithful and useful Christian minister. He leaves a wife and two little daughters to mourn in loneliness his early departure. They may find it harder to live now that he is gone, but it will be easier for them to die. Faith looks forward to the reunions of heaven. May we all meet and greet each other there, and realize the fulfillment of our hopes in bliss everlasting!

4. Philip Crandon was born in Rochester, Mass., Jan. 4, 1810. He was born of the Spirit, and received Christian baptism in the town of his natural birth in the year 1823, when about thirteen years of age. The following year he was admitted into full connection in the Methodist Episcopal Church in the same place. In 1834 he was licensed first as an exhorter, then as a local preacher, and was at once employed by the presiding elder to supply Chil-mark. The following year, 1835, he was received on trial in the New England Conference and stationed at Monument. His next appointment was Little Compton, where he was married, in 1830, to Miss Harriet P. Sisson, who for thirty-six years has been a most congenial and worthy companion and helpmeet, and now, with one son, survives to mourn his sudden decease. From this time he was stationed in the following places successively: Orleans, North Rochester, Walpole, Stoughton, Little Compton, North Rochester and Middleborough, Stoughton, Phenix, Woonsocket, Wareham, North Fairhaven, Steep Brook, Long Plain, Steep Brook, South Dartmouth, Westport Point, East Mansfield, Marston's Mills, North Cohasset, Cohasset, Pembroke, North Church, Fall River; West Sandwich, South Middleborough, where he gloriously fell, sword in hand, with his face to the foe and a shout of triumph on his lips.

Brother Crandon was a good man, and a faithful minister of Jesus Christ. With a rare modesty which was most happily blended with a contented mind, he was well qualified to supply the wants of a class of appointments which are not regarded as desirable by all our preachers, and he gladly labored in those appointments with the same zest and interest which others exhibit in more popular fields. Nor did he labor in vain, for often the desert was made to blossom and bear fruit under his careful and conscientious culture, so that many souls have been garnered as the fruits of his godly toils and tears. His preaching was plain, earnest, scriptural. As a pastor he was faithful, diligent, and sympathizing. He had often passed through the turbid waters of domestic affliction, and well knew how to sympathize with and counsel the bereaved and sorrowing.

His Christian experience was clear and sound, and often approached the ecstatic. His love of souls was with him a passion which fired and kept his soul aflame, and to the end shaped all his plans. He died in the midst of a glorious revival — pneumonia, induced by exposure and severe labors, hastening his decease. His last words were, "Glory to God?"

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?
F. H. Graham, Perry A. Simmons—2.

1. F. H. GRAHAM was born in Baltimore County, Md., Oct. 4, 1817, was converted in Belmont County Ohio, in 1837, and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to exhort in 1841, and to preach in 1849. His labors as a local preacher were quite successful. While he sustained this relation to the Church he wrote a number of articles to the "Pittsburgh Advocate" upon the subject of a national local preachers' association, which led to the organization of that body. In May, 1865, he moved to Harrison County, Mo., and was engaged as a supply on the Lindley Circuit. In March, 1866, he joined the Missouri and Arkansas Conference, and served successively Princeton, St. John, Bethany, Mount Moriah, Oregon, Rockport, Fillmore, and Macon District, on which he labored until June 21, 1875, when he was prostrated by hemorrhage of the lungs, at Laclede, Mo. Here he held his last Quarterly Conference, and preached his last sermon. After a few days' rest he returned home to his family in Macon City. He suffered much, being frequently paralyzed; yet at times he had hopes of a restoration to health, until Sunday, July 18, he was suddenly seized with acute pains, causing him to exclaim, "This will kill me; I cannot endure it long; Lord Jesus, come quickly." This attack was followed by a malignant typhoid, which hurried him to the grave. He died July 25, 1875.

All who knew Brother Graham recognized in him the beautiful character of an honest man, a devoted and deeply pious Christian, who would sacrifice life itself rather than neglect a duty. Everybody loved him. But what is better still, he loved God and kept his commandments, and therefore has entered "through the gates into the city," to rest, to go out no more forever, but to praise that Redeemer whom he served for thirty-eight years.

2. P. A. SIMMONS died near Lancaster, Schuyler County, Mo., Oct. 3, 1876. He was born in Macon County, Tenn., Dec. 1, 1833, was converted at the age of fifteen, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He was licensed as an exhorter and local preacher in 1854. In 1855 he married Miss Martha Woodcock, who still survives. They removed to Missouri in 1861 and settled in Schuyler County, joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1863, and amid storms and difficulties peculiar to the times were steadfast and immovable in their devotion to its interests. In 1868 Brother Simmons united with the Missouri Conference and was appointed to the Kirksville Circuit, which he served with great acceptability for two years. He was ordained deacon in 1870, admitted to full connection in the Conference, and, his health having failed, he was superannuated two years, one year of which time he supplied the Queen City Circuit, at the expiration of which he was located, at his own request. He was readmitted in 1875, and appointed to the Sandhill Circuit in Kirksville District. During the brief period which intervened between the last session of the Conference and his death he applied himself vigorously to the great work of persuading men to be saved, and God honored his efforts in the quickening of believers and the salvation of souls. His last illness was brief, and when the final summons came he was fully resigned to the will of our heavenly Father and quietly went to his reward.

N. Ladd,* M. Newhall, N. L. Chase—3.

1. Matthew Newhall was born in Claremont, N. H., Dec. 3, 1798, and died in Greenland, May 4, 1875, aged seventy-six years. His parents joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Lynn, Mass., soon after its formation by Rev. Jesse Lee, and continued faithful and devoted members more than sixty years, both living to be over ninety years of age. The result was that Matthew became a most thorough Methodist in theory and practice, with no qualifying misgivings or reservations whatever. His grandparents, he tells us, his parents, his brother and sister, himself, and the children of each family who have been or are now members of the Church, were all baptized in infancy, and have never desired to be rebaptized.

Brother Newhall was converted at Weathersfield, Vt., in 1822; was received into the Church in 1822; was licensed to exhort in 1824, and to preach in 1825, and was received as Conference probationer the same year. His various appointments—and be it understood that they were for the most part circuits in the good old Methodistic sense of that word—were as follow: Deering, Pembroke, Bristol, South New Market, Poplin, Plymouth, Sandwich, Bristol, Springfield, Vt.; superannuated one year, Manchester, Salem, Greenland, Epping, Hudson, Mass.; Claremont, Newport, Cornish, North Charlestown, Hampton, South Newmarket. From 1854 he was superannuated, but supplied at various places for some six years, chiefly at West Epping.

Brother Newhall was in feeble health for many years; but whether holding an effective relation or otherwise, he was always ready to serve God and the Church with heart and soul and mind and strength. It will be seen from the foregoing record that for fifty years he was closely connected with the progress of Methodism in New England, and never, it is believed, did he abandon his post or leave a field of labor assigned him without making it better than he found it. He was thrice married, namely, July 2, 1828, at Sanbornton, N. H., to Miss Ruth M. Clark; Sept., 1846, at Plainfield, Vt., to Miss Esther Pitkin; June 5, 1850, to Miss Anna E. Treadwell, who still survives, and whose aim is to follow the departed husband as he followed Christ. One daughter, Ellen P., by his second wife, still lives, a worthy representative of such a father.

* Obituary not received.

It is a pleasure to speak well of the ministerial character and usefulness of our departed brother. Few men have been more beloved than he in the various places where he has preached the word of life. His memory will be precious, and fondly cherished by many who have been won to Christ by the purity of his Christian example and his faithful ministerial labors.

The funeral services were exceedingly impressive. A small sheaf of ripe wheat was laid on the coffin lid, beautifully significant of his ripeness for a blessed immortality. "Servant of God, well done!" Farewell till we meet again.

2. NATHANIEL L. CHASE was born in Unity, N. H., Oct. 30, 1813, and died in Manchester, May 3, 1875. He was converted at Middlesex, Vt., Dec. 24, 1826, and received into the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1827. He was licensed as a local preacher in 1842. The same year he was received on probation in the New Hampshire Conference and appointed to Pittsfield. His subsequent appointments were: Boscawen and Warner, Charlestown Mission, Chesterfield, Lempster, Canaan, Lisbon, South Newmarket, Greenland, Hampton, Raymond, Rye, Candia, Manchester Center, and Auburn, where his health failed, and, as he had lost the sight of one eye and the other was much weakened, he asked and received a superannuated relation, which was continued until his death.

Brother Chase was twice married. First, to Miss Charlotte Atherton, of Middlesex, Vt. His second marriage, in 1859, was to Mrs. Christiana Perkins, widow of Rev. John W. Perkins, who still survives.

Brother Chase was a man of deep and uniform piety. He was universally beloved and respected by his brethren in the ministry, and by the people where he lived and labored. As a minister he was instructive and edifying. He was a close student of the Bible and well informed of all its leading doctrines, and in stating and defending them was a workman that need not be ashamed. His sermons were well studied, and so delivered that the people listened to his ministrations with interest and profit. In revival efforts he was efficient and successful, and won many to the Lord Jesus Christ. His ability to conduct social meetings was excellent. This was especially true of class-meetings. His replies to each were so pertinent and so full of comfort and hope as to make them seasons of great interest and profit. As a pastor he was faithful and useful in a high degree. Indeed, we can hardly say too much in commendation of him as a good and faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ. When his health and sight would not permit him to preach he was so intent upon doing something in the Lord's vineyard that he sought employment in the interest of the New Hampshire Bible Society, and toiled hard and with good success in this department of Christian effort. His death was all that could be desired. It was blessed, for "he died in the Lord." His sickness was short, his mind was clear and peaceful, and his prospects glorious. "The memory of the just is blessed."

M. A. Senter, J. F. Crowl, H. Dunn, B. D. Ames, A. Dixon, C. Chamberlain—6.

1. M. ALVERSON SENTER died Feb. 1, 1876, at the residence of Joseph Hillman, Esq., of Troy, N. Y. He was the son of Riley Senter, of Murphey's, California, and was left while an infant, by the death of Mrs. Senter, to find in Mrs. Hillman a mother, and the relation thus established was one of the most tender affection. When only seven years of age he gave his heart to the Saviour, and ever thereafter maintained a life worthy a disciple of the Lord Jesus. Brother Senter was a young man of far more than ordinary strength of character. He was richly endowed both morally and intellectually, and held his gifts by the right of inheritance. He was a nephew of James Alverson, LL.D., of Genesee College, and grandson of Rev. John B. Alverson of the old Genesee Conference, a man of commanding influence in Western New York. He was an alumnus of Genesee College, having graduated in the spring of 1865. His natural talents and acquired culture fitted him for a position of influence among men. Having at an early age devoted himself to God, he was honored by a call to the Christian ministry. His first field of labor was New Ashford, where he greatly endeared himself to his flock by his characteristic energy and devotion. In the spring of 1867 he united with the Troy Conference, and was appointed to the Third-street Methodist Church in Troy, where he labored for three years with untiring zeal, under embarrassments that would have disheartened a weaker man. In April, 1871, he was sent to South Adams, Mass., where his ministry was honored with wonderful success. Within the short space of three years the membership was more than doubled, a large congregation gathered, and the church edifice extensively repaired and enlarged. In the spring of 1874, with failing strength but unflagging zeal, he entered his last field of labor, Hoosick Falls. Here, as elsewhere, he won the hearts of his people by his tireless energy and Christ-like devotion; and though his strength was unequal to the work, and there was every prospect that his ministry must cease in a few months, they, at the last session of the Conference, urged his re-appointment as pastor for another year.

Sabbath, December 19, was his last day of service on earth. He entered his pulpit and announced as his text that grand utterance of the apostle, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" Appropriate text for a dying minister! Midway in his discourse his strength failed him, and, falling upon his knees, he commended his people to God, and prayed for Divine help to finish his discourse. Rising from his knees, he delivered the remainder of his sermon while sitting in his chair. That same evening he appeared in his pulpit again, and for the last time. Strange to say, he preached for forty minutes without any appearance of weakness or fatigue, but with an unction which made his utterance immortal in the memory of his hearers.

The next day he came to Troy, never to return to his charge. His strength gradually declined till, on the Sunday before his death, it became evident to all his friends that on the next Lord's day he would join in the worship of the temple above. He realized fully his situation, and experienced no shrinking from the inevitable. Intense as were his sufferings at times, he was not known to utter a word of complaint, but rested with perfect trust in the goodness and love of God.

Thus passed the hours in patient endurance until early Tuesday morning, Feb. 1, when a flood of celestial light seemed to burst into the chamber of this man of God. With face aglow and eyes fixed upon the unseen, he cried, "Heaven! Glory, glory, glory! Jesus, Jesus, Jesus! See the angels, all in white!" Again and again he tried to give expression to his rapture in shouts of "Glory! bless the Lord!" And then, after a few moments of heavenly calm, he broke forth in the grand challenge of the apostle, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

And so passed hours of sublime triumph through the all-conquering grace of Jesus. At last the end seemed to have come. All was so very, very still they thought him gone. The mother's soul, nerved by grace to yield her son to God, cried out, "My precious boy! the Lord lent you to me for a little while, and now I give you back to Jesus;" when lo! the eyes they thought were fixed forever turned upon her in grateful recognition of the surrender, and, with one more gentle breath, he was gone.

"Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

2. JOHN F. CROWL died at the parsonage of Schaghticoke Hill and Junction, Sept. 14, 1875, aged fifty-one years. He was born in Salem, N. Y., but, while quite young, his parents moved to the city of Troy. In 1839 he was converted and immediately united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. From that time he remained a devoted Christian, living for years in the atmosphere of "the higher Christian life." Soon after his conversion he manifested a deep and burning anxiety for the salvation of souls. Under the influence of this anxiety he became convinced that God called him to the work of the ministry, and, as he gave evidence of "gifts," grace, and usefulness, (for he had fruit,) he was duly licensed. In 1843 he was admitted on trial in the Troy Conference and appointed to New Lebanon Circuit; thenceforth in every appointment assigned him God honored him in the promotion of glorious revivals of religion. Thinking he could be more useful as an evangelist, he located for that purpose. In this sphere God owned him, as scores in Western Massachusetts and Southern Vermont testify at the present day. In 1868 he again united with the Conference and was appointed to Johnsburgh, where he labored three years, during which that charge was favored with a revival in which large numbers were added to the Church. He then labored for three years on Sanford's Ridge Charge, faithfully and with some success. In 1874 he was appointed to Schaghticoke Hill and Junction, where he labored one year with his usual earnestness and zeal. At the opening of his second year he laid his plans for a campaign for God and souls. But God ordered otherwise; his work was done. After a few weeks of severe suffering, which he endured without a murmur, in holy triumph he passed away from earth to the home of the good.

Brother Crowl was a good preacher, a sweet singer, and one of the few remaining of the old-school powerful exhorters, and mighty in prayer. Few among us have been more successful in winning souls to Christ. His heart seemed constantly burdened for souls, which moved him to tears and labor. He had his hours of depression, when the enemy thrust sore at him; but he always came off victorious, when he was ready to shout over the victory gained. There were times when his brethren thought him a little visionary, controlled too much by impressions; but he was always conscientious, and always true to God. "He never went off into sin." Would that more of the burning zeal for souls which marked his entire Christian life rested on us all!

3. HIRAM DUNN was born in Bakersfield, Vt., Feb. 5, 1812, and resided with his father on a farm till eighteen years of age, receiving a good common school education for the times. He then taught school four successive winters. He experienced religion in September, 1831, and in January following joined the Methodist Episcopal Church.

His license as a local preacher is dated 1834. He joined the Troy Conference in 1836. His appointments were as follow: Mooers, Morristown, Ferrisburgh and Monkton, Jay, Wilmington, and Saranac Mission, Clintonville, Berkshire, Chazy, Shelburne, superannuated one year, Charlotte, Tomhannock and Valley Falls, Chatham, Ferry-street, Albany; Jonesville, Schaghticoke, Mechanicsville, (this year, 1860, he was elected delegate to the General Conference,) Greenwich. He held a supernumerary relation from 1862 to 1874, when he was made effective and appointed to Schroon Lake. In 1875 he was appointed to Valley Falls, where he labored with great acceptability and success, nearly one hundred souls having found peace in believing during the last six weeks of his life.

His last sermon was delivered Feb. 25, 1876. His text was 2 Peter i, 5. His theme, "Courageous Faith." In the course of his remarks he said: "Brethren, if my remains should be laid in front of this desk, do not mourn for me; I shall only pass on a little before and shall be better off." Several penitents were soon at the altar, and a large number of converts before him. Sabbath morning, Feb. 27, he rose in usual health, took a drink of water, and was suddenly taken with a severe chill, which resulted in excruciating pain in his spine, from which he found no relief. Tuesday evening his mind wandered, his disease culminated in congestion of the brain, and he passed away on Wednesday morning, March 1, surrounded by his family and many friends.

Brother Dunn left no dying testimony, and we need none to assure us that he died well. A few days before his decease he remarked that all matters were settled and arranged between him and his God, and he was ready to go at any time. Few ministers of Christ have been so uniformly successful in saving souls. In nearly every charge many were added to the Church. As a preacher he was simple, clear, and very impressive, with but few distinctive points in each sermon, and these were illustrated and applied in the most effective manner. The secret of his uniform success in winning souls to Christ is found in his strong sympathy with his fellow-men, joined with his child-like faith in the gospel scheme for man's salvation. As a companion and friend he was true and constant. His social qualities and cheerful spirit shed sunshine all around him. As a husband and father he was all these relations imply; and by his family alone, which consisted of a devoted wife and five loving children, are these qualities fully known and appreciated.

4. Bernice Darwin Ames was born in Shoreham, Vt., Dec. 26, 1827. He was "born again" in 1839, the centennial year of Methodism, and united with the Church in Elizabethtown, N. Y. At the age of twenty-six he graduated at Middlebury College with honors, and in all his subsequent professional and ministerial life he stood before the "kings" of our Conference. For three years immediately succeeding his graduation he was professor of Latin and Greek in the Fort Plain and Fort Edward seminaries. In 1857 he joined the Troy Conference, and was stationed successively at East Dorset, Charlotte, and Brandon, Vt. Being affected with a bronchial difficulty, he resumed the work of teaching, and assumed the principalship of the Providence Conference Seminary. During the last year of the war he was secretary of the Christian Commission at Philadelphia. In 1868 he assumed the principalship of Mechanicsville Academy, where he remained until his decease, January 5, 1876.

On March 20, 1854, he was united in marriage with Miss Sarah E. King, who remains to mourn his departure, and to rejoice in the blessed Christian hope of a happy reunion in the tearless clime.

Brother Ames died well because he lived well, trusting in the atoning blood which cleanseth from all sin. A few mornings before his departure he calmly talked with his wife about his decease, telling her that he felt it was near at hand, and that his faith was unwavering, and his hope unclouded; and when the time came for his release he pointed upward, as if to say, "I must be going; the way is upward, ye know. Farewell; you'll all come soon." His last moments were tranquil beyond expression. Just as the sun was setting, on the eve of his departure, his eye rested on the "Silent Comforter" hanging in his room, and he repeated from it these sublime words: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trusteth in thee."

5. Alexander Dixon was born in Hartford, N. Y., June 9, 1799, and died in Middlefield, Mass., April 12, 1875. At the age of twenty-four he was converted, and soon joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Possessing a mild, yet ardent nature, he found full opportunity for the exercise of his gifts in the work of God.

Brother Dixon soon felt that he was called to the work of the Christian ministry. He joined the Troy Conference in 1836, and labored successively on the following charges: Paulet, Mount Holly, Fort Ann, Bakersfield, Swanton, North Ferrisburgh, Milton, Berne, and New Lebanon. His health failing, he was returned supernumerary in 1850. During these thirteen years of labor in the regular work of the ministry he was successful in winning many souls to Christ, and for a time after he labored to promote the work of God as opportunities afforded.

For the last few years he did not meet with us in our annual gatherings, and was therefore comparatively unknown to the younger members of the Conference. Still we are informed that he maintained a close walk with God, spending much of his time in reading the Bible and prayer.

In February, 1874, Brother Dixon had a paralytic stroke, which partially unsettled his mind; yet his Christian experience seemed to deepen, and his prospects of heaven brighten. For the last few weeks his sufferings were great, which he bore with remarkable Christian fortitude and patience. His last hour was peaceful, and our brother passed quietly to his home above.

6. Chester Chamberlain was born in Thetford, Vt., Jan. 19, 1807, and died in Chester, Warren County, N. Y., July 30, 1875. In early youth he went to live in Watervliet, N. Y., where he was brought to Christ and his Church. He soon felt himself called to the special work of the ministry; the Church recognized the call, and gave him her authority to enter upon his mission. In 1834 he was received on trial in the Troy Conference. He applied himself industriously and faithfully to his work in the ministry with acceptance and success for twenty-two years. In 1866, on account of declining health and other causes, he took a supernumerary relation, in which and that of superannuate he continued until death transferred him to his rest above. The spirit of his calling continued to move him in his changed relations, and he was ready and happy to aid in the work of the Master, assisting his brethren in their ordinary and special services, and filling such openings as the emergencies of the work gave opportunities. He was a man of devout and genial spirit, of harmonious and uniform Christian character. He filled all the relations of life with honor to himself and blessing to others, leaving the partner of his life and labors and five children in cordial membership in the Church of his choice, and active and useful laborers in the kingdom of their common Lord and Master. He anticipated and met death as none but the good man can, calm and serene and hopeful to the end. Meeting him often in his last sickness as he lingered upon the mortal shore amid the gathering night shades and hoping for the morning, his trusting heart frequently gave forth its utterances, saying: "I am still waiting;" "I am resting in the atonement;" "It cannot fail;" "It is safe;" "All is well." "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

G. Putnam, D. Packer, J. Smith—3.

1. GEORGE PUTNAM was born in Middlesex, Vt., July 18, 1801. He entered the traveling connection in 1824, and labored on the following charges: Unity, Wethersfield, Barnard, Columbia, Lebanon, Meriden, Unity, Wethersfield, Putney, Deering, Henniker and Deering, Barre, Lyndon, Irasburgh, superannuated six years, Craftsbury and Lamoilville, Barton Landing and Brownington. From 1848 to the time of his death he held either a supernumerary or superannuated relation.

Brother Putnam was an original and independent thinker, an able minister of the New Testament, a workman that needed not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. He possessed a meek, humble, and devout spirit; was a man of the strictest integrity, whose life was a living commentary on the doctrines he preached, and he won the confidence and respect of all who knew him. He early engaged in the antislavery enterprise, and years only strengthened his convictions on this subject. Several years since he removed to New Orleans, La., and the last years of his life were specially devoted to the interests of those for whom he had so long felt the deepest and warmest sympathy. He died in Christian triumph in the summer of 1875, aged about seventy-four years. He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

2. DAVID PACKER was born in Newark, Vt., Feb. 20, 1808, and died in Chelsea, Mass., Dec. 1, 1875, aged nearly sixty-eight years. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1823; received exhorter's license in 1832; was married to Miss Angeline Woodruff in 1833; united with the Conference in 1841, and was successively appointed to Cabot, Holland, Derby, St. Johnsbury, Sutton and Burke, Derby, Lyndon and Kirby, Cabot and Calais, St. Johnsbury again, St. Johnsbury Center and Plain, St. Johnsbury for the third time, Peacham, Barre, Newbury, Peacham. This was his last appointment. His health failing he went to Philadelphia in 1865, attended a course of medical lectures, and received a diploma. In 1866 he took a superannuated relation and removed to Lowell, Mass., and labored successfully as a physician for nearly two years, when he was prostrated by sickness, and brought apparently near the grave. In 1869 he removed to Chelsea, Mass., where he practiced medicine till Feb. 22, 1873, when he had an attack of apoplexy, from which he never recovered. He continued to decline until the evening of December 2, when, while praying as he sat in his chair, he was seized with violent spasms, which continued for two hours, when he expired.

Brother Packer was a sound preacher, a strong reasoner, and good pastor. He labored for the spiritual good of his patients in his medical practice, and was successful in winning souls to Christ, having frequent revivals on his fields of labor.

3. JAMES SMITH was born in Andover, N. Y., Jan. 21, 1807, and died in Westfield, Vt., Nov. 20, 1875, aged nearly sixty-nine years. In childhood he was left an orphan, and but little is known of his early life. He experienced religion when seventeen years of age, and became an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He entered the ministry in 1833, and for eighteen years did effective service; when, his health failing, he took a superannuated relation, and for twenty-four years, or until his death, sustained that relation. Jan. 28, 1840, he was married to Miss Mary Greenleaf, of Derby, Vt., an estimable Christian woman, who, with three children, survives him.

Brother Smith was a sincere Christian, a good preacher, a faithful laborer in the Master's vineyard. He died in peace, rests from his work, and is receiving a faithful watchman's reward.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

George Webber, Paul C. Richmond, Marcus Wight, Joseph E. Walker, Benjamin Burnham, Howard B. Abbott—6.

1. GEORGE WEBBER was born in Shapleigh, Me., March 18, 1801. He was converted in early life, and after spending some time as a student in Maine Wesleyan Seminary, was received as a member on trial in Maine Conference in 1828, and appointed, with Elisha Streeter, to Strong Circuit, embracing nearly the whole valley of Sandy River. His reputation as an able minister was soon established, and his services were sought by the most important charges of the Conference. No preacher in the Maine Conference has been so highly honored by his brethren. He served sixteen years as presiding elder; five times was a delegate to the General Conference; once to the Evangelical Alliance in London, and once to the Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada. At the General Conference of 1852 he was a prominent candidate for the office of bishop, and about the same time he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Wesleyan University. He was for many years a trustee of Maine Wesleyan Seminary, and was prominently connected with all the leading interests of the Conference for nearly half a century. As a preacher, he was solid rather than brilliant; yet in his happier moods his discourses were profoundly impressive, always evincing deep thought and thorough mastery of his subjects. He was deliberate in manner, and in the treatment of his themes was thorough and exhaustive. His sermons, though carefully studied, were entirely unwritten. He was strongly conservative, yet ever ready to do battle with heresy, and to resist all radical innovations in the doctrines or polity of the Church. He was discreet and dignified in deportment; friendly and familiar when once acquainted, but never frivolous. During the forty-seven years of his ministry his record as a member of Conference was without a blemish. For many years he had suffered from impaired health. At the Conference of 1874 he received a superannuated relation, and retired to his home at Kent's Hill. His health continued to decline. His nervous system became disturbed, and his mind at length gave way. Indications of mental aberration had been observed for some time by his friends, with much alarm. Their worst fears were suddenly realized on the morning of May 11, 1875. After conducting family worship with his usual calmness he retired, and when found life was extinct. Thus sadly closed a long and useful life.

2. Paul C. Richmond died in Frysburgh, Me., May 29, 1875, aged seventy-seven. He was born in Barnard, Vt., where he passed his early manhood, improving to good advantage such school privileges as were within his reach. He was converted in his native town under the labors of Rev. John Lord, then a preacher of great power. Young Richmond at once became an active religious worker, his parents and most of their family being converted through his labors. He soon felt himself called to the work of the ministry, and entered upon active work as an exhorter. In March, 1825, he received license to preach, and soon after was received as a member on trial in New England Conference. After filling several appointments in Vermont, he was, in 1829, transferred to Maine Conference, where he continued in effective itinerant work till 1855, when his failing health compelled him to take a superannuated relation. Procuring a home at Frysburgh, he continued to labor in the vicinity as his strength allowed.

Brother Richmond had an ardent nature and a sanguine temperament, and was a whole-souled and devoted man. He was deeply pious and strong in faith. He was well versed in Scripture, apt in illustration; an able and successful minister. His departure was peaceful; his last words being, "All is well. God's will be done."

3. Marcus Wight died suddenly at Scarborough, Me., Aug. 3, 1875, aged seventy-one. He was born in Raymond, Me., Feb. 14, 1804, and received his education at the academy near his home, and at the seminary at Kent's Hill. He was converted at the age of eighteen, was received on trial in Maine Conference in 1832, and continued in effective itinerant work (with the exception of two years of superannuation) until 1875, when he retired from active service, having labored forty years. He had a modest estimate of his own ability, for many years insisting that he ought not to remain on the same charge longer than one year, subjecting himself and family for thirty years to the inconvenience of an annual, and often a long, removal. He was fluent though unpolished in utterance, plain and forcible in preaching, and a faithful pastor. His departure was sudden and unexpected, but he was ready. For some time previously he had been ripening for heaven, manifesting unusual fervor of spirit, and declaring that his last years were his best years.

4. Joseph E. Walker departed this life in Christian triumph at Wilton, Me., Aug. 26, 1875, aged twenty-eight. Brother Walker was a native of Wilton, where he passed his early life. He was converted at the age of twenty, commenced preaching in 1869, and the next year supplied Lisbon charge. In 1871 he joined the Maine Conference on trial, and for two years labored on Maple Circuit, when his health failed and he received a superannuated relation. His health continued to decline, in spite of vigorous efforts to rally, till he was called home.

Brother Walker was clear in his experience, studious in his habits, and earnest and successful in his labors, giving promise of a useful career. During the months of wasting consumption and the blighting of his earthly hopes he was wonderfully sustained, exclaiming as he approached the closing hour, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

5. Benjamin Burnham was born in Rumney, N. H., Dec. 26, 1791, and died in the triumphs of faith in Groton, Vt., Oct. 25, 1875, in his eighty-fourth year, being the oldest member of the Conference at the time of his decease. He was converted in 1810 and joined the New England Conference in 1812, and was appointed to Lunenburgh Circuit, embracing twelve towns. The next year he traveled on Landaff Circuit. In 1817 he labored within the bounds of what is now the Maine Conference, where he afterward spent most of his life. He was sixty-three years a member of Conference: thirty-four years effective, five supernumerary, and twenty-four superannuated.

Father Burnham was a devoted Christian, faithful in his pastoral work, scriptural and instructive in his preaching, and highly esteemed for his fidelity to the Church. His labors were much blessed in the conversion of souls. He died in peace.

6. Howard B. Abbott closed an earnest and successful life at Waterville, Feb. 2, 1876, aged sixty-five. He was born in Sidney, Me., Sept. 14, 1810, was educated at Bowdoin College, and was converted and united with the Baptist Church in Calais in 1838 while studying law. He soon after commenced the business of his profession, in which he continued about eight years, when, compelled by a stern sense of duty, he abandoned a successful and lucrative practice to enter the work of the ministry. His doctrinal sentiments being thoroughly Arminian, he could not honestly enter the ministry of a Calvinistic Church; he therefore obtained an honorable dismission from the Baptist Church, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in the winter of 1847, and was received on trial in Maine Conference the same year. The heroic elements of an itinerant ministry had an especial attraction for him, and he entered upon his work with great zeal, and continued in the effective work till less than a year before his death. From the time of his conversion he was an active Christian worker. On entering the ministry he consecrated his entire energies with remarkable singleness of purpose to his chosen calling, working with indefatigable zeal for the salvation of souls. His labors were unusually successful, and many were added to the Church. His naturally vigorous constitution was prematurely broken by excessive labor. His indomitable will kept him nerved up to earnest work when he needed rest, and he became at length the victim of his own self-denying zeal. He saw this great mistake of his life when it was too late. He was rigidly conscientious, and his notions of duty were carried to an extreme of severity. He had all the qualities of true heroism, and he would not have shrunk from the martyr's fiery crown if in the way of duty.

Notwithstanding these stern qualities, he possessed strong affection and tender sympathy. His family were tenderly loved, and when his children were called away by death his grief was overwhelming. He was intensely interested for the people of his charge, and especially for the poor and the suffering, and was, of course, greatly beloved in return. He came to the final hour of life calmly trusting in God.

"Servant of God, well done;
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is run,
And thou art crowned at last."

Sullivan Bray, John S. Ayer, Daniel Cox—3.

1. SULLIVAN BRAY was born in Minot, Me., Sept. 15, 1795, and after a long and successful life of Christian and ministerial labor, passed to his reward March 15, 1876. Brother Bray was blessed with a devoted Christian mother, who carefully trained and watched over him. During a scene of amusement, the anxious mother being in earnest prayer, the Holy Spirit arrested him, and he fled to a place of meditation and prayer, and sought and soon found pardon through Christ while alone in the forest. Having grace, gifts, and zeal in the cause of his new Master, the Church urged him to take a license to preach when about twenty years of age. After traveling a six-weeks' circuit, under the direction of the earnest, eccentric Rev. John Adams, for awhile, he joined Conference in 1818 and was appointed to Orrington, Me. He preached in Orrington a short time and then went to Skowhegan, where he labored with success, having a glorious revival, resulting in the conversion of two hundred souls. His subsequent appointments were: Exeter, Unity, Bath, Fairfield and Sidney, Union, Thomaston, Bath, Hallowell and Augusta, Vassalborough, East Vassalborough, Orrington, Searsmont, Bucksport, Vassalborough, Winslow, Fairfield, Pittston, Bristol, Newcastle, Dresden, South Vassalborough, East Vassalborough, Georgetown, Camden, Frankfort, Dexter, Orrington, North Bucksport, Exeter, Detroit, superannuated one year. Thus for forty-five years he labored efficiently, enjoying good health the most of the time, and in many precious revivals witnessed the conversion of thousands of sinners to Christ.

Though stepping out of the effective ranks, like an old warhorse, he smelled the battle from afar, and rushed into action again and performed regular service at Damariscotta Mills for three years, and greatly aiding his sons, William and Charles, in their ministry at Skowhegan, Round Pond, and Clinton, for four or five years, until 1873, when he gave a semi-centennial address at the Conference session in Damariscotta, after which he went to reside with his son, Rev. William M'K. Bray, the rest of his life. He was able to preach occasionally, occupying different pulpits, till the last year, when he found, to his great sorrow, that his preaching days were over; but he loved and attended the social meetings, giving clear testimony as to the fullness of salvation and his readiness to meet Jesus. During the last months of his life his faith was active, his hopes sanguine, his mind calm and serene. On the evening of March 15, 1876, after a day of unusual sprightliness, he was suddenly stricken with apoplexy. For a few minutes he appeared conscious, responding to questions by a pressure of the hand, and then passed on to the crowning for which he had waited so long.

Brother Bray was greatly aided in his life work by his worthy companion, (Mary Mitchell, of Union, to whom he was married in 1819,) who fully sympathized with him in all his experiences, and encouraged him by her superior faith and cheerfulness in all his trials. She passed on to her reward some twelve years before him, but now they join in sweeter songs around the throne. They were favored with six children, all of whom he lived to see walking in the path of life. Three sons entered the ministry, to the great joy of his heart, all of whom have been successful in the work their parent loved so well. One daughter married the Rev. Dr. Wood, of the Baptist Church, now residing in Boston.

Brother Bray was a great student of the Bible, besides reading it through consecutively once or twice a year. He was a close observer of nature; and by meditation and study on horseback, and by constant reading and prayer as he had opportunity, he kept up with the times. He was among the first to labor earnestly in the missionary, temperance, and anti-slavery causes.

Brother Bray was beloved and honored by his brethren. He was elected to represent them in the General Conference of 1832, and was often consulted by the bishops in reference to the appointments.

Brother Bray was a faithful expounder of the word of God. As a preacher he was plain and practical, often pointed and soul stirring; but he greatly excelled in prayer on all occasions, having strong faith in, and close communion with, God. By his prayers he aided many penitent seekers to enter into the kingdom of grace and glory. His record is on high. May his mantle of holiness fall on all his sons in the ministry!

2. JOHN S. AYER was born in Freedom, Me., in 1795. He was converted when only twelve years of age, joined the Conference in 1818, and received his first appointment to Industry. He married in 1819, and was removed to Penobscot. From 1820 to 1825 the Minutes report him at St. Croix, Columbia, Thomaston, Hampden, Norridgewock, and Buxton. He labored efficiently and successfully, and enjoyed more or less of revival on all his charges. In 1826 he located through ill health, and entered into business at Belfast. While there he greatly helped to sustain the means of grace by his liberality and regular attendance at the class and prayer meetings, and by his labors in the Sabbath-school. In 1836 he came to Bangor, and was as successful in his business engagements as he had been in Belfast, and having obtained a competency, he retired. In 1867 he was readmitted to the Conference and placed on the superannuated list, which relation he held till the day of his death, which occurred on Jan. 18, 1876, soon after completing his eightieth year.

His removal was sudden, but it found him prepared. He had made several calls during the afternoon, and after tea was sitting in his chair conversing pleasantly with his friends, when he suddenly threw up his hands, and before they could reach him he was gone.

"They looked—he was dead;
His spirit had fled,
Painless and swift as his own desire.
The soul undressed
From her mortal vest
Had mounted her car of heavenly fire,
And proved how bright
Were the realms of light
Bursting at once upon the sight."

Says one who knew him well: "In much the same way that we associate home and mother do we connect the old brick chapel with Brother Ayer. We have become accustomed to new faces in the pulpit, but from that corner seat in the altar the same form has arisen Sabbath after Sabbath and year after year to tell us, in his kindly persuasive way, of the Saviour's love. There was a peculiar charm in his prayers that even in childhood arrested and interested us; a softened tone, a gentle pleading, as if addressing a loving and indulgent Father, and for many of us these prayers have had an almost unconscious influence in the formation and development of Christian character."

3. DANIEL COX was born in Barnard, Vt., August, 1801, and died Dec. 28, 1875. He was in early life brought under the influence of Methodism, and soon after attaining his majority made a public profession of religion, and joined the Church of his choice. In September, 1828, he was granted an exhorter's license on Barnard Circuit. In the fall of the same year he removed to Maine, and was employed some months on the Waterford Circuit. In the spring of 1829 he joined Conference and was appointed to Strong Circuit. The next two years he was sent to Georgetown, and God blessed him with a glorious revival. In 1832 he was appointed to South Bath and Phipsburgh. Some time during this year he was married to Miss Mary B. Marston, of Bath. He was sent successively to Winslow, Woolwich, Newcastle, and Union, where his health failed. At the session of his Conference in 1838 his name was entered on the list of superannuates, from which it was never taken. Although broken in health he labored as opportunity offered, and kept up the Christian warfare to the end of life. His last illness was brief. His summons was sudden, but he was ready, for he knew in whom he had believed.

Brother Cox was a thorough Methodist. He loved its doctrines, and ever welcomed to his heart and home the Methodist itinerant preacher. His integrity was undoubted; and though a man of positive convictions, he never came in conflict with the opinions of others merely for the sake of differing. His fellow-townsmen honored him with positions of public trust, in all which he proved faithful; and his family are not unmindful of the lessons of industry and economy he taught them both by precept and example.

Hermann Schlaphof.

HERMANN SCHLAPHOF was born February 21, 1840, at Ezen, Province of Hanover, and died September 9, 1875, at Wattwyl, Switzerland. In 1863 he removed to Lausanne, Switzerland, where he became acquainted with the services of our Church, and found the Lord by the labor of our brethren there. Two years after his conversion he was recommended by the Quarterly Conference of the Lausanne Circuit to our Theological Seminary at Bremen. After pursuing the regular course of studies there he was sent, in 1867, to Pforzheim. His subsequent appointments were Carlsruhe, Herrenberg, Lausanne, Hamburg, and Frankfurt-au-Main. In 1873 he was united in marriage with Ida Fiedler, of Dresden.

Brother Schlaphof was a faithful and successful worker in the Lord's vineyard. In spite of his feeble health during the last five years he performed the duties of his charges with great zeal and energy, till he was compelled, at the last Annual Conference, to take a superannuated relation. He left Frankfurt-au-Main for Switzerland, expecting to recover his health, but in vain. In a few weeks our dear brother finished his pilgrimage. He died in perfect peace, and in the full hope of everlasting life. His dear wife, who has been so sorely bereaved, lives in hope of a reunion in the better land. Brother Schlaphof's memory will be cherished by the Conference of which he was a member, and his faithful work will continue to have a blessed influence on the fields of his labor.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

S. H. Mann.

S. H. MANN was born in the State of New York, May 6, 1817, and moved with his father to Pennsylvania when six years old. He was married to Miss Ann Whipple, his now bereaved wife, October 6, 1842; licensed a local preacher in Crawford County, Pa., in 1845; moved to Oregon in June, 1864, and the remainder of that Conference year filled the Eugene City pulpit in the place of Rev. W. S. Lewis, whose health had failed. He joined the Oregon Conference in 1865, and was sent to Mary's River Circuit, where he remained two years; in 1867 to Jefferson Circuit; in 1868–9 to Olympia, W. T.; in 1870 to Seattle, and was returned in 1871; in 1872 he was sent to Steilacoom, remaining there two years; in 1874 was removed from Puget Sound to Salem District, and put in charge of the Brownsville Circuit, to which he was returned in 1875, and where, on the 15th of March, 1876, he put off his earthly tabernacle, and entered the house not made with hands. His death was sudden and unexpected to all, so that a spotless Christian life and an unwavering attachment to the cause of God and humanity are our evidences of his acceptance with God. All who knew him will testify that in his death one of the brightest Christian lights was extinguished.

I. MELVILLE VAN ARSDALE was born in Montgomery County, Indiana, March 21, 1845. He embraced religion and united with the Church in the fourteenth year of his age, and was a student in the Thorntown Academy. Our brother was a soldier in the army of our country during the late war, and was honorably discharged when it closed. He was admitted into the Upper Iowa Conference in the fall of 1867, and traveled successively Buffalo Grove, Winthrop, and Strawberry Point Circuits of that Conference. On account of impaired health he returned to Indiana, and was employed by the presiding elder on the Hobart Circuit. He was transferred to the North-west Indiana Conference, and appointed to the Argos work, where his health so entirely failed that he went to the home of his father, in Thorntown, and there lingered with consumption, a great sufferer, for sixteen months. He died in peace, December 25, 1875, saying, "All is well."

John M'Eldowney, to the Rocky Mountain Conference.

QUEST. 14. Have any been Expelled?

None.

QUEST. 15. Have any died?

Addison C. Shaw, J. R. Cordon, E. Bibbins—3.

1. ADDISON C. SHAW was converted when fourteen years old, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed as a local preacher when he was twenty-four years old, in which capacity he labored seven years, when he was received into the Michigan Conference on trial in 1844, and in 1846 he was received into full connection. He became a member of the Detroit Conference by the division of the Conference.

Brother Shaw was an earnest and faithful minister, and labored so long as he had health and strength. He died of chronic dysentery in Ypsilanti, Dec. 21, 1875, aged sixty-one.

2. J. R. CORDON was born in England, March 7, 1835. He was converted in Detroit in 1858, and was received on trial in the Detroit Conference the same year, in which he labored for eighteen years with general acceptability and usefulness. His last appointment was Clarkson, where he died, April 18, 1876, having just entered upon his forty-second year.

Brother Cordon was regarded, wherever he was known, as a devoted, earnest, and successful minister. Many will remember his labors, and especially his interest in the Sunday-school. As a pastor, his memory will be cherished by many; and no doubt many more, the fruit of his labor, were ready to welcome him with a song on the other shore.

"They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament: and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars for ever and ever."

3. ELISHA BIBBINS was born in Warsaw, N. Y., June 9, 1823. He united with the Wesleyan Methodist Church and was licensed to preach in 1845, and entered upon the earnest work of the ministry. After laboring with the Wesleyans, with marked success, for twenty-two years, in 1867, with several of his brethren, he was received into the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which he continued his successful labors until the session of the Conference in 1875, when failing health compelled him to take a superannuated relation. But it soon appeared that his work was finished, and he died Nov. 22, but little over two months after the Conference granted him a superannuated relation.

Brother Bibbins was a good man, a devoted Christian, and a successful minister. We cannot claim for our departed brother that he was what the world calls a brilliant preacher, but with a fair preaching talent, deep devotion to his work, an earnest manner, and overflowing sympathy, he often appeared mighty in word and deed, and under God achieved glorious results in the conversion of souls. But he is now numbered with the blessed, and in the death of such a man earth loses however much heaven gains.

QUEST. 16. What is the Statistical Report?

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

J. C. Bontecou, N. Callender, P. A. Ogden—3.

1. JAMES CLARK BONTECOU was a native of New Haven, Conn., but early removed with his parents to Albany County, N. Y. He was converted at the age of fifteen. The voice of the Spirit said to him, "Go, thou, and preach the kingdom of God." He felt the call to be to the itinerant ministry. In 1826 he yielded himself a vessel of the Gospel, to be borne where the currents of Providence should decide, and joined the New York Conference in 1827. About this time he became a member of the New England Conference, the New York Conference yielding the territory to form it. His most notable work in the New England Conference was in his pastorate at Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, in 1835 and 1836, when interest was awakened throughout the island, and many were converted. Brother Bontecou was transferred to the Ohio Conference in 1840, in which he took his first appointment to Worthington Circuit. He marked this year in his memory as one of "toil and gloom;" "not a soul converted;" the first fruitless year of his ministry. He computed his success by the number saved. His sense of "labor in vain" was painful, and he was "shut up unto the faith" that fruit might be seen hence. He soon thereafter saw the travail of his chastened soul, and was satisfied. Stationed at Circleville the next year, 1841, one of the best revivals known in this vicinity occurred. Between three hundred and four hundred persons joined the Church, from among whom the Lord of the harvest sent forth several ministers. In 1844 he was stationed at Athens, Ohio, where, in the second year of his term, he lost by death his beloved wife. At the age of thirty-three he had married Miss Conable. She was mother to his children, dispenser of light and joy in a happy household, and an efficient helper in his work. In 1849 he married Miss Mary A. Good, who with gentle kindness ministered comfort to him in the afternoon of his life, and in sorrow survives him. By division of the Ohio Conference he fell into the Cincinnati Conference at its formation. He was stationed at Franklin, Oxford, Greenfield, Pearl, and York streets, Cincinnati, Agent of Wesleyan College, then at North Bend, Madisonville, and other stations and circuits, till in 1866 and 1867 he served his last pastorate on Fletcher Circuit, Miami County. He thus gave forty years of labor to the itinerant ministry. He was eight years superannuated, though in no part dependent on the Church for his support. He was enterprising, frugal, and benevolent, and will follow his life of consecrated toil with a generous gift to the Church in her best benevolent work. He was always respected for the strength and assuredness of his convictions. In the day when it was heroic to say to the "bondmen" of the country "Go free!" he was distinguished in zeal for them. Buoyant and sprightly in spirit, he was welcomed to youthful society when past the sear age of seventy. His life was unblamable. Without rapture, his religious life was uniform and earnest. His character was established by those years of integrity, and it was graciously sustained in firm hope when his body trembled to its fall. His "house"—his business, his family, and his soul—"was set in order," and he was anxious to "go away," but waited in patience till his change came. His wife and daughter and friends had watched his decline with devoted affection, and his last expressions were of love returned, and of a joyous welcome to his release from mortality, and his assured ascension

From grief and groan to a golden throne,
Beside the King of heaven.

He was seventy-two years of age at his death, which occurred at his home in Xenia, October 14, 1875.

2. N. CALLENDER was born September 18, 1800, in Chazy, Clinton County, New York. In 1817 his parents moved to Eastern Ohio, where he made the best use of his early opportunities to obtain an education and prepare for his life work. He was converted in Leesburgh in 1819, was licensed to exhort in 1821, to preach in 1825, and recommended for admission on trial in the Pittsburgh Conference at its first session in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa. He entered upon his work fully consecrated to God, and from the period of 1825 to 1839 he filled some of the most important circuits and stations in the Conference. Having acquired a knowledge of the German language, he devoted himself to the German work, and was one of the pioneers of German Methodism in this country. Hence, in 1839–40, he was placed in charge of the Pittsburgh German Mission District, the first of the kind in the connection, and during that time he built the first German Methodist Church in the United States. In 1840 he was appointed to the New York German Mission, where he labored until 1842. Subsequently he became Moral Instructor at the Western Penitentiary, Pa., where he continued until 1844. In 1844–45 he re-entered the English work, filling many important charges until 1854, and from 1854 to 1859 he filled the Michigan and Cincinnati German Districts. In 1860 he labored again in the English work until 1862, spending a part of the time as Bible Agent, under the direction of Rev. W. Herr, District Superintendent of the American Bible Society in Southern Ohio. In 1863–65 he acted as Hospital Chaplain, United States Army, at Camp Dennison, Ohio, and from 1866 to 1871 he occupied various important charges in the regular work, when increasing infirmity compelled him to superannuate.

Brother Callender was a kind, loving husband and father, a man of deep piety, a good theologian, a wise counselor, a warm, steadfast friend, and a successful minister of Christ. The closing years of his life were spent in and near Louisville, Ky., at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. P. H. Bonner. Much of the time of his illness he suffered greatly, but was ever comforted and supported by the promises of the Gospel which he had preached for so many years. A few weeks before his death the Lord's Supper was administered to him by Rev. Dr. Chadwick, pastor of the M. E. Church in that city. It was a season of spiritual blessing. He gave messages of love to his family and others present, and, with a clear sky and strong confidence in God, he calmly and sweetly fell asleep in Jesus, Sunday, February 6, 1876. Many in the last day will rise to call him blessed.

3. PHARAOH A. OGDEN was born in Oldham, England, July 28, 1799, and died in Sidney, Ohio, August 23, 1876, aged seventy-seven years. With his parents, he emigrated to this country in May, 1818, landing at Philadelphia, Pa. He embraced religion and united with the St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, February 22, 1822; was licensed as an exhorter in 1823, and as a local preacher in 1824. In 1825 he was received by the Philadelphia Conference on trial, and appointed first to Dauphin Circuit and next to Lancaster Circuit. In 1827 he was admitted into full connection, and ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding, and two years later he received elder's orders at the hands of Bishop M'Kendree. He labored with great success and acceptability among the people to whom he was sent, and during his connection with the Philadelphia Conference filled some of the most important stations, such as New Brunswick, Asbury, Pottsville, and Manayunk. Owing to his untiring zeal and arduous labors in the pulpit and study his health failed, and in 1836 he was compelled to retire from the itinerant work. In 1838 he removed to Piqua, Ohio, where, in company with his father, he engaged in the mercantile business. In 1844 he concluded again to enter the active work of the ministry. He united with the Wesleyan Methodist Connection in 1844, where, with earnest zeal, he labored for Christ and opposed the institution of human slavery. The removal of slavery from the M. E. Church removed the cause of his secession from it in 1844, and opened the way for his return, which he did, together with many others of the Wesleyan body, in 1867, when he was re-admitted to the Cincinnati Conference. As health and opportunity allowed, it was his delight to exercise in the Christian ministry, to promote the cause of temperance, and to advance the cause of the Master in all possible ways. He highly prized fellowship with his brethren of the Conference, and was deeply interested in the prosperity of the Church of which he was a member and minister. He gave to Rev. R. Brandreff, a most intimate friend, a message to his brethren, as follows: "Tell my brethren of the Conference that I love them all. Tell them to make Christ prominent in all their preaching, and tell them that I die with a good hope of eternal life." He lived as the Christian lives, he died as the Christian dies, and now dwells in the Christian's home above.

Abel M. Corey, George P. Graham—2.

1. ABEL MOSES COREY was born near Fostoria, Ohio, July 23, 1833. At the age of eighteen he was clearly converted. Though possessed of but limited resources, his thirst for knowledge was such that he struggled against many obstacles, and acquired a good academic education. In 1860 he traveled Delta Circuit as a supply. The next year he was admitted on trial in the Central Ohio Conference and returned to Delta. The following three years he spent at Napoleon, where, in the midst of a community hostile to the Church and the country, he contended nobly for each sacred cause and won an enduring victory. The next two years were successfully spent in Wauseon station. At their close, led by what seemed clear indications of duty, he accepted an unsought nomination to the office of State senator. He was elected for both a first and second term, and served four years in that capacity. As a legislator he won the regard of political opponents as well as friends by purity, honor, ability, and superiority to merely partisan ties. Nor did he ever forget nor cease to adorn his relation to the Church as a minister of the Gospel. In 1871 he was appointed to Broadway, in Toledo, which charge he served three years, loving and beloved. At the expiration of that term he was appointed to Richwood, where, surrounded by a sympathizing people, he had, as he said, the best year of his life, and he accomplished a work that shall long endure. Coming to Delaware to attend Conference, he was worn out by labor and care, and was able to attend only the opening session. At the house of Prof. Williams, a bosom friend, he lay sick for two weeks. He received the best medical assistance that could be procured, and the loving friends about him were constant in attention. Great hopes were entertained of his recovery. He was very desirous to be permitted to remain with his beloved family and to continue his work in his charge, to which he had been reappointed, still he was reconciled to his Father's will and calmly bade adieu to his loved ones, and early on the morning of October 4, 1875, he was called to his reward. It was the privilege of the writer to be with him the last few hours of his life, to join with him in prayer, to listen to his most fervent responses, and then to hear him, as with triumphant faith he lifted up his voice for the last time commending his family to God and the Church, praying for his brethren, and committing his soul to the Saviour. Among these utterances he said with special emphasis, "I thank Thee for a humble place in the ministry of the Gospel."

Brother Corey was twice married—in 1855 to Miss Charlotte Green, of Fostoria, who died in 1869, leaving two children; and in 1870 to Miss Minnie Herbert, daughter of Rev. B. Herbert, of the Central Ohio Conference. She with her little boy remains to mourn.

God's ways are not our ways. It seems to us that we can ill spare one so useful, so beloved as Brother Corey. Clear in thought, apt in expression, generous in sympathy, self-sacrificing in labor, strong in friendship, and without resentment, our brother's future appeared very promising. Had he lived, his abilities and devotion would have made him sought for in our charges of chief importance, and the honors of the Church would have crowned him. But higher honors and a brighter crown are his even now. Commending his family to the care of God and to the consolations of the Holy Spirit, we will pray that his mantle may fall upon us, so that, when we also shall rest from our labors, like him we may find it far better to depart and to be with Christ.

2. GEORGE P. GRAHAM was born in Shelby County, Ohio, August 9, 1848, and died in Oak Harbor, Ohio, August 3, 1876. His opportunities for culture when a boy were limited, but the few he had were well improved, and he was recognized by all who knew him as an honest, reliable, and thoughtful youth. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion he entered the service with Burger's sharpshooters, Thirteenth Missouri. After four months' service he was discharged because his extreme youth could not endure the hardships of military life. Recovering somewhat he soon after entered the One Hundred and Eighteenth Regiment of Ohio volunteers, and served till the close of the war, when he was honorably discharged.

Brother Graham was converted in Quincy, Ohio, December, 1865; was licensed to exhort the same year, and entered the Central Ohio Conference at Findley in 1869. He served successively the following charges: Paulding, Whitehouse, Grand Rapids, and Oak Harbor.

As a preacher Brother Graham was above mediocrity. In the congregations he served he was recognized as an interesting and instructive speaker. He has delivered sermons which for clear and precise thought, expressed with attractive and distinctive utterance, few could equal. His religious experience was clear and delightful. His friendships were true and constant. This mysterious cement of kindred hearts united him to many of his brethren in the ministry. No wonder he should send them as his dying testimony, "Resting sweetly in Jesus."

With him the love of life and the Master's service was exceeding strong, but his last moments were very precious, and his final conflict a glorious victory. He received his death stroke in the heat of battle, and died with his face to the foe and full armor on. His sun has gone down in the morning of life, but his work is imperishable, and his record is on high.

Christian Schwab,* M. Kammermeyer—2.

MICHAEL KAMMERMEYER was born in Edenkoben, near Landau, in the kingdom of Bavaria, September 24, 1832, and died November 24, 1875, in his forty-fourth year. His father was a member of the Roman Catholic Church. His mother, being a Protestant, brought him up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. He came to this country with his parents in 1848, settling in Peru, Illinois. In 1853 he became acquainted with Methodism at Chicago, Illinois, by attending the church where Rev. A. Kellner was at that time preaching salvation by faith in Christ. The word thus plainly preached brought conviction to his heart. About the same time he became acquainted with Brother C. A. Loeber, through whose godly counsel he found salvation in Christ and united with the Church. In 1855 he was united in marriage to her who is now so sorely bereaved. The Lord blessed the union with ten children, four having entered the heavenly rest before him. In 1859 he entered the itinerancy, and was successively stationed at Michigan City, Geneseo, Davenport, German Creek, and Farmington, not without good results. At his last appointment (Farmington) he labored for two years very successfully, but on account of his failing voice he was compelled to retire from his work. He won the love and esteem of a large circle of friends, who by their sympathies and labors of love sought to cheer and comfort him in his days of pain and sickness. May the Lord bless these loving friends! As a husband and father he was very kindly attached to his family, and the thought of separation from them was at times painful; but when he felt convinced that it was the Lord's will for him to depart, he cheerfully acquiesced. As the hour of death was drawing nigh he bade a calm farewell to the assembled relatives and friends, and, clinging by faith to the precious promises of God's holy word, he fell sweetly asleep in Jesus, and is now resting from all his toils and labors.

John R. Tansey.

JOHN R. TANSEY was born in Highland County, Ohio, February 21, 1821. He was converted when fourteen years of age, licensed to preach August 6, 1842, and was received into the Indiana Conference the same year. His first circuit was Prairieton, on the Wabash River, with Rev. Ezra Kemp senior preacher. In 1844 his Conference was divided, and Brother Tansey became a member of the North Indiana Conference. In this Conference he filled the following charges: Anderson, Newport, Cambridge City, Dublin, Hagerstown, Mishawaka, and Laporte. December 21, 1845, he was married to Miss Sarah E. Sunderland, a most estimable lady, ever ready to encourage him in every good work.

Brother Tansey was transferred to California Conference in 1852, and stationed at Nevada City, after which he filled the following charges successively: Forest City, Grass Valley, Oroville, and Centerville. He was then appointed presiding elder of Petaluma District, where he remained four years. He next served as pastor of Bethel Church, San Francisco, after which he was sent to San Jose. At the close of one year at San Jose he was appointed to Stockton District, where he continued four years. He was then stationed at Santa Cruz, but was soon appointed United States Agent for the Mission Indians. That agency was abolished soon after his appointment, and he supplied San Diego Station until Conference. His last field of labor was Los Angelos District, where he remained four years. At the last session of the California Conference, owing to declining health, he asked for a supernumerary relation. Recovering, in a large measure, his health, he labored with his usual efficiency last winter. About the first of June he was taken seriously ill, and, although he possessed a strong constitution, in four weeks Brother Tansey was gathered to his fathers. Just before his departure he said, "All is peaceful and serene," and thus closed one of the most useful lives ever consecrated to Christ's cause on this coast. He was a great man in the best and highest interpretation of that term. A cultured and faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ, he went about doing good. Thousands rise up to call him blessed. To his fine natural and acquired gifts and graces there is added the fragrance of a pure life.

QUEST. 16. What is the Statistical Report?

William M. Spafford, Lorenzo Warner—2.

1. WILLIAM M. SPAFFORD died in Effingham County, Illinois, some time during the winter of 1876. Of his early life and when converted but little is known. In 1841 he was admitted on trial in the North Ohio Conference, in connection with which he actively labored until 1865, when he took a supernumerary relation. In 1868 he became a superannuate, and so continued until death. Brother Spafford was uniform in his piety and great in his conscientiousness. He was a man of brilliant intellect, and of more than ordinary oratorical power, and but for a peculiar constitutional sensitiveness, which disqualified him to bear up under the usual crosses and adversities of the itinerant ministry, he would have been one of the ablest and most successful of the ministers of our Lord Jesus Christ. He has gone, we doubt not, to a more congenial association, where his high-toned and finely-textured soul will not be chafed and torn by the rough association of this world.

2. LORENZO WARNER was born in Waterbury, Conn., in 1807. In 1815 he, with his parents, removed to Medina County, Ohio, which was then an almost unbroken wilderness. He early entered the Western Reserve College, at Hudson, Ohio, with a view of fitting himself for the ministry of the Gospel. By alternately laboring and studying, with what assistance his parents could bestow, he prosecuted the college course to the senior year. At this time he, with a number of his fellow-students, concluded to prepare themselves for foreign missionary work, and, in order the better to fit them for this work, it was decided that one of their number should study medicine. Mr. Warner was chosen for this duty, whereupon he left the Western Reserve College and entered a medical school at Cincinnati, Ohio, from which he graduated with honor. In the meantime the contemplated missionary project, for some reason, was abandoned, and Mr. Warner entered upon the practice of medicine at Brunswick, Ohio, in which practice he continued ten years, when he was elected to represent his county in the Ohio Legislature, which position he filled two years.

In 1833 Dr. Warner was united in marriage to Miss Mary O. Kingsbury, who afterward shared with him the toils and sacrifices of the itinerant ministry. During all the years of his medical practice, and while in the Legislature, he felt, "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." In the year 1843 he yielded to this conviction of duty, and entered the North Ohio Conference, and from that time till his death he was a faithful and successful laborer in God's vineyard. He filled, with great acceptability, the following charges: Brunswick, Lodi, Elyria, Baldwin Institute, Mansfield, Delaware, Galena, Mount Gilead, Mount Vernon, Chaplaincy in the Ohio State Prison for six years, Wooster, Chaplain of the Fourth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, Mansfield, Cleveland, Tiffin, Mount Vernon District, Mount Vernon Station, and Galion.

Brother Warner was always held in high esteem by his brethren of the Conference, who elected him as one of their delegates to the General Conference of 1872.

On Wednesday, April 12, 1876, after having served the Church of Galion with untiring zeal for about seven months, he was stricken down by apoplexy, and almost instantly expired. Thus passed away this good man, this faithful minister of our Lord Jesus Christ, after having lived sixty-nine years in the world and having preached the Gospel of Christ thirty-three years. He leaves behind his beloved companion and son, Rev. Thomas C. Warner, a worthy member of this Conference, to mourn the departure of the loved husband and father.

Larmon Chatfield, Nathan Mount—2.

1. LARMON CHATFIELD was born in Windham, Greene County, New York, where his parents owned a small farm, upon which he spent his early years in labors abundant. His parents were unable to give their son but a few months of schooling in the district school, and this, with a short course of academic training which he earned in after years for himself, constituted his scholastic education; yet so well did he profit by even these limited advantages, that in the days of his pulpit power no man was more accurate in the use of language than he. He had rare skill in fitting words into terse sentences to express his earnest thoughts. Though his parents were members of the Presbyterian Church, their son manifested a dislike for the tenets of John Calvin, and early sought every opportunity to absent himself from the services of the Church where his staid father, the deacon, worshiped, and hasten away to the more congenial meeting-house of the then despised Methodists. His heart was often touched with the fervent preaching of the Methodist preachers, and he early sought and found the Saviour. In later years his invariable testimony was, "I gave my heart to Jesus when a boy." However, for a time, as he approached manhood, he lost his hope in Christ. At the age of twenty-two he renewed his covenant with God, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He immediately entered upon the work of the ministry, was licensed as an exhorter, and took his first work, under the presiding elder, within the bounds of the old Ohio Conference in 1835, and was sent to Mount Clemens. In 1836 he was received on trial, and was sent to Plymouth, where he was married to a Miss Larimore, who left his side in six or eight months to join the hosts of the redeemed. In 1838 he was sent to Lyons Charge, then embracing the territory now covered by the thriving town of Portland, where he remained two years. In 1841 he was married to Mrs. Eliza Bogue. He was next appointed presiding elder of the Shiawassee District. Four years of district work, traveling from Grand Haven to Saginaw, proved his efficiency, and at the expiration of his term here he was sent as presiding elder to the Adrian District. In the year 1848 his health failed, and he was placed upon the list of superannuates. Two years later he was readmitted, with improved health, and appointed to Lansing Charge. Serving the charge two years, he was transferred in the fall of 1853 to Rock River Conference, and stationed at Rockford, Illinois. In 1854 he returned to the Michigan Conference, and was located, at his own request. At the session of Conference held in 1868 he was re-admitted, and granted a superannuated relation. This was his last appearance at the seat of Conference. After that his life was spent in communion with God and the quiet associations of his home.

Larmon Chatfield died at the residence of his son-in-law, F. G. Lee, M.D., in Portland, Michigan, after an illness of seven days. He attended Church on Sunday morning, and in the evening complained a little of distress. Monday morning his condition was alarming, and each succeeding hour only assured the certainty of his early departure. Through the week he remained most of the time in a comatose state, though failing every moment. His wife, now aged and in very feeble health, with his son, W. W. Bogue, and family, and Dr. Lee and wife, lingered fondly by his bedside, watching and caring for the sufferer. Neighbors and sympathizing friends, with eager attention, were present in the home of sorrow. But step by step Father Chatfield went down to the silent river, and at two o'clock Sunday morning, July 23, 1876, he crossed over to the better land. For about five years his memory had almost completely failed him. His past has been to him as a landscape seen in a mist of cloud. Yet one place was clear as the sunlight: forgetting men, and events, and times, he looked to the cross and clearly remembered Christ. In his wanderings of mind he again mingled in his earlier conference gatherings, and would seem to be in the company of Hiram Law, William C. Comfort, Benjamin Sabin, Joseph Jennings, George Smith, and others. In his last days "My boys, my brethren," were words often upon his lips. His last apparent effort of consciousness was an attempt to kneel by his bedside in prayer. He remained upon his knees a few moments, and then was assisted to his bed, thence to be carried in a few days, by loving hands, to his last resting place. "Thy dead men shall live."

2. NATHAN MOUNT died February 28, 1876, after a brief illness, at the parsonage in Berrian Springs, in the fifty-sixth year of his age. He was born in Harrisburgh, Western Virginia; came to Michigan with his parents in 1855; experienced converting grace in his thirteenth year; was licensed to preach in 1840, and joined the Michigan Conference on trial in 1841. His first appointment was Lyons; next Rochester; then located three years, after which he re-entered the itinerant ministry, in the same Conference, and was successively appointed to Gilead, Rome, Litchfield, Girard, Osseo, Moscow, Mason, Charlotte, Grand Ledge, Matherton, Lowell, Rockford, Sparta Center, Berlin, Dayton, and Berrian Springs, to the latter of which he had been appointed for the third year. On most of these charges he remained two years, and his labors were largely blessed in winning souls to Christ. During his ministry of about thirty-three years he took into the Church upon probation about two thousand five hundred persons. The object of his preaching appeared to be not fame or worldly fortune, but the salvation of souls. The thousands who knew him will agree with us in saying that he was an eminently pure-minded Christian man, genial friend, and faithful minister of the Gospel.

Nathan Mount was married to Miss Matilda Sessions Sept. 28, 1843, and together they shared the trials and triumphs of pioneer itinerant life.

Brother Mount's last days and hours were gloriously triumphant. He had toiled, wept, and prayed for the salvation of the people of Berrian Springs for more than two years. At last his desire was realized; a gracious reformation swept the place; scores had been converted, and the work was still going on, when the captain of the host was seized by disease. His last sermon was preached January 24. At the close of the meeting held January 26, he called upon all present to join him in a consecration to God, and then led in prayer. That was the last time his voice was heard in public. That sermon and prayer—such a prayer, too, as seemed to bring himself and congregation right up into the presence of God—can never be forgotten by those who heard them. During his last illness he was perfectly resigned, peaceful, and triumphant. If it had pleased God, it would also have pleased him to have been permitted to take into the Church the many who desired to enjoy that privilege at his hands; but he will be in waiting to greet them in the upper sanctuary. The prayer of his life was granted, he fell at his post at the front. "But victorious his fall, for he rose as he fell," like the plumed warrior from the field of his conflict and glory, to be "forever with the Lord."

His bereaved companion, son, daughter, brethren in the ministry, and multitudes of friends all over this peninsula, are enabled to see through their tears "the gate that's left ajar" for them.

L. T. Woodward.

L. T. WOODWARD was born and educated in the State of Indiana. He was converted in early manhood, and joined the North Indiana Conference, wherein he traveled one year. In 1851 he removed to Oregon and built the Santiam Academy, at Lebanon, where, as principal of that institution, he labored earnestly in the education of the young. But he loved the pastoral relation, and his social qualities, joined to his sweet Christian spirit, peculiarly fitted him for that work. For several years he was presiding elder in the Oregon Conference, his sound judgment, clear perceptions, and kindness of heart making him popular with pastors and people as a presiding elder. Brother Woodward was a preacher of good natural ability, of fine culture, and extensive reading—a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. His religious experience was deep, fervent, and hopeful. His life was spotless as his motives were pure; his nearest friends were unable to detect a flaw in his Christian character.

About four years before his death the loss of a beloved wife, followed quickly by the death of his eldest daughter, affected him deeply, and this double bereavement, coming upon a constitution already enfeebled by disease, hastened, no doubt, the period of his dissolution. From that time his health visibly declined, until a change of climate became the only hope of his recovery. He was transferred to the California Conference in 1875, and stationed at Pescadero; but here he was permitted to labor only a few weeks, when the Master called him home. He died as he had lived, with an unfaltering faith in God as the Rock of his salvation, Jesus Christ the righteous. He leaves four children to mourn his loss, three daughters and one son, and these, in the good providence of God, have each found Christian homes. Like most Methodist ministers, he leaves little of this world's goods as a heritage to his children, but, what is infinitely better, he leaves them the record of a noble life and the fragrance of a holy example.

John Van Cleve, N. Hawley—2.

1. J. VAN CLEVE was born in Shrewsbury, N. J., May 28, 1804. His parents moved to Scipio, N. Y., in 1808, and from thence to Ohio in 1815, where the subject of this memoir grew up to manhood. He was religiously inclined from childhood. While an apprentice in Cincinnati, in his eighteenth year, he became an earnest seeker of salvation. He was converted August 12, 1822, and a few days afterward united with the old "Stone Church" in Cincinnati. From this time forth he never wavered in his religious integrity; his piety was constant and fervent. In February, 1825, he was licensed to exhort, and in September following to preach. He was admitted on trial in the Illinois Conference Oct. 9, 1828, and appointed to Bloomingdale Circuit. Here his itinerant career commenced, which continued almost fifty years—on circuits and stations thirty-four years, and on districts fifteen. He was elected delegate to General Conference four times, and at the time of his death he was a member of the General Missionary Committee. In all these relations he was faithful and efficient.

Brother Van Cleve was emphatically a self-made man. By the providence of God he was dependent upon his own efforts in his boyhood. His early education was limited, but by dint of persistent effort he overcame obstacles and attained to scholarship. He possessed a vigorous intellect, a well-disciplined mind, and a generous, noble heart. He was a methodical, clear, strong, earnest preacher, sometimes eloquent. Thirty years ago, to meet a demand of the times, he often preached controversial sermons. In this department of pulpit effort he had no superior in this country.

Brother Van Cleve was strong in his convictions and positive in his statements, yet he always treated with respect those who differed with him. He was thoroughly in sympathy with all the work of the Church, and enthusiastic in his devotion to the cause of education. Our Conference College had no more devoted friend than Brother Van Cleve. At the last session of this Conference he was appointed to preach a "Centennial Sermon," it being the semi-centennial of his itinerant ministry; but God has called him home.

It would have been gratifying to the brethren of his Conference if he had died at home; but Providence ordered otherwise. In November last, while attending the sessions of the Missionary Committee in New York, he was stricken down by disease. He was removed to St. Luke's Hospital for medical treatment, where all that care and medical skill could do for his comfort and relief was done. His bereaved companion, who for forty years shared cheerfully with him the toils and privations of an itinerant life, was with him to administer to his comfort in his last hours. In his death a devoted husband, a kind father, a genial companion, an earnest Christian, a friend of humanity, and an able minister of the Lord Jesus, has fallen.

2. NELSON HAWLEY was born in New England March 14, 1807, and died in Middletown, Ohio, December 24, 1875. In very early youth he moved with his father to Columbus, Ohio, where he enjoyed the advantages of a common school education, and profited so much that his modes of speech and manners were those of a gentleman. At the age of nineteen he was converted, and he never after was disobedient to the heavenly calling. He studied medicine, and was admitted to practice in Milford, Ohio, not far from 1834. In January, 1835, he married Miss Elizabeth Swearingen, of Chillicothe, Ohio, who survives him. Soon after he removed to Dayton, and there, while engaged in his profession and laboring as superintendent of the Sabbath-school, he received a license as local preacher. In 1842 he emigrated to Crawford County, Illinois, and entered on business, while he continued his practice as a physician. He also preached much, and several Churches owe their origin to his zeal and wisdom. But he heard a voice calling to an entire devotion to the work of the ministry, and in 1852 he entered the itinerant ranks and traveled for almost twenty-four years, till he ceased to work and live. His gentle disposition, his pleasing manners, his intelligent piety, and his earnest devotion, conspired to make him useful and acceptable anywhere, and the appointments he filled were among the best in the Conference—Mount Carmel, Belleville, Olney, Salem, Effingham, Mount Vernon, and Olney District were among them. In all these places the Master approved his labors by signs following in the conversion of sinners and sanctification of believers. His ministry was often filled with suffering, and several times ill health compelled him to rest, but always with more or less impatience for the field. But, whether he worked or waited, he was always cheerful and hopeful. A part of his last summer was spent at Chautauqua Lake at the National Sunday-School Convention, and was rich to him in blessings. At our last Conference he was returned without work, and went to spend the winter with a married daughter, Mrs. M. D. Reed, in Middletown, Ohio, where he was overtaken by his final sickness. When the Saviour called he was ready. His pains were great in the last illness, but his victory was glorious. His friends long will cherish the memory of his blessedness in the midst of suffering. Said he: "I would like to stay with my loved ones, and enjoy their society here on earth, but I lose the less for the greater, the companionship of Jesus. I am trusting in the Lamb of Calvary; I am going, going. I fear no evil. My work is done. I have suffered much the last four years, and am ready to go to the blessed Master. I shall be soon at home. No darkness; all is light; so glorious! Tell my brethren of the Southern Illinois Conference I love them. I shall be watching and waiting for them on the other shore. Our friendship will be renewed over yonder. I am lingering on the shore, and all is light." Nearly his last words were, "Sorrowing will flee away. Everlasting joy! O precious Jesus!"

Brother Hawley was a good man, a gentle husband, a kind father, a brother always beloved. His public labors were characterized by sound sense and the essence of Christian love. He kept his heart young, and was earnest in all the work of the Sunday-school and every promising work. He was a gentlemanly, Christian minister, and wherever he went he attracted to him the class of intelligent and cultivated men, and won them to the Church. At the same time he did not repel those of less knowledge and refinement. His brethren loved and respected him with reason, and will deeply mourn his loss.

John Kisling.

JOHN KISLING was born September 16, 1794, in Wythe County, Va. He experienced converting grace when he reached his twenty-second year, and immediately joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. For about nine years he served as a class leader and steward. In 1827 he moved to the State of Indiana. In 1831 he was licensed to preach, and in 1838 he was received into the South-east Indiana Conference, to labor in the German work. He was one of the most successful pioneers in that work, preaching with great fervency and power throughout Indiana, and especially in the southern part of it, which is thickly settled by Roman Catholics, many of whom were brought to a saving knowledge of the truth through this instrumentality. In 1847 he was made Presiding Elder. In 1857 he was sent to Indianapolis to lay the foundation of our German mission there. But the following year he asked for a superannuated relation and moved to Van Buren County, Iowa, where he continued to preach from time to time in German and English. In the year 1873 his wife, with whom he had lived fifty-seven years, died. In February, 1876, he visited his daughter in Pottawattanie, Iowa, and feeling ill he said, "I am near my eternal home." Often he gave utterance to such words as these: "O how precious is it to have Jesus when we near the river of death! Glorious hope to see Jesus! Glory! glory!" On the 3d of March, 1876, he fell gently asleep in Jesus. He was a good man. He truly rests from his labors and his works do follow him.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

C. N. Grant, L. B. Castle,* L. Clark—3.

1. C. N. GRANT was born in Hartsgrove, Ashtabula Co., Ohio, in 1837, and died in Cleveland, July 29, 1876. His parents being members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, he was early converted and joined the Church of his father. He soon felt himself called to the office and work of the ministry, and after a great struggle of heart, yielded to the divine call. In 1862 he was employed by the presiding elder and appointed to Windham Station, where he labored with great acceptability, and gave evidence of that great power in the pulpit which was so manifest in after years. In 1863 he was received into the Erie Conference, and was successively appointed to Hudson, Tallmadge, and Chardon, from which place he was brought to Cleveland and appointed to Scoville Avenue, First Church, and Franklin-street, remaining two years in each appointment. At the close of his labors in Franklin street his health entirely gave way, and he declined rapidly until he passed away to his home above. His ministry was comparatively short but successful. He was a bright and shining light. He was a man of a sweet and gentle spirit, and deeply devoted to God and his work. He was modest and retiring in his disposition, and eminently agreeable and winning in his manners, a man greatly beloved by the people; but his great strength as a minister was in the pulpit. Though naturally timid, in the pulpit he seemed bold as a lion: every thing about him united to adapt him to this work. His figure and style of dress were faultless; his gestures easy, natural, and perfect. He had a voice of great compass, clear and distinct, and under complete control. In language he was a master, never repeating, never at a loss for a word, but with almost unparalleled skill selecting the right word for the right place. He was thoroughly evangelical and mighty in the Scriptures. From the Bible he proved his position and brought his illustrations. A divine unction attended his preaching, and all who heard him once desired to hear him again. He suffered severely from poor health, perhaps never seeing a well day during his ministry. His end was peaceful, even triumphant, and he passed away, greatly beloved and deeply mourned. "Servant of God, well done!"

* Obituary not received.

2. LEWIS CLARK was born in Easthampton, Hampshire County, Mass., July 26, 1813, and died in Glenville, a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio, March 4, 1876, in the sixty-third year of his age. Brother Clark's parents were Christians, and consequently in childhood he enjoyed the advantages of religious instruction and watch-care. He was converted during a gracious revival which occurred in the neighborhood of his residence in March, 1830, and immediately united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to exhort in October, 1833, and to preach in April, 1835. He spent several years at the Wilbraham Academy in improving his education, and was then employed to labor first on the Manchester charge, and next on the Wilbraham charge, under the respective presiding elders. In 1838 he moved to Ohio, where, in 1840, he was admitted on trial in the Erie Conference, in which he labored successfully on the following charges: Youngstown, Hartford, Ellsworth, Edinburgh, Braceville, Freedom, Charlestown, Middleburgh, Newburgh, superannuated, Willoughby, Parkman, Cleveland City Mission, Geneva, West Farmington, superannuated one year, East Cleveland, Tallmadge, Deerfield, and in 1863 permanently superannuated. From this time until his death he preached at least once each Sabbath, and in various other ways labored to promote the cause of the blessed Redeemer. In his religious experience and enjoyments he was not emotional, but uniform and progressive, accompanied by a life so circumspect as to convince all that knew him of his honest sincerity, and steady advancement in holiness. He was well read in Christian theology and biblical literature; could skillfully expound and successfully defend the doctrines of the Bible. His last sickness was a sudden and severe attack of typhoid pneumonia, during which his great sufferings were borne with patient resignation, and when death came it found him in peaceful waiting, ready for his departure.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

J. W. Dow, E. A. Terwilliger,* A. A. Sutton—3.

1. JOHN WARE DOW was born December, 1799, in Vienna, Maine. He entered the regular work of the ministry in the Maine Conference in 1836, where he had twelve regular appointments. He came to St. Paul, Minn., in 1850, and shortly afterward settled near Minneapolis. He came to Minneapolis with a certificate of location from the Maine Conference, and was admitted here as a superannuate. During the years 1850-58 he traveled the Point Douglas Circuit. For fifty years he had been a great sufferer with asthma, of which he died. During his last hours he patiently waited his end, and died trusting that Christ he had preached in life. He died in great peace at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Hood, in his seventy-seventh year, April 29, 1876, leaving his blessing upon all, and especially upon his brethren of the Minnesota Conference.

2. ALVAH A. SUTTON was born in Vermont, June 19, 1846. He came to Minnesota in 1869, and in 1870 was engaged in teaching and farming in and near Painsville. He soon after settled near Long Prairie, where he taught school for some time. While thus employed in the winter of 1872-73 he rendered efficient service to the cause of our Master, and the reformation which spread along the Long Prairie River, in which sixty persons were converted, was largely due to his labors. In the fall of 1873 he took work under the elder, and supplied Long Prairie charge for two years with great acceptability. At the session of our conference in 1875 he was ordained a deacon, received on trial, and appointed to the Brainerd Mission. He at once removed to his new field and entered upon its duties full of hope, and determined to make the most of the year. Our brother was zealous in the Lord's work, with courage to do, and diligent as a student and faithful to his duty.

For some months previous to his death his health began to decline, and in the late winter we heard with sorrow of his removal to the hospital at St. Peter, where he died Feb. 15, 1876. Though in his going he left us no word of parting, the record of his life is our assurance that it is well with him. His wish was realized in that "He ceased at once to work and live."

N. M. Patterson.

N. M. PATTERSON was born in Ohio, June 3, 1816, and died April 7, 1876, aged fifty-nine years. He came to Warwick County, Ind., with his parents when an infant, and was left an orphan before his eleventh year. After the death of his parents his lot was cast among persons that cared little for his welfare, and his youth and early manhood were passed with few advantages. Brother Patterson professed religion and united with the M. E. Church in 1838. His early Christian life was active and consistent, and soon he was called upon to take the responsible work of a Christian minister, which he acceptably filled in the local ranks for several years. He was received into the regular ministry in the Indiana Conference in 1857. He served the Church in the itinerancy nineteen years. He was very successful in winning souls to Christ in all his charges, especially on the Taylorsville, Francisco, Center, Blue Grass, and Yankeetown fields of labor.

Brother Patterson was a genial, pleasant companion, a wise counselor, and the kindest of friends. His intercourse with all persons was marked with courtesy and regard for their welfare, and the love of souls lay very near his heart. On account of family afflictions he was unable to give entire attention to the ministerial work the last two or three years of his life, yet he was engaged as much as possible in his much-loved work.

A series of meetings were held last winter at Mount Pleasant Union Church, in which he was deeply interested, and in which he was one of the prominent workers. During these meetings he contracted the disease (pneumonia) that removed him from the Church below to the Church above. He was in readiness for the change that awaited him. The religion that had been his joy and happiness in health was his strength and support in his last severe afflictions. For some days preceding his dissolution he was unable to converse rationally with his anxious friends; but his testimony already given was such as to satisfy every one as to the fullness of his salvation. Thus he passed away from the scenes of his troubles and triumphs in certain hope of a glorious resurrection.

QUEST. 16. What is the Statistical Report?

(For Statistical Tables, see p. 307.)

QUEST. 17. What are the Claims upon the Conference Fund?

Not answered.

QUEST. 18. What has been collected on the foregoing Claims, and how has it been applied?

John Stewart, John F. Longman, John Dillon—3.

1. JOHN STEWART was born in Sussex County, N. J., in 1795; came to Ohio in 1803, and was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1815. He was received on trial in the Ohio Conference in 1817, and for fifty years sustained an effective relation within its bounds. During the early part of his ministry he traveled in West Virginia and Indiana. He served as presiding elder several years. He was a good preacher and a wise administrator. Truly devoted to God and the interests of the Church of his choice, he gave full proof of his calling as a minister of the word. On some of his charges he was eminently successful in winning souls to Christ. In the early years of his ministry he was associated with the pioneers of Western Methodism, and lived to see the Church greatly enlarged, and, with his colaborers, he was permitted to rejoice in the success of Methodism in spreading Scripture holiness over these lands. He retired from the effective work in the fall of 1858, and spent the evening of his life very pleasantly with his children in Illinois. When death called he was ready, and in great peace he finished his earthly pilgrimage, March 10, 1876. We hope to meet him in heaven.

2. JOHN F. LONGMAN died July 1, 1876, near Columbus, Ohio. He was born in England Oct. 6, 1807. He was converted in his sixteenth year and united with the Wesleyan Methodists. He emigrated to the United States in early manhood, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Ohio. Soon he was licensed to exhort, and then to preach, and in the fall of 1839 he was admitted on trial in the Ohio Conference.

His itinerant life was spent in the following charges: Logan, French Grant, Burlington, Ripley Circuit, Little Kanawha, Point Pleasant, Royalton, Athens, Rehoboth, Irville, Rushville, Dalyville, London, Dublin, Marysville, Johnston, Nelsonville, New Albany, Peckington, Fairview, and in 1865 superannuated. His itinerant experience had variety in it, as he traveled amid the mountains and vales of West Virginia and Ohio. He had a part of the rough with the smooth, yet with the courage of the true Christian minister he did his work as looking unto Him who is invisible. He was a good preacher, and received largely of the unction of the Holy Ghost. He was a man that was true to his convictions of duty, and loyal to his Church and to his Saviour. The good accomplished by his ministry will be known only when eternity shall shed its light upon his ministerial and Christian work. The years of his superannuation he spent upon his farm near Columbus, Ohio, where by honest toil he provided for the wants of himself and family. He preached frequently, as opportunity served, never losing sight of his spiritual and eternal interests, and, prepared by divine grace, he calmly fell asleep in Jesus, and with the redeemed who have entered heaven he shares the bliss of that eternal estate.

3. JOHN DILLON was born near Zanesville, O., Oct. 27, 1815, and died near M'Arthur, O., August 26, 1876. He was converted and joined the M. E. Church in his thirteenth year. He was received into the Ohio Conference Sept. 20, 1840; was twenty-two years in the pastorate, eight in the presiding eldership, and three years chaplain in the army. He was a fearless preacher, and never hesitated to undertake the most dangerous duty, which he often did. He never asked, "Is it popular? but is it right?" This was his course through all his ministry. He was true to Methodism and to God, and defended with might and main all interests involved to the best of his ability. As a preacher he was scriptural, logical, and at times powerful. It was his glory to stand in the shadow of the cross, and crown the uplifted Christ as Lord of all. His soul was burdened by the greatness of his message. He was full of faith, and never staggered at the promise of God. In the midst of his severe sufferings, which lasted eighteen months, he was triumphantly sustained. At one time, while the Lord was sweetly present, he said, "I have the advantage of the Lord, for I trust in him, and he cannot do any thing with me which will not be for my good." But he was most noted for his humility and his power in prayer. He continued family prayer after his wife and children had to lift him from his knees.

The evening before he died he said to the pastor of the family, "Pray that my faith may hold out, for it may be that I shall be overcome by fear when I draw near the awful majesty and glory of God." At midnight he said, "Let me go; farewell, farewell!" After a short time he called his family to his bed, that he might look upon their faces for the last time. They all tenderly kissed him; but his soul was now on higher things. A few short struggles and he fell asleep in Jesus. May the tender care of a covenant-keeping God be over the widow and orphan!

F. W. Klukhohn, G. Sebrasse—2.

1. FREDERIC WILLIAM KLUKHOHN was born Sept. 8, 1848, in Radorf Arnt Hohenhausen Lippedetmold. In 1853 he came with his parents to America, and settled at Cedar Lake, Ind., where he was converted to God. About seven years after his conversion he was elected Sunday-school superintendent, and appointed class leader. To enable him to work for the Lord he attended the German English Norman School, at Galena, Ill. In 1874 he took work as supply on the Clayton and Ridgeway Circuit. In 1875 he was admitted on trial in the North-west German Conference, and was appointed to Mountain Lake, Iowa, and then Charles City, Wis., at which appointment he labored for about two months, when he was smitten down with typhoid fever. He died in great peace Nov. 24, 1875. Brother Klukhohn was a thorough believer in full salvation, and was greatly beloved both by the members of his Church and congregation, and others with whom he came in contact.

2. GOTTLIEB SEBRASSE was born in the kingdom of Prussia, Nov. 8, 1833, and died June 3, 1876, at the house of his neighbor, Mr. Schunk. In 1852 he came to America and settled in St. Louis, Mo., where he soon became acquainted with some of God's children who were connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, who extended to him a hearty welcome to go with them to their church. He went, and as the word of God found in his heart a well-prepared soil, he soon learned to know and love his Saviour. In 1856 the call from his Lord and Master and the Church came to him to preach the Gospel. He was appointed the assistant of Rev. John Schnell, on Salem Mission, Minn., where he labored for half a year. After that he labored with success on the following charges: Le Sueur, Salem, and Cannon River. Here his health failed, and he was obliged to retire from the traveling connection. Since then he has lived in and near Red Wing, and has been emphatically a good friend to all the preachers of Red Wing Circuit. As far as his health permitted he was ready at any time to preach the glorious gospel of Jesus Christ, and was always gladly heard. His conversation was always such as becometh a follower of Christ. Particularly did he reflect the image of his Saviour in meekness, humility, and love. Shortly after his withdrawal from the traveling connection he became dangerously ill. Like Hezekiah, he prayed the Lord to add fifteen years to his life, which prayer was answered. Shortly before his death he said to his wife, "This is the fifteenth year; this year I shall die." And thus it has come to pass. The way and manner of his death was as follows: On the 2d of June, while driving down a hill with his wagon loaded with lumber, he fell, and the wagon passed over the upper part of his body, causing several bone fractures, and after fifteen hours of painful suffering he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. His last words were, "My soul is happy in God. When it pleases the Lord I am ready to die. O how happy! O how blessed!" He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his departure.

Richard Cook, Wm. H. Goodwin—2.

1. RICHARD COOK joined the Oneida Conference in the year 1844 at the age of twenty-six, and continued effective until 1860, when, owing to enfeebled health, he reluctantly consented to ask for a supernumerary relation. Before the close of the year 1861, by the request of the preachers of Oneida District he was appointed presiding elder in the place of Dr. Bristol, who had been called to serve his county as chaplain in the army. At the ensuing conference his brethren renewed their expression of confidence by requesting Bishop Ames to assign him the same work on the district. For the constitutional term he occupied this position of trust faithfully. With this service he closed his effective work; but by no means did our brother lay aside his armor. True and faithful and earnest, his whole after life was a constant testimony for Jesus. The following are the fields he cultivated with large success, and in most of which many precious souls were added to the Church, namely: Butternuts, Edmeston, Carbondale, Honesdale, Clinton, New Hartford, Chittenango, Madison, Manlius, Oneida, and as a supernumerary, Westmoreland, and then, as has been noted, the district. His warm, genial nature attracted in a remarkable manner the young people of his charges, and commanded the confidence and co-operation of the more advanced in life. Many an unconverted person was first won to the preacher and then to Christ. As a preacher, he was plain, pointed, practical, bold, convincing, and effectual. He built up the Church. To as large an extent as most revival ministers, the ingatherings of his revivals were intelligent, faithful members of the Church. As a supernumerary and superannuated preacher he was a model. No one more heartily co-operated with the preacher in charge. He was active in the sanctuary, effective in revival work, successful in the Sunday-school, and diligent and constant in his attendance upon the prayer and class meetings. He spent the last fifteen years in New Hartford. Here the most fitting monument that can be raised to his memory his life has already chiseled out.

Brother Cook was converted when quite young, and began at once to labor in private, and in neighborhood meetings for the salvation of his fellows. As an illustration of his consistent piety at that early day the following incident will suffice: An individual whom he was seeking to win endeavored to repulse him by a sneering reference to the inconsistency of Church members. Brother Cook, in all the confidence of Christian integrity, promptly challenged him thus: "I am a Christian. What have you against me?" How truly it may be said of him, as a man, a citizen, a husband, a father, a Christian, a minister, he was unimpeachable! It is not claimed for him that he made no mistakes in his advocacy of the reforms of the day. His soul throbbed too warmly in sympathy with the right to be a tame advocate. His heart felt too keenly the wrongs heaped upon others not to utter indignant rebuke of the treason against virtue and man. He was in the most worthy sense of the term a radical. He was thoroughly honest; he was truly noble; he was unselfishly heroic.

He took the matrimonial covenant with Miss Levantine Meacham, of Richfield, Herkimer County, July 24, 1845, who proved herself a worthy coadjutor in his godly mission. Her enlightened zeal and unassuming piety efficiently aided her husband in his work. It was highly fitting that to such a wife he should be a devoted husband, and to her children a true guide, counselor, and father. It is not surprising that such parents should see their children stable, intelligent, devoted, and honored members of the Church. It is a privilege and a blessing that the conference and the Church cannot forego to bear these, the widow and the sons, in their prayerful sympathies up before the mercy-seat.

A few years ago Brother Cook's disease assumed a very serious type. There were at times alarming derangement of the action of the heart. His friends as well as himself were assured that he might be suddenly summoned to cross the narrow stream of death. These apprehensions were realized on Tuesday, Sept. 26. While on the Centennial grounds, at three o'clock of that day, he was prostrated by a paralytic shock. Under medical treatment he soon gained the power of speech. With a most cheerful manner, while a pleasant, happy smile illumined his features, he said to the attending physician, "I know well what has happened. I have had a stroke of paralysis, and I guess it will finish me; but," he added in the same quiet, assured manner, "it is as well to go to heaven from this place as any other." He so rapidly rallied, as it seemed, that, unaided, he nearly dressed himself. Ere this was accomplished his labored breathing warned him that his work and sufferings were about done. Nearly his last words to his son were, "All is well." At about six o'clock it was all well. The chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof swept by, and his soul ascended to God.

2. William H. Goodwin was born at Goodwin's Point, (now Taghkanic,) on the west shore of Cayuga Lake, in Tompkins County, N. Y., June 12, 1812, and died at Dryden, Feb. 17, 1876, in his sixty-fourth year. At nineteen he was converted during a revival held in the neighborhood school house; it was a thrilling conversion, that left its impress on all his subsequent life. His mind almost immediately turned toward the ministry, and at twenty-two he joined the Genesee Conference on trial. His first charge was among the scenes of his youth, and the appointments he successively served were as follows: Ovid, Catharine, Brockport, East Rochester, Lyons, Canandaigua, Vienna, (now Phelps,) Penn Yan. In 1848 the Genesee Conference was divided and he became a member of East Genesee, where his fields of labor were as follows: Lyons, East Rochester, Elmira, Hedding Church, Geneva, Hornellsville District, Elmira District, Rochester District, Geneva, Clifton Springs, Rushville, Ovid, and in 1874 to Dryden, where in the midst of his work health failed. At the next session of his conference he was granted a superannuated relation.

Brother Goodwin was married in 1837 to Miss Mary Biggs, who with three sons survive their honored husband and parent. He was elected a delegate to the General Conference in 1860 and 1864. In 1848 he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Dickinson College; in 1865 was appointed a Regent of the University of New York, and the same year was honored with the title of LL.D. from Hobart College. Such was his popularity and influence that in 1854 he was chosen as State Senator from Ontario and Livingston. In personal appearance he was far beyond the average of men. He had a tall, erect, well-developed figure, a finely formed head, with broad, open brow, coal black hair, dark, flashing eyes, and a face that beamed with good nature, and showed in rare harmony the nobler qualities of manhood. Combined with all was a voice unsurpassed and rarely equaled in depth, fullness, and sweetness, and a manner at once dignified, courteous, and modest. In character he was frank, generous to a fault, ready to share his last dollar with any object of benevolence or charity; and there was a spontaneity of soul in the man that inspired his words and acts. In the most trying conference debates he was never betrayed into the least discourtesy of word or manner. He had a high sense of honor, and was a noble type of Christian manhood. He was a close observer of men, a studious reader, and well informed on all the topics of the day. He was gifted with a fertile and chaste imagination. As a speaker he was ever ready, and his services were sought for on almost every variety of occasion. More of a rhetorician than logician, sometimes he would robe his thoughts in purple and gold, festoon them with flowers, and deck them with diamonds; yet the sincerity, enthusiasm, and pious, simple spirit of the man estopped criticism. Our brother was a man of deeply devoted spirit; he knew and walked with God; his religious experience was sound and scriptural; he had access at the throne of grace; was devoted in his sympathies to the doctrines and usages of his Church, and was a true type of a Methodist brother and a Methodist preacher. His preaching was "in demonstration of the Spirit and in power," and especially was he at home in the work of revival, during which, at times, he seemed well-nigh inspired in his manner and his utterances. The sinner to him was a man not only in danger, but a man lost, and his soul went out to save him. Hundreds were converted through his ministry.

His last months were much relieved from pain, but oppressed with feebleness. He said, "The ordeal of disability for labor is much less than I anticipated. Should I preach no more—Amen. The will of the Lord be done. Forty years of unremitting toil is a full harvest day for any gospel reaper. My work has been defective, but the infinitely perfect Saviour is the merciful superintendent. Through his merits the reapers become angelic, and the toil of their tillage creative of infinite results." To friends abroad he wrote: "I have been out of health for two years, but did not give up till last June, when I found myself utterly without strength. I am laboring to rest on the Divine favor, and make the prayer of Him who taught us to pray 'Thy will be done,' my own."

A few weeks before his death he attempted a conversation with his beloved wife upon his departure. But their feelings soon over powered them and he said, "Never mind. We will not talk to-day. Some other time our feelings will be graduated to it. Let us be cheerful and hopeful. It is all right. The Lord is too good to be unkind." He spoke much about his early associates in Conference, and how few of his class survived, and closed by saying: "How soon we will all be there. I am so comfortable, my mind so clear and active. It seems to me I can comprehend facts and truths as I never did before. If I only had the strength of body I know I could preach as I never did before." "We had a great many conversations on this subject," writes his loving wife, "but he always closed up by saying, 'The will of the Lord be done.'"

His death was sudden and unexpected. For a long time he had not lain down during the day, until the day before his death. The next morning he was considered worse and the doctor was called in. After he had left he asked, "What did the doctor say?" His wife replied, "The doctor thought your pulse better." He said, "Commit it all to God. Be happy and cheerful"—and in an instant was gone! So set another star to reappear in a brighter firmament, there, with those "who have turned many to righteousness, to shine for ever and ever."

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

M. H. B. Burkett.

M. H. B. BURKETT was born in Virginia, Jan. 11, 1811. He was in early life instructed to trust in Christ as his only Saviour by his pious mother, who was a member of the M. E. Church. As a result he attached himself to the M. E. Church when but a youth. He united in marriage with Miss Caroline Harrison in 1832, who passed away a few years before him. Brother Burkett was married the second time to Mrs. Emma Duggan, who survives him. In 1845, when the M. E. Church, South, was organized, his place of residence fell within the limits of the Southern Church, in connection with which he was licensed to preach, and was ordained a local deacon in Knoxville, Tenn., in 1856.

When the late war came upon the country Brother Burkett took strong sides for the preservation of the Federal Union and against secession. In consequence of his strong Union sentiments he was forced to leave his home, and make his way through the lines to Kentucky, where he was appointed chaplain in the Twenty-third Regiment of Kentucky Volunteers, commanded by Colonel Price. He was with the regiment at the battle of Chickamauga, and in the battles around Chattanooga, as well as in the Georgia campaign. In all which he was ever ready to do all he could to comfort the soldier, and take care of the sick and dying.

In January, 1864, when Bishop Simpson was in Chattanooga looking to the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in East Tennessee, Brother Burkett, with a few others, united with said Church, and was admitted on trial in the Kentucky Conference. At the organization of the Holston Conference by Bishop Clark, at Athens, Tenn., June 1, 1865, Brother Burkett was transferred to it, and labored faithfully on various charges within its bounds. Perhaps no man in East Tennessee has done more for education than he did; he was eminently successful as a teacher, and hundreds will rise up and call him blessed for having opened their intellectual eyes.

Brother Burkett was a good man. To appreciate him was to be intimately acquainted with him. He had a kind and generous heart. At the last session of our conference he was appointed to the Pikeville Circuit, but ere he could go to his field of labor he was stricken down with heart disease. After lingering as a great but patient sufferer for about a month, he died most triumphantly at his home in Bradley County, Tenn., Nov. 12, 1875. He thus ended his toils and sufferings on earth, and at once entered into a "nobler rest above."

QUEST. 14. Have any been Expelled?

None.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

L. F. Molthrop.

L. F. MOLTHROP died in great peace at the residence of his daughter, in the town of Hebron, Jefferson County, Wisconsin, in April, 1876. Brother Molthrop entered the traveling connection in 1840, uniting with the Rock River Conference. His first field of labor was Racine Mission, where he remained one year. The next two years he was in charge of the Troy Circuit, and the following year, 1843, he was appointed to the Prairieville Circuit. All these charges were extensive fields, and required severe labor and great sacrifices, but in each, under the blessing of God, there were glorious revivals and large accessions.

At the close of his labors on the last-named charge Brother Molthrop found that his health was giving way. He, therefore, took a location, but was re-admitted by the Wisconsin Conference in 1859. After rendering only a few years of further service he was granted a superannuated relation, and continued to retain the same until he was taken from the Church militant to the Church triumphant.

Brother Molthrop in his prime was a man of good preaching ability, steadfast in his devotion to his work, and of great diligence. He has left to his brethren the record of a spotless life and the fragrance of a good name.

QUEST. 14. Have any been Expelled?
None.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?
R. Honnald, M. Shunk, C. W. Conner, N. R. Whitehead, H. C. Wallace—5.

1. ROBERT HONNALD died in Camp Point, Ill., July 14, 1876. He was born in Lee County, Iowa, Oct. 4, 1839, but removed with his parents to Christian County, Ill., when but a child. At the age of fourteen he made a profession of religion and united with the M. E. Church. He was received on trial in the Illinois Conference in 1860 and appointed to Chatham Circuit. He afterward filled the following charges: Chesterfield, Westfield, Nokomis, Vermillion, Beardstown, Columbus, Barry, and Whitehall. In November, 1873, a cancer made its appearance upon his cheek, which caused him to suffer severely for nearly three years, yet during these weary years of most intense pain he manifested a spirit of submission and resignation that was truly sublime. No word of complaint escaped his lips, no impatience ruffled his spirit. He calmly submitted to all for Christ's sake. Sustained by divine grace, he triumphed over suffering, and rejoiced in the midst of agony such as but few have been called to endure.

Brother Honnald had not the advantages of a liberal education, but he made such good use of his opportunities for study that he became a preacher of much more than average ability. His perceptions of truth were clear, his utterance ready, and his words forcible. His sermons were models of neatness, compactness, and solidity, pervaded by a tone of conscientiousness and honesty which never failed to secure a candid hearing from intelligent people. His appeals were to the reason rather than the passions, hence his revivals were genuine and permanent, very few of his converts falling away. He was a true friend, a good husband, a kind father. He leaves a wife and four children.

2. MICHAEL SHUNK died in Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 1, 1876, in the sixty-eighth year of his age. He was born at Berlin, Somerset County, Pa., converted at Masontown, Pa., in his twentieth year, and after some years of earnest labor as an exhorter and local preacher was received into the Illinois Conference in 1837. His appointments were as follows: Pecan Mission, Crane Creek, Buckheart, Jacksonville Circuit, Beardstown German Mission, Decatur, Hillsborough Circuit, Havana, Sharon, Rushville Circuit, Perry, Bethel, Taylorville, Liberty, Beverly, Columbus, Mount Sterling, Plymouth, Laprairie, Littleton, Chandlerville, Bath, Manito, and Concord. From 1870 until his death he was on the supernumerary and superannuated lists.

Brother Shunk was a pattern to all in promptness to meet all his engagements. No condition of weather or roads kept him from his appointments. He was a scriptural, sensible, and practical preacher, and a faithful pastor, taking special pains to care for the children, both in the family and the Sunday-school. Generally traveling large circuits, he made it a point to meet the classes, and to be in the weekly prayer-meetings, as often as possible. He was deeply interested in Methodist literature, circulating our periodicals and books largely among his people. He labored constantly to promote revivals, and was successful in bringing many souls to Christ. His mind had been failing for several years before his decease, yet his consciousness of saving faith in Christ was dear to the last, as was indicated by his faithful testimony and earnest and appropriate prayers.

3. C. W. CONNER was born in Franklin County, Ohio, Oct. 6, 1839, and died in Louisiana, Mo., Jan. 27, 1876. When but a boy he was converted, and united with the M. E. Church. For three years he served his country as a soldier in the war of the Rebellion. Afterward he spent two years at Abingdon College. In the fall of 1868 he was received on trial in the Illinois Conference, and traveled successively Payson, Perry, and Oakwood Circuits. After laboring in the last charge eight months his health failed. At the following session of conference he received a supernumerary relation, and was continued in it until death. In 1873 he removed to Louisiana, Mo., and engaged in business. As a preacher he was always sensible and earnest; his convictions on moral and religious questions were deep, and no suggestions of mere worldly policy drove him from the course which they indicated. As a citizen, he had a large place in the heart of the people. As a father and husband, he was more than ordinarily devoted. During his sickness he gave clear evidence of complete victory in Christ. He leaves a wife and two children.

4. NELSON RYAN WHITEHEAD was born near Petersburgh, Pike County, Ind., June 30, 1846, and died in Jacksonville, Ill., June 29, 1876. He was converted at a camp-meeting while attending the Normal School at Lebanon, Ohio. Early in 1869 he received license to preach, and was put in charge of Kimber Church, Danville, as a supply. In the fall he united with the Illinois Conference, and was assigned successively to Jacksonville Circuit, Astoria, Petersburgh, Virginia, and Havana. Here his health failed, and in the midst of the year he was compelled to resign his charge. The next fall, however, being partially restored, he was appointed to Island Grove. He labored during the winter; but in March he was again prostrated, and after three months of severe suffering died in the infirmary of Dr. Prince, at Jacksonville, to which he had been removed for medical treatment.

In 1871 Brother Whitehead was married to Miss E. C. Meharry, to whom he proved an affectionate and faithful husband. He was a fair preacher, an admirable pastor, and possessed of good executive ability. His religious experience was deep and constant, joyous and hopeful, and he was ever ready to bear testimony to the saving power of the blood of Christ. The day he died he said to Brother Moore, his former presiding elder, "I trust Christ for all; trust him fully."

5. HENRY C. WALLACE was born in Winchester, Ill., Nov. 5, 1832. In his nineteenth year he professed saving faith in Christ and united with the M. E. Church. He was received on trial in the Illinois Conference in 1858 and appointed to Butlerville. The next year he was discontinued. In 1863 he was received again, and filled the following charges: Petersburgh and Athens, Sangamon, Springfield Circuit, Petersburgh, Pawnee, Girard, Whitehall, Whitehall Circuit, Topeka, and Sangamon Circuit, where he died Sept. 29, 1876.

In 1873 Brother Wallace professed the blessing of entire sanctification, and exemplified its truth by walking faithfully and humbly with God. In his last affliction he was a great sufferer, but was strong in faith, giving glory to God. He said, "During the forty-three days I have been suffering so there has not a shadow passed between my soul and Jesus." Just before he passed away he said, "I do not think the Lord is going to take me away from my work now, but I am ready to go at any time." He requested Rev. J. J. Gardner to preach his funeral sermon from Psalm xxiii, 4. So lived and died our beloved brother, leaving a widow and five children in the care of a covenant-keeping God.

Philo Judson, John W. Davison—2.

1. PHILO JUDSON was born in Otsego County, N. Y., March 1, 1807. He was married July 17, 1828, to Miss Eliza Huddleston, in Albany, N. Y., and remained in that vicinity for several years. In 1836, while residing in Cazenovia, he made a profession of religion and united with the M. E. Church. In 1837 he went to Western New York, and thence in a short time to Stephenson County, Ill. He was admitted on trial as a traveling preacher by the Rock River Conference in 1840 and appointed successively to Savanna, Dixon, agent of Rock River Seminary two years, Galena; Clark-street, Chicago; Mount Morris District; superannuated again for three years; agent of the North-Western University six years; when he again took a superannuated relation, and with the exception of one year as chaplain in the army, continued in that relation till the time of his death, which occurred in Evanston, March 23, 1876.

In 1848 Philo Judson was a member of the General Conference, and for several years was secretary of his own conference. In all of the above fields of labor he was pre-eminently useful. Such was his quickness of perception and his strength of judgment that he naturally became a leader among the men with whom he was associated. Perhaps to no other man do the friends of education owe more for the institutions of learning in the bounds of this conference than to Philo Judson. His religious experience was deep and uniform, especially during the later years of his life, when he seemed to enjoy a greater baptism of the Spirit and experience a deeper consecration of soul than formerly. The closing scenes of his life were more than peaceful. He expressed much gratitude to God for the special bestowment of his favor during his last sufferings. Amid his severest paroxysms of pain he experienced the richest manifestations of the divine presence. In this frame of mind he continued while he sank quietly and peacefully to rest.

2. JOHN WILES DAVISON was born in Cambridgeshire, Eng., Dec. 17, 1810, and died near Dixon, Ill., Jan. 12, 1876, aged sixty-six years. At the age of thirteen he gave his heart to God and his hand to the Church. On April 17, 1838, he with his family came to America, and settled in Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he pursued the occupation of a merchant tailor with marked success, still exercising his gifts as a local preacher wherever God, in his providence, opened an effectual door. Believing it possible to be made perfect in love in this life he groaned after it, and God gave him the desire and prayer of his heart. Entering into the experience and rest of that "perfect love that casts out fear," he now resolved to abandon his lucrative worldly vocation and engage wholly in ministerial duties. He joined the Oneida Conference in August, 1840, and preached for sixteen years on the following circuits and stations: Carbondale, Brooklyn, Springfield, Skinner's Eddy, Nichols, Orwell, Waverley, Binghamton, and Newark Valley. He filled these appointments with acceptance to the Church and credit to himself, for God was with him, confirming his word often by the demonstration of the Spirit and of power. He removed to Illinois, and was employed for one year by the presiding elder as a supply on the Palmyra Circuit. In the autumn of the year 1857 he connected himself with the Rock River Conference, of which he continued an effective minister for thirteen years, serving successively the following places: Morris, Lockport, Amboy, Morrison, Frankfort Station, Wyanet, and Oswego. In the fall of 1870, on account of failing health, he took a superannuated relation, which he sustained till it was sundered by death. By prudence and economy he was enabled to procure a few acres of land near Dixon, on which he built a comfortable cottage. In this, his retired dwelling-place, he spent the last five years of his life, cheered by the company of his beloved wife and daughter. His health gradually declined, and he himself for the past year had been conscious that the time of his departure was at hand. On Sabbath, January 2, 1876, he attended church, and worshiped in the public congregation on earth for the last time. At the conclusion of the service he remarked that he did not feel well, and looked unusually weary. During the following week his feebleness increased so much that in time of family devotion he was scarcely able to read audibly. On Saturday, Jan. 8, he was attacked with a severe chill, and yet from it no immediate danger was apprehended. Although he rose and dressed himself on Sabbath, it was evident to his family that he was fast passing away. On Monday he was unconscious of surrounding friends and objects, and after a day and night of labored, heavy breathing, the sluggish wheels of tired, exhausted nature ceased to move, and his disembodied spirit took its flight to his Saviour's divine abode.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?
A. Dorman, Solomon Berry—2.

1. ALFRED DORMAN was born in Clark County, Ga., Jan. 10, 1804, and died in Paulding County, April 1, 1876, in his seventy-third year. He was converted in early life, and united with the M. E. Church in his native county, and soon after was appointed class-leader. He was not favored with the advantages of an early education, but acquired what learning he had mainly after he became of age. He left his father's house in Clark County fifty years ago, and came to Fayette County, where he gave all the money he possessed for a Bible, which he ever considered a good investment. He entered the traveling connection of the M. E. Church at the Conference held in Columbus, Ga., December, 1836, and was appointed to Zebulun Circuit. He traveled every year from his admission until his death.

We feel that in the death of Father Dorman we have lost one of our best men; indeed, we esteemed him as a model Methodist preacher. To know him was to admire and love him. As a Christian, he was deeply pious; as a Methodist, he was punctual, never disappointing a congregation; as a minister, he was determined to know nothing among his people save Christ and him crucified. He preached the pure doctrines of the Gospel with a heart warm with the love of God, and a tongue touched with fire from the celestial altar. He generally preached himself happy, and, not unfrequently, his congregation caught the flame, and the smiles of heaven seemed to rest on preacher and people. He had been in feeble health for several months before his death, and some of his brethren thought that he ought to desist from further labors as an itinerant; but it seemed that nothing but death could dampen his zeal for the Master's cause, or stop him from the Master's work; he determined, if possible, to cease at once to work and live, and, indeed, so he did. He preached his last sermon on Sunday, March 26, and on the following Saturday fell asleep in Jesus. The last words he was heard to speak were "Bless the Lord!" His work was done, he had nothing to do but to bless God and exchange the cross for the crown.

2. SOLOMON BERRY departed this life March, 1876. He was born and raised in South Carolina. Of his early life but little is known. On coming to Georgia he united with this conference, and was faithful in his work as a minister until his health failed. His death was peaceful.

QUEST. 15. Have any Died?

A. Young.

ALCINOUS YOUNG was born in New Hampshire, Dec. 16, 1796, and died in Marion, Iowa, March 30, 1876, in his eightieth year. From early childhood he was taught to pray by a pious mother, and at the age of twenty-one united with the Presbyterian Church; but in 1827, after hearing the doctrines of Methodism preached, both he and his excellent companion were so impressed that they at once identified themselves with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Being licensed to preach, he was soon after admitted into the Pittsburgh Conference. For six consecutive years he lived in the midst of the most gracious revivals, on Erie, Meadville, Youngville, and Deerfield Circuits. On Lisbon and Steubenville Stations great additions were also made to the Church. On Meadville Circuit the membership was more than doubled, leaving it with over five hundred members. At Wellsburgh, Va., where infidelity was intrenched, such were the exhibitions of divine grace under Father Young's labors, that the strongholds of infidelity were completely overthrown. These manifestations of power commenced with his labors on the first circuit, and continued through most of his itinerant career of nearly thirty years, during which, we may say, thousands were brought to Christ. The other fields of labor in Pittsburgh Conference were, Wesley chapel, Pittsburgh; Monongahela City, Uniontown Stations, and Red Stone Circuit. In 1846 he was transferred to the Iowa Conference, and stationed successively in Mount Pleasant, Iowa City, Burlington, Dubuque District, Iowa City District, and conference missionary one year. But his health had become so much impaired from toil and exposure that he was unable to do much effective service after the close of his term on the Iowa City District, which then extended from the mouth of the Cedar River to the north line of the State, including the settlements on both sides of the Iowa and Cedar Rivers. Roads were then unmade, streams unbridged, and settlements far distant from each other, and consequently he was compelled to endure the hardships of pioneer life.

For nineteen years his name has been on the superannuated list; but he has been loved and revered by the entire Upper Iowa Conference, as he was one of its original active members at its formation. In close proximity with the failure of his health was the departure of his devoted and godly companion, of whom he often said she was one of the best of women, and given to him in answer to prayer. Since her death he has been kindly and tenderly cared for by his children, having his home most of the time in Iowa City with his daughter, Mrs. Judge Carlton, and for the last three years with his son, Hon. J. B. Young, Marion, Iowa. He occasionally assisted in pulpit and other services of the sanctuary, always participating in the sacramental and love-feast meetings if his health would permit. During the week his time was mostly spent in reading books and periodicals, and especially the Book of books. His Greek Testament was his constant companion, and to the last of life he was interested in comparing the different translations. He was a strong advocate and defender of Arminianism, and at one time he wrote and published an able work on this subject. He has occupied almost every important and responsible place in the Church, at one time adding to his other duties that of college professor, and always and every-where his work was well done. His last sickness or physical decline lasted about five days. There was no violent disease. His mind was clear to the last, and his visions were of the pure and saintly, often speaking of children robed in white. He talked freely of going to meet the loved ones on the other shore. He greatly enjoyed the singing of triumphant Christian songs. When asked if he had any message for the brethren of the conference, his reply was deliberate: "Tell them I believe in a triune God, and that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself." And when further asked, "Do you feel thus fully reconciled?" he said, with emphasis, "O yes," and added, "I don't think of this as dying, for it is just beginning to live." And thus his spirit passed away peacefully.
